DRIVE TO MEET YANKS NEARING

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 12.—Soviet preparations to join in the final all-out onslaught on Berlin from the Oder river bridgehead, 31 miles from the Nazi capital, and points along the Niesse river were reported by the Germans today.

Front dispatches indicated that only 115 miles separated American and Soviet spearheads converging on the shattered Reich capital and in Vienna the Russians drove the Nazis from all but one of the Austrian capital's 22 suburbs.

One Nazi report, not yet confirmed in Moscow, said Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian army had raced 40 miles beyond the encircled Nazi garrison in Vienna and had seized positions which are only 113 miles from Hitler's mountain retreat at Berchtesgaden.

Moscow announced officially that the section of Vienna lying between the Danube canal and river had been cleared of all German forces who lost upwards of 6,300 men in 24 hours, more than 4,000 of whom were killed.

Surging Along Danube

A spokesman of the Nazi DNB agency broadcast a report that Tolbukhin's forces were surging along the upper Danube valley on a wide front and were nearing the castle-studded Wachau river 42 miles west of Vienna.

At the same time Nazi Marshal Ferdinand Schoerner, commander of Wehrmacht forces in Silesia, issued an order of the day saying tanks of the Soviet First Ukrainian army were about to launch a new offensive in Silesia.

Schoerner, reported to have re-

From Standpoint Of Allied Strategy, Nazi Germany Is Crushed

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, April 12.—From the viewpoint of allied grand strategy, Nazi Germany today can be considered defeated as a great military power.

The military might of Nazidom has been decisively crushed.

The final campaigns now being conducted by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's armies in the west and Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin's forces in the east have developed into operations for the occupational conquest of Germany rather than major battles to break the backbone of Hitler's military machine. That already has been accomplished.

Strategically, Germany has been defeated. The complete conquest of the Third Reich now is considered to have become more of a problem of logistics and of supply for allied armies rather than a question of defeating German armies in the field.

German War Effort Collapses

American and British air forces have brought about the collapse of the German war effort on the home front.

American, British, Russian and other allied armies have brought about the decisive defeat of the Wehrmacht on the field of battle.

Now it is primarily a question of getting gas, munitions and other supplies to the swift-moving armored columns of the armies of Gen.

Sabang Attacked By Allied Force Japanese Report

LONDON, April 12.—(INS)—A bombardment of the Jap-held fortified supply base of Sabang, off the northwestern tip of the Netherlands East Indies island of Sumatra, by an allied naval task force, including battleships, was reported by the Jap Domei agency today.

Among two battleships reported in the action was one of the British Queen Elizabeth type, Domei said. The other was reported to have been the French battleship Richelieu.

There was no allied confirmation of the Domei report which said the attack was carried out yesterday morning.

Sabang, situated on the island of We off the northernmost tip of Sumatra, is an important fuel station and commands the northern entrance to the strait of Malacca.

GEN. MacARTHUR TO RETAIN STAFF

MANILA, April 12.—(INS)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur will retain his southwest Pacific staff in his new post as commander of United States Army forces in the Pacific, it was announced today.

Lieut. Gen. Richard Sutherland will continue as chief of staff and he will have the same assistants. They are: Brig. Gen. Matthew Gunner, personnel; Brig. Gen. Charles Willoughby, intelligence; Maj. Gen. Stephen Chamberlin, operations, and Maj. Gen. Lester Whitlock, supply.

Maj. Gen. Hugh Casey will continue as chief engineer and Maj. Gen. Spencer Akin as chief signal officer.

MacArthur's command is designated as "AFPAC". It was assumed April 6, at which time it was revealed that he will act jointly in Pacific operations with his naval counterpart, Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

Formosa Attack Reported By Japs

(BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—The Japanese Domei agency reported that "about 80 enemy carrier-based planes" carried out bombing and strafing attacks today on targets in northern Formosa.

The wireless dispatch, recorded by the FCC, said that the attacks lasted for about two hours, beginning at eight a. m. (Formosa time), and that the points raided included Keelung, Taihoku and Shinchiku.

Keelung is one of the principal ports in Formosa and is a shipbuilding and repair center.

The dispatch made no mention of damage to ground installations but claimed that Japanese anti-aircraft guns had shot down four of the raiding planes.

By JOHN CASHMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MANILA, April 12. — Sweeping Americans gains of up to 14 miles in some sectors of Luzon, where Jap defenses were described as in a "disorganized state" were announced today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

According to the official communique, the American 14th corps in southern Luzon was "exploiting" the enemy's disorganization "by quickly securing the various road nets in southern Tayabas" province.

14-Mile Advance

The 14-mile advance was scored by elements of the First Cavalry Division which rolled from Lucban to occupy Sampaloc, meanwhile sending advance units to Maqban on the east coast. At the same time, troops of the 11th Airborne Division moved "in force" into the Atimonan area.

Around Legaspi, at the southernmost end of Luzon, the 158th Regimental combat team continued to attack, capturing 14 Jap artillery pieces along with numerous trucks, a large fuel dump and technical equipment.

In northern Luzon, U. S. forces systematically reducing Jap defenses in the Balete Pass-Villa Verde trail areas sealed 58 cave strongpoints, and captured Salat, three miles southeast of Burgos. Enemy installations near Baguio,

Diplomatic Break Between Spain And Japan Over Attack

Protest Killing Of Spanish Subjects By Japanese In Manila Recently

MADRID, April 12.—(INS)—Official charges that Japanese troops murdered the Spanish consul general, his staff and Spanish citizens in Manila, were made by Spain today in a communique which followed the breaking off of diplomatic relations with Tokyo.

Spain sent a note of protest to Japan last month, asking for an explanation of the attacks which were denied in Tokyo by an official spokesman. All members of the Franciscan Order in Manila except two were reported to have been burned alive. Eight Spanish nuns were among those killed.

German Commander Sentenced To Die

LONDON, April 12.—(INS)—The German high command today admitted the loss of the East Prussian capital of Koenigsberg and acknowledged that reprisals will be taken against the family of the commander, General Lasch, who already has been sentenced to death.

The official statement, following the line taken by German propaganda agencies yesterday, blamed the loss of the city on Lasch and asserted that a sentence of death has been passed on him for "cowardly surrender" by an army court martial.

"His family will be held responsible," the statement added.

NO BUZZ BOMBS IN 14 DAYS NOW

LONDON, April 12.—(INS)—Britain's Ministry of Home Security announced today that England had passed its 14th straight day free from attacks by German V weapons.

It was revealed meanwhile that the first V-2 rocket bomb fell on southern England one day last September, two months before the Germans announced publicly that the terror weapon was being employed.

Allies In Italy Are Advancing

British Forces Cross Santerno And Americans Capture City Of Carrara

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, April 12.—The allied eighth army in Italy, overcoming strong German opposition, established positions on the west bank of the Santerno river today after forcing a crossing of the waterway in unchecked offensive blows.

The drive by the eighth army in the Adriatic sector was matched by American fifth army troops in the west who captured the city of Carrara, famous for its marble.

Supported By Patrols

The fifth army troops were supported by Italian patriot forces.

The crossing of the Santerno was made in darkness by the eighth army which threatened envelopment of the important German defensive pivot city of Imola.

German prisoners taken so far are relatively few, indicating that the Nazi command still is able to exercise complete control of its forces.

The ground forces were supported by continued mass aerial assaults.

The Mediterranean allied air forces sent out 3,000 heavy and medium bombers, fighter-bombers and fighters in operations which extended from the battle line area all the way to Austria and southern Germany.

The allies lost 15 planes, including eight heavy bombers.

German Report Says Reds Land Behind Vienna

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, April 12.—(INS)—The Nazi DNB agency reported today that Russian army forces have landed on the banks of the Danube behind the German lines in Vienna.

In admitting the encirclement of the garrison in the Austrian capital the Germans did not identify the units making the landings, but they may have been Soviet Second Ukrainian army units which have been driving westward from Bratislavia.

Himmler Orders All German Cities To Be Defended

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, April 12.—(INS)—The Nazi DNB agency reported today that Heinrich Himmler, gestapo chief and interior minister, had decreed that no German city be declared open and ordered that each metropolis be defended by all means.

Jap Home Island Heavily Bombed

MUSTANG FIGHTERS ESCORT BOMBERS

HEADQUARTERS, 21ST BOMBER COMMAND, Guam, April 12.—(INS)—Two large forces of Marianas-based Superfortresses, one group flying the longest mission ever made by B-29s of this area, struck today at industrial targets on the main Japanese home island of Honshu.

While one force, escorted by Mustang fighters based on recently-captured Iwo Jima, hit the Mushashino plant of the Nakajima Aircraft Company in a western Tokyo suburb at midday, the other group lashed at the Koriyama industrial area, about 100 miles north of the capital.

It was the first strike against Koriyama, necessitating a 3,800-mile round trip flight by the American sky armada. Koriyama, in addition to being an industrial center, is the hub of key roads and railways from Tokyo.

Tankers Collide; Report 34 Men Of Crews Are Missing

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—The War Shipping Administration announced today that 34 crewmen are missing following a collision between two American tankers in convoy on April 9, about 700 miles out of New York.

The tankers, S.S. Nashbulk and S.S. St. Mihiel collided, and the latter ship immediately burst into flames.

The missing crewmen jumped overboard, not waiting to lower lifeboats amid the intense flames, two are known to have died. One of the 34 missing was from the Nashbulk and the rest from the other ship.

Fire on the St. Mihiel was brought under control and the vessel was reboarded by a crew. Both ships returned to New York, and the injured from the mishap were brought to Marine hospital for treatment.

The skipper of the St. Mihiel, whose name was not immediately available to the WSA, was believed missing.

REJECT BIDS FOR PARKING METERS

LONDON, April 12.—(INS)—Berlin was subjected to another blockbuster attack during the night by British Mosquito bombers, the air ministry announced today.

The night sortie followed a fifth straight daylight foray by American heavy bombers and fighters in the campaign to destroy the remnants of the Nazi air force.

Some 1,300 Fortress and Liberator bombers, supported by 850 fighters, carried out widespread assaults. The Americans, in addition to attacking airfields, blasted five rail yards, two ordnance depots, oil storage centers and an explosives plant in southern Germany.

Yanks Beat Back Counter-Attacks Of Okinawa Japs

Violent Battle Is Raging On Pacific Island—Casualties Mounting

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, April 12.—U. S. Army troops, in violent hand-to-hand combat, repulsed four fierce Jap counter-attacks in what was described today as "the bloodiest fighting yet seen on Okinawa" where in nine days American invasion forces suffered 2,69[illegible] casualties.

Shortly after Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' regular communique revealed that Lieut. Gen. Simon B. Buckner's Tenth Army soldiers and marines had lost 432 killed, 2,103 wounded and 160 missing up to midnight April 9, frontline dispatches told of the "pulsating hell" through which the Yanks fought in southern Okinawa.

Make Counter-Attacks

The Japs—who, from April 1 through April 8, lost 5,000 in dead and 222 captured—unleashed their counterattacks against the crack Seventh division doughboys who menaced Yonabaru airstrip on the east coast of the key island 325 miles from Japan. Two of the enemy counter-thrusts, staged in company strength, were crushed within one hour at "Tomb Ridge" to the north of the airfield.

Maj. Gen. R. Hodge, commanding the 24th Army Corps, said the enemy thrusts precipitated "the fiercest bout we've had with the Jap."

One of the engagements flared when the Japs counterattacked during a last stand at Ouki village, in the middle of the trans-insular battling. During the height of the fray—which lasted from midafternoon until 8 p. m. Wednesday—the

Chicago Suffers Disastrous Fire

Estimate At Least $3,000,000 Damage To Wholesale Lumber And Coal Yards

CHICAGO, April 12.—(INS)—Damage was estimated today at more than $3,000,000 in the spectacular blaze which swept the Chicago wholesale lumber and coal district.

More than 500 firemen—of whom 17 were hospitalized—fought the blaze. High winds swept the flames through tinder-dry lumber yards over a two-square-block area while falling embers threatened surrounding yards extending four blocks in all directions. The fire was attributed to spontaneous combustion in a sawdust storage bin of the Red River Lumber Company.

Captured Nazi Leaders Surprised By Patton's Forces

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, April 12.—(INS)—Two high-ranking German officers were captured today by the Third Army's Sixth Armored Division and offered a new excuse as to why they failed to make good their escape before their headquarters was over-run.

Neither they, nor the German high command, had any idea Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's tanks were anywhere around, they said.

HUGE NUMBER OF PRISONERS FREED

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, April 12.—(INS)—The Sixth Armored Division over-ran a Nazi concentration camp at Ettersburg today, releasing 21,000 political prisoners. At another point, the division seized a prisoner of war camp.

Yanks But 57 Miles From Berlin At Start Of New Advance Today

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 12.—Crack troops of the United States Ninth Army surged across the River Elbe today, bridging the last natural barrier separating Allied forces from Berlin whose western suburb of Potsdam lies only 57 miles away.

The Ninth presumably crossed the river at or near Madgeburg, a great manufacturing center which is the largest city of importance before Berlin itself.

(Radio Berlin, heard by NBC, said that American troops reached the Elbe at Schoenebeck, 10 miles southeast of Magdeburg, but claimed that half the forces were wiped out.)

Ninth Army troops crossed the Elbe soon after forces of the United States Third Army had speared into Weimar, capital of the German republic founded after the last war.

The Third also plunged into Erfurt, moving swiftly for a junction with Soviet forces advancing from the east.

Directly ahead of Ninth Army troops which crossed the Elbe lies a magnificent six-lane super-highway leading into the heart of Berlin.

German broadcasts said the Third Army thrust into Weimar was supported by airborne troops.

(Nazi reports broadcast by the British radio and recorded by CBS said that "American gliders have landed near Weimar.")

Blackout Hides News

A new security blackout was imposed to shield most of the Allied military movements in this final drive to overrun Berlin and join up with Soviet forces streaming through Germany from the east.

Field dispatches, however, disclosed that the Sixth Armored Division of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army had picked up 46 additional miles in the headlong drive across Germany. The famed Fourth Armored Division gained an additional 25. But the exact position of both units was cloaked in secrecy.

At the Elbe, the Ninth was approximately 65 miles from the outskirts of greater Berlin, Madgeburg,

Armstrong Bridge Over Slippery Rock Creek Has Collapsed

Structure Erected In 1874 Gives Way To Heavy Traffic; No One Hurt In Collapse

One of the landmarks of the Slippery Rock creek, the Armstrong bridge, has collapsed. After serving traffic since about 1874, the bridge has gone down. Tuesday afternoon a maintenance truck of the Manufacturers Light and Heat company was coming across the bridge from the Perry township side when the driver said he felt the bridge start to sag. As he got to the Wayne township side the bridge girders buckled and the middle of the bridge dropped into the creek. Fortunately no one was hurt.

Some years ago a companion bridge, the Harris bridge, one mile up the creek from the Armstrong, collapsed when a heavy coal truck hit the Perry township end of the bridge. It was later replaced with a new bridge.

Edwin O. Reed, superintendent of highways, stated today that the Armstrong bridge has been in poor shape for a number of years and the collapse was not unexpected. It was built in the days of the horse and buggy and never was intended to haul anything heavier than a big load of hay.

It is likely the bridge will be replaced by the state, but due to wartime restrictions it is doubtful if a new bridge will be built inside of a year at least. The Armstrong bridge crossed the Slippery Rock just east of the Heinz House camp and was much used by coal haulers and by vacationists in the summer.

Third Army Has Reached Weimar

Spectacular Gains By Gen. Patton's Army—Erfurt Is Entered After Bombardment

By LARRY NEWMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE U. S THIRD ARMY IN GERMANY, April 12.—The 80th division of the U. S. third army today reached the outskirts of the historic German city of Weimar.

Field headquarters disclosed spectacular new gains of 46 miles by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's sixth armored division and 25 miles by the fourth armored division.

The security blackout prevailing across the third army front, however, prevents disclosure of the locations of the most advanced spearheads of these divisions.

The city of Erfurt was surrounded and for three hours this morning artillery and aircraft smashed the city when the Germans turned down a surrender ultimatum.

The 80th division's infantry entered Erfurt after the bombardment against little opposition.

Few Service Men Will Be Released After Nazis Fall

PARIS, April 12.—(INS)—Few American soldiers will be discharged when the war in Europe ends, Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, Army supply chief, warned in a letter published today by the U. S. Army newspaper Stars and Stripes. The general said many of the men now fighting in Europe would be sent to the Pacific after Germany falls.

No need for alarm clocks these mornings, there's a chorus that wakes me at six, a chorus of singers and warblers and they use all their musical tricks. They beat the alarm clock by minutes, they tell me the day is begun, and it's time to get up and get going, the weather is warm, eighty-one.

The crossing of the Santerno was made in darkness by the eighth army which threatened envelopment of the important German defensive pivot city of Imola.

German prisoners taken so far are relatively few, indicating that the Nazi command still is able to exercise complete control of its forces.

The ground forces were supported by continued mass aerial assaults.

The Mediterranean allied air forces sent out 3,000 heavy and medium bombers, fighter-bombers and fighters in operations which extended from the battle line area all the way to Austria and southern Germany.

The allies lost 15 planes, including eight heavy bombers.

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, April 12.—(INS)—The Nazi DNB agency reported today that Russian army forces have landed on the banks of the Danube behind the German lines in Vienna.

In admitting the encirclement of the garrison in the Austrian capital the Germans did not identify the units making the landings, but they may have been Soviet Second Ukrainian army units which have been driving westward from Bratislavia.

Himmler Orders All German Cities To Be Defended

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, April 12.—(INS)—The Nazi DNB agency reported today that Heinrich Himmler, gestapo chief and interior minister, had decreed that no German city be declared open and ordered that each metropolis be defended by all means.

Jap Home Island Heavily Bombed

MUSTANG FIGHTERS ESCORT BOMBERS

HEADQUARTERS, 21ST BOMBER COMMAND, Guam, April 12—(INS)—Two large forces of Marianas-based Superfortresses, one group flying the longest mission ever made by B-29s of this area, struck today at industrial targets on the main Japanese home island of Honshu.

While one force, escorted by Mustang fighters based on recently-captured Iwo Jima, hit the Mushashino plant of the Nakajima Aircraft Company in a western Tokyo suburb at midday, the other group lashed at the Koriyama industrial area, about 100 miles north of the capital.

It was the first strike against Koriyama, necessitating a 3,800-mile round trip flight by the American sky armada. Koriyama, in addition to being an industrial center, is the hub of key roads and railways from Tokyo.

Tankers Collide; Report 34 Men Of Crews Are Missing

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—The War Shipping Administration announced today that 34 crewmen are missing following a collision between two American tankers in convoy on April 9, about 700 miles out of New York.

The tankers, S.S. Nashbulk and S.S. St. Mihiel collided, and the latter ship immediately burst into flames.

The missing crewmen jumped overboard, not waiting to lower lifeboats amid the intense flames, two are known to have died. One of the 34 missing was from the Nashbulk and the rest from the other ship.

Fire on the St. Mihiel was brought under control and the vessel was reboarded by a crew. Both ships returned to New York, and the injured from the mishap were brought to Marine hospital for treatment.

The skipper of the St. Mihiel, whose name was not immediately available to the WSA, was believed missing.

REJECT BIDS FOR PARKING METERS

City council met Thursday morning in city hall where Mayor John F. Haven stated he would entertain a motion to reject bids for new parking meters. Property Director Joe Alexander offered the motion, which passed unanimously. The city had advertised for 400 or more meters of the Miller type.

LONDON, April 12—(INS)—Berlin was subjected to another blockbuster attack during the night by British Mosquito bombers, the air ministry announced today.

The night sortie followed a fifth straight daylight foray by American heavy bombers and fighters in the campaign to destroy the remnants of the Nazi air force.

Some 1,300 Fortress and Liberator bombers, supported by 850 fighters, carried out widespread assaults. The Americans, in addition to attacking airfields, blasted five rail yards, two ordnance depots, oil storage centers and an explosives plant in southern Germany.

Yanks Beat Back Counter-Attacks Of Okinawa Japs

Violent Battle Is Raging On Pacific Island—Casualties Mounting

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, April 12—U. S. Army troops, in violent hand-to-hand combat, repulsed four fierce Jap counter-attacks in what was described today as "the bloodiest fighting yet seen on Okinawa" where in nine days American invasion forces suffered 2,69 casualties.

Shortly after Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' regular communique revealed that Lieut. Gen. Simon B. Buckner's Tenth Army soldiers and marines had lost 432 killed, 2,163 wounded and 160 missing up to midnight April 9, frontline dispatches told of the "pulsating hell" through which the Yanks fought in southern Okinawa.

Make Counter-Attacks

The Japs—who, from April 1 through April 8, lost 5,000 in dead and 222 captured—unleashed their counterattacks against the crack Seventh division doughboys who menaced Yonabaru airstrip on the east coast of the key island 325 miles from Japan. Two of the enemy counter-thrusts, staged in company strength, were crushed within one hour at "Tomb Ridge" to the north of the airfield.

Maj. Gen. R. Hodge, commanding the 24th Army Corps, said the enemy thrusts precipitated "the fiercest bout we've had with the Jap."

One of the engagements flared when the Japs counterattacked during a last stand at Ouki village, in the middle of the trans-insular battling. During the height of the fray—which lasted from midafternoon until 8 p. m. Wednesday—the

Chicago Suffers Disastrous Fire

Estimate At Least $3,000,000 Damage To Wholesale Lumber And Coal Yards

CHICAGO, April 12.—(INS)—Damage was estimated today at more than $3,000,000 in the spectacular blaze which swept the Chicago wholesale lumber and coal district.

More than 500 firemen—of whom 17 were hospitalized—fought the blaze. High winds swept the flames through tinder-dry lumber yards over a two-square-block area while falling embers threatened surrounding yards extending four blocks in all directions. The fire was attributed to spontaneous combustion in a sawdust storage bin of the Red River Lumber Company.

Captured Nazi Leaders Surprised By Patton's Forces

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, April 12.—(INS)—Two high-ranking German officers were captured today by the Third Army's Sixth Armored Division and offered a new excuse as to why they failed to make good their escape before their headquarters was over-run.

Neither they, nor the German high command, had any idea Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's tanks were anywhere around, they said.

HUGE NUMBER OF PRISONERS FREED

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, April 12.—(INS)—The Sixth Armored Division over-ran a Nazi concentration camp at Ettersburg today, releasing 21,000 political prisoners. At another point, the division seized a prisoner of war camp.

Yanks But 57 Miles From Berlin At Start Of New Advance Today

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 12.—Crack troops of the United States Ninth Army surged across the River Elbe today, bridging the last natural barrier separating Allied forces from Berlin whose western suburb of Potsdam lies only 57 miles away.

The Ninth presumably crossed the river at or near Madgeburg, a great manufacturing center which is the largest city of importance before Berlin itself.

(Radio Berlin, heard by NBC, said that American troops reached the Elbe at Schoenebeck, 10 miles southeast of Magdeburg, but claimed that half the forces were wiped out.)

Ninth Army troops crossed the Elbe soon after forces of the United States Third Army had speared into Weimar, capital of the German republic founded after the last war.

The Third also plunged into Erfurt, moving swiftly for a junction with Soviet forces advancing from the east.

Directly ahead of Ninth Army troops which crossed the Elbe lies a magnificent six-lane super-highway leading into the heart of Berlin.

German broadcasts said the Third Army thrust into Weimar was supported by airborne troops.

(Nazi reports broadcast by the British radio and recorded by CBS said that "American gliders have landed near Weimar.")

Blackout Hides News

A new security blackout was imposed to shield most of the Allied military movements in this final drive to overrun Berlin and join up with Soviet forces streaming through Germany from the east.

Field dispatches, however, disclosed that the Sixth Armored Division of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army had picked up 46 additional miles in the headlong drive across Germany. The famed Fourth Armored Division gained an additional 25. But the exact position of both units was cloaked in secrecy.

At the Elbe the Ninth was approximately 65 miles from the outskirts of greater Berlin, Madgeburg

Armstrong Bridge Over Slippery Rock Creek Has Collapsed

Structure Erected In 1874 Gives Way To Heavy Traffic; No One Hurt In Collapse

One of the landmarks of the Slippery Rock creek, the Armstrong bridge, has collapsed. After serving traffic since about 1874, the bridge has gone down. Tuesday afternoon a maintenance truck of the Manufacturers Light and Heat company was coming across the bridge from the Perry township side when the driver said he felt the bridge start to sag. As he got to the Wayne township side the bridge girders buckled and the middle of the bridge dropped into the creek. Fortunately no one was hurt.

Some years ago a companion bridge, the Harris bridge, one mile up the creek from the Armstrong, collapsed when a heavy coal truck hit the Perry township end of the bridge. It was later replaced with a new bridge.

Edwin O. Reed, superintendent of highways, stated today that the Armstrong bridge has been in poor shape for a number of years and the collapse was not unexpected. It was built in the days of the horse and buggy and never was intended to haul anything heavier than a big load of hay.

It is likely the bridge will be replaced by the state, but due to wartime restrictions it is doubtful if a new bridge will be built inside of a year at least. The Armstrong bridge crossed the Slippery Rock just east of the Heinz House camp and was much used by coal haulers and by vacationists in the summer.

Third Army Has Reached Weimar

By LARRY NEWMAN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY IN GERMANY, April 12.—The 80th division of the U. S. third army today reached the outskirts of the historic German city of Weimar.

Field headquarters disclosed spectacular new gains of 46 miles by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's sixth armored division and 25 miles by the fourth armored division.

The security blackout prevailing across the third army front, however, prevents disclosure of the locations of the most advanced spearheads of these divisions.

The city of Erfurt was surrounded and for three hours this morning artillery and aircraft smashed the city when the Germans turned down a surrender ultimatum.

The 80th division's infantry entered Erfurt after the bombardment against little opposition.

Few Service Men Will Be Released After Nazis Fall

PARIS, April 12.—(INS)—Few American soldiers will be discharged when the war in Europe ends, Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, Army supply chief, warned in a letter published today by the U. S. Army newspaper Stars and Stripes. The general said many of the men now fighting in Europe would be sent to the Pacific after Germany falls.

USSELTON CUT IN TRUCK-AUTO CRASH

Hugh Usselton, R. D. 3, sustained face and head lacerations and Ed Fee sustained bruises when a car driven by the former and a truck operated by Willis Emery, 731 Chestnut street, but owned by Fee, were involved in a wreck about 5:45 p. m. Wednesday near Walmo on the New Castle-New Wilmington highway, according to state police.

Arthur Mometer

No need for alarm clocks these mornings, there's a chorus that wakes me at six, a chorus of singers and warblers and they use all their musical tricks. A twitter and soon comes an answer, then full throated they take up the lay, for the birds in the yard form the chorus announcing the start of a day. They beat the alarm clock by minutes, then tell me the day is begun, and it's time to get up and get going, the weather is warm, eighty-one.

Need Trucks For Clothing Drive

SCHOOLS GIVE LARGE AMOUNT

Although there has been a splendid response to the call for manpower in the united clothing collection, now well under way here, there is still a grave need for trucks, General Chairman S. Glenn McCracken stated today.

Any type of truck will be suitable for this purpose, particularly light delivery trucks, and anyone who can donate the use of a truck for just a few hours, or a few trips, will be helping materially in the effort.

The Lions club is in charge of the collection depot this week, and many have been helping out by bringing their donations to headquarters, 101 West Washington street, corner of Beaver street, but trucks are needed to haul in the donations left at churches, fire stations and the schools of the city. The central collection depot is open between the hours of 12 noon and 9 p. m.

Anyone able to give the use of a truck for any length of time is asked to call the headquarters 3371 after 12 noon, or to contact those on the committee.

A large amount of clothing has already been received, but it will take quite a lot of garments to reach the quota of 7,000 pounds assigned to Lawrence county. So folks, look through your closets and attics. Lots of folks will be surprised to find a great amount of clothing, now out of style, but still wearable by those who must put the need of warmth ahead of style in these times. Down in their hearts, Chairman McCracken states, they know they will never have any use for these garments, but are clinging to them for sentiment sake. They are asked to remember people will freeze to death next winter if they don't get these garments which you no longer need, or can use.

YANKS BUT 57 MILES FROM BERLIN AT START OF NEW ADVANCE

however, is only 57 miles from the former imperial suburb of Potsdam, which could be considered an integral part of the devastated German capital.

Weimar and the nearby city of Erfurt, also entered by Third Army detachments, lie approximately 120 miles southwest of Berlin.

The use by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton of Airborne troops in the mounting drive on Berlin was reported by the German DNB agency which admitted that American forces had reached the Elbe river at two points.

Supported By Bombers

"Strongly supported by bombers, American tanks and infantry columns pushing along the Hannover-Madgeburg autobahn reached the Elbe once at Schoenbeck and again south of Madgeburg," DNB said.

Other German reports said that the British Second Army had opened a major assault against the big port of Bremen.

The all-out attack on Bremen from positions four miles from Germany's second greatest port was reported by the Nazi DNB agency.

Armored spearheads of the U. S. Ninth, First and Third armies maintained their eastward race on Berlin without encountering any serious German opposition.

Positions of advanced elements particularly the spearheads of the Third Army's Fourth and Sixth Armored Divisions, were not disclosed as headquarters clamped a security blackout on reports of greatest advances.

May Meet Russians Soon

The Americans were believed to have carried their assault front eastward to points only 115 miles from Russian lines in eastern Germany, and a linkup with the Soviets within a short time was predicted.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's troops were only 48 miles from the Czechoslovak frontier in one drive aimed at bisecting the Reich. The Third captured the city of Coburg.

SWEEPING GAINS ON LUZON ISLAND

Philippines summer capital, again were attacked from the air, while five ridges in the Cagayan valley were wrecked by U. S. fighters and attack bombers.

Make 30-Mile Gain

On Negros Island, 40th Division troops advanced 30 miles from Fabrica, sweeping around the northern tip of the island to San Isidro on the east coast. The Yanks were said to be "in hot pursuit" of enemy forces which now are "isolated and forced into a narrow hill compartment 12 miles inland."

"Civil government is rapidly being restored throughout the island, which is now practically freed from enemy control and occupancy," MacArthur declared.

MacArthur's communique told also of continuing heavy raids by U. S. bombers and fighters, which hammered five Jap airdromes in Mindanao, Formosa and Borneo; destroyed four small coastal vessels in the Pescadores as well as a 1,000-ton vessel off Luichow peninsula in the China sea, and "completely destroyed" a Jap troop train in French Indo-China.

Once again, the Victoria docks at Hong Kong were subjected to a bombing attack by four-motored aircraft, which hit two radio stations and railway installations on Hainan island.

Caroline C. Wallace Dies At Home Today

Widow Of Prominent Physician Dies At Home After Prolonged Illness

Following a prolonged illness and the infirmities of age, Mrs. Caroline Cunningham Wallace, daughter of a pioneer family of New Castle, died at 1 o'clock this morning in her home at 318 Highland avenue. Her death represents the passing of an era, for Mrs. Wallace was one of the few remaining links with the Civil War days and the years following when New Castle began to assume stature in the industrial world.

Mrs. Wallace was born February 3, 1865, on Croton avenue, the daughter of Robert Wilson Cunningham and Caroline Woodward Cunningham. Her father was one of the pioneers of the county while her mother came from a pioneer Massachusetts family.

Married in 1889

In November, 1889, she was married to Dr. Robert A. Wallace, who at the time of his death in February, 1932, was the dean of the Lawrence County Medical society. Four children survive her, Major Robert C. Wallace of the United States army, located in Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Victor A. Jevon of Sewickley, Pa.; Mrs. Robert E. Armstrong of New Castle and Dr. Richard H. Wallace of Brookline, Mass. Twelve grandchildren survive her and one sister, Mrs. Lillian Westlake, who made her home with Mrs. Wallace.

Mrs. Wallace was a charter member of Dana Hall, Wellesley, Mass., where she attended school for four years. Almost since the organization of Trinity Episcopal church she had been an active member of it.

In her lifetime Mrs. Wallace saw many changes in her native city. At her birth the Civil War was about concluded. As a young girl she saw the postwar developments here and as a young woman she saw the very beginning of the industrial era. In the industrial birth of New Castle, her father and other members of her father's family played an important part.

Of the many excellent attributes marking her, the one that seemed to transcend all others was her gentility. Her friends she chose for their worth, not for their station in life. She had lived a full life, a life of purpose and integrity, her death will be met with sorrow by her friends, but with the sorrow will be the joy and satisfaction of having known and enjoyed the friendship of a cultured, gentle person.

Services Saturday

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon, April 14, at 3 o'clock from the family residence. The body is being returned from the Offutt funeral home late this afternoon. The services will be conducted by Rev. Robert M. C. Griswold, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, and interment will be in Oak Park cemetery. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

RUSSIAN FORCES READY TO START DRIVE ON BERLIN

placed Marshal Heinz Guderian as chief of German forces on the eastern front last month, was quoted by the German news agency as saying the Soviets planned an attempt to break through the Wehrmacht's defenses along the Niesse river.

Plans Smash Toward Yanks

If the German reports are verified, Marshal Ivan S. Konev apparently is planning a new smash toward Dresden and Magdeburg, already reached by the U. S. Ninth Army.

The Soviet Second Ukrainian army fighting north and northwest of Bratislava with Rumanian and Czechoslovak reinforcements, captured 40 more towns and villages in a western drive through the Carpathians. A second column of Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's army, fighting north of Vienna, engulfed another 11 Austrian towns.

A front dispatch indicated that Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko, former commander of the Soviet Second Baltic Army, had joined forces with Malinovsky whose drive through Czechoslovakia gained 20 miles in the past 24 hours.

Eisenhower and Marshal Stalin which are spearheading the occupational conquest of Germany.

This does not mean that fighting in Germany will be over in the next few days, or even weeks or months. There likely will be many isolated pockets of resistance which will require bitter and costly fighting to wipe out.

Mopping-Up To Continue

Supreme headquarters fully expect that mopping-up will continue, especially in Hitler's so-called national redoubt in Bavaria, long after it is announced officially that organized German resistance on a major scale has ceased. But this guerrilla warfare will be waged mostly by thousands of Nazi fanatics and SS elite guard troops who fear retribution for war crimes.

It is now evident that the will of the German people to wage war has been broken. Indications are that the German people as a whole want peace at any price—unconditional surrender or otherwise.

Reaching Climax

Meanwhile the conquest of Germany by the allied armies now is reaching a climax. This correspondent foresees the possibility of the following sensational developments within the next 48 hours.

1. A link up of American and Russian armies along the banks of the Elbe river.

2. Capture of such historic and vitally important German cities as Leipzig and Bremen.

3. The arrival of British forces at the North sea coast near Emden.

The possibility also is foreseen that Gen. Eisenhower may announce within the next few weeks the end of organized resistance in the west.

enemy commanders called for mortar fire which fell indiscriminately among Yank and Nip ranks. Inflicting "considerable" casualties on both forces.

Japs Are Concealed

Japanese artillery, cleverly concealed in pits and raised by means of elevators similar to those of certain parts of the Germans' vaunted Siegfried line, continued to maul the grimly-fighting Yanks.

International News Service war correspondent John R. Henry said that an estimated 4,000 rounds of heavy shells were poured into positions held by the Seventh division alone, in 24 hours. Henry said that in one instance two concentrations of 200 rounds each were laid down by the Japs within 20 minutes.

Nimitz acknowledged that "no substantial changes" were made in the American lines on Wednesday, though frontline dispatches told of 24th Army Corps spearheads thrusting to within 500 yards of Yonabaru and 30000 yards of Machinato airstrips.

Complete occupation of Tsugen island, some 10 miles off the east coast of Okinawa and nominating northern entrance to Nakagusuku bay, was announced by Nimitz. He said that 24th army units wiped out Jap points of resistance to occupy the two-mile-long islet on Wednesday, within 24 hours after landings were made there.

Need Trucks For Clothing Drive

SCHOOLS GIVE LARGE AMOUNT

Although there has been a splendid response to the call for manpower in the united clothing collection, now well under way here, there is still a grave need for trucks, General Chairman S. Glenn McCracken stated today.

Any type of truck will be suitable for this purpose, particularly light delivery trucks, and anyone who can donate the use of a truck for just a few hours, or a few trips, will be helping materially in the effort.

The Lions club is in charge of the collection depot this week, and many have been helping out by bringing their donations to headquarters, 101 West Washington street, corner of Beaver street, but trucks are needed to haul in the donations left at churches, fire stations and the schools of the city. The central collection depot is open between the hours of 12 noon and 9 p. m.

Anyone able to give the use of a truck for any length of time is asked to call the headquarters 3371 after 12 noon, or to contact those on the committee.

A large amount of clothing has already been received, but it will take quite a lot of garments to reach the quota of 7,000 pounds assigned to Lawrence county. So folks, look through your closets and attics. Lots of folks will be surprised to find a great amount of clothing, now out of style, but still wearable by those who must put the need of warmth ahead of style in these times. Down in their hearts, Chairman McCracken states, they know they will never have any use for these garments, but are clinging to them for sentiment sake. They are asked to remember people will freeze to death next winter if they don't get these garments which you no longer need, or can use.

however, is only 57 miles from the former imperial suburb of Potsdam, which could be considered an integral part of the devastated German capital.

Weimar and the nearby city of Erfurt, also entered by Third Army detachments, lie approximately 120 miles southwest of Berlin.

The use by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton of Airborne troops in the mounting drive on Berlin was reported by the German DNB agency which admitted that American forces had reached the Elbe river at two points.

Supported By Bombers

"Strongly supported by bombers, American tanks and infantry columns pushing along the Hannover-Madgeburg autobahn reached the Elbe once at Schoenbeck and again south of Madgeburg," DNB said.

Other German reports said that the British Second Army had opened a major assault against the big port of Bremen.

The all-out attack on Bremen from positions four miles from Germany's second greatest port was reported by the Nazi DNB agency.

Armored spearheads of the U. S. Ninth, First and Third armies maintained their eastward race on Berlin without encountering any serious German opposition.

Positions of advanced elements particularly the spearheads of the Third Army's Fourth and Sixth Armored Divisions, were not disclosed as headquarters clamped a security blackout on reports of greatest advances.

May Meet Russians Soon

The Americans were believed to have carried their assault front eastward to points only 115 miles from Russian lines in eastern Germany, and a linkup with the Soviets within a short time was predicted.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's troops were only 48 miles from the Czechoslovak frontier in one drive aimed at bisecting the Reich. The Third captured the city of Coburg.

SWEEPING GAINS ON LUZON ISLAND

Philippines summer capital, again were attacked from the air, while five ridges in the Cagayan valley were wrecked by U. S. fighters and attack bombers.

Make 30-Mile Gain

On Negros Island, 40th Division troops advanced 30 miles from Fabrica, sweeping around the northern tip of the island to San Isidro on the east coast. The Yanks were said to be "in hot pursuit" of enemy forces which now are "isolated and forced into a narrow hill compartment 12 miles inland."

"Civil government is rapidly being restored throughout the island, which is now practically freed from enemy control and occupancy," MacArthur declared.

MacArthur's communique told also of continuing heavy raids by U. S. bombers and fighters, which hammered five Jap airdromes in Mindanao, Formosa and Borneo; destroyed four small coastal vessels in the Pescadores as well as a 1,000-ton vessel off Luichow peninsula in the China sea, and "completely destroyed" a Jap troop train in French Indo-China.

Once again, the Victoria docks at Hong Kong were subjected to a bombing attack by four-motored aircraft, which hit two radio stations and railway installations on Hainan island.

Caroline C. Wallace Dies At Home Today

Widow Of Prominent Physician Dies At Home After Prolonged Illness

Following a prolonged illness and the infirmities of age, Mrs. Caroline Cunningham Wallace, daughter of a pioneer family of New Castle, died at 1 o'clock this morning in her home at 318 Highland avenue. Her death represents the passing of an era, for Mrs. Wallace was one of the few remaining links with the Civil War days and the years following when New Castle began to assume stature in the industrial world.

Mrs. Wallace was born February 3, 1865, on Croton avenue, the daughter of Robert Wilson Cunningham and Caroline Woodward Cunningham. Her father was one of the pioneers of the county while her mother came from a pioneer Massachusetts family.

Married in 1889

In November, 1889, she was married to Dr. Robert A. Wallace, who at the time of his death in February, 1932, was the dean of the Lawrence County Medical society. Four children survive her, Major Robert C. Wallace of the United States army, located in Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Victor A. Jevon of Sewickley, Pa.; Mrs. Robert E. Armstrong of New Castle and Dr. Richard H. Wallace of Brookline, Mass. Twelve grandchildren survive her and one sister, Mrs. Lillian Westlake, who made her home with Mrs. Wallace.

Mrs. Wallace was a charter member of Dana Hall, Wellesley, Mass., where she attended school for four years. Almost since the organization of Trinity Episcopal church she had been an active member of it.

In her lifetime Mrs. Wallace saw many changes in her native city. At her birth the Civil War was about concluded. As a young girl she saw the postwar developments here and as a young woman she saw the very beginning of the industrial era. In the industrial birth of New Castle, her father and other members of her father's family played an important part.

Of the many excellent attributes marking her, the one that seemed to transcend all others was her gentility. Her friends she chose for their worth, not for their station in life. She had lived a full life, a life of purpose and integrity, her death will be met with sorrow by her friends, but with the sorrow will be the joy and satisfaction of having known and enjoyed the friendship of a cultured, gentle person.

Services Saturday

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon, April 14, at 3 o'clock from the family residence. The body is being returned from the Offutt funeral home late this afternoon. The services will be conducted by Rev. Robert M. C. Griswold, rector of Trinity Episcopal church and interment will be in Oak Park cemetery. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

RUSSIAN FORCES READY TO START DRIVE ON BERLIN

placed Marshal Heinz Guderian as chief of German forces on the eastern front last month, was quoted by the German news agency as saying the Soviets planned an attempt to break through the Wehrmacht's defenses along the Niesse river.

Plans Smash Toward Yanks

If the German reports are verified, Marshal Ivan S. Konev apparently is planning a new smash toward Dresden and Magdeburg, already reached by the U. S. Ninth Army.

The Soviet Second Ukrainian army fighting north and northwest of Bratislava with Rumanian and Czechoslovak reinforcements, captured 40 more towns and villages in a western drive through the Carpathians. A second column of Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's army fighting north of Vienna, engulfed another 11 Austrian towns.

A front dispatch indicated that Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko, former commander of the Soviet Second Baltic Army, had joined forces with Malinovsky whose drive through Czechoslovakia gained 20 miles in the past 24 hours.

FROM STANDPOINT OF ALLIED STRATEGY GERMANY CRUSHED

Eisenhower and Marshal Stalin which are spearheading the occupational conquest of Germany.

This does not mean that fighting in Germany will be over in the next few days, or even weeks or months. There likely will be many isolated pockets of resistance which will require bitter and costly fighting to wipe out.

Mopping-Up To Continue

Supreme headquarters fully expect that mopping-up will continue, especially in Hitler's so-called national redoubt in Bavaria, long after it is announced officially that organized German resistance on a major scale has ceased. But this guerrilla warfare will be waged mostly by thousands of Nazi fanatics and SS elite guard troops who fear retribution for war crimes.

It is now evident that the will of the German people to wage war has been broken. Indications are that the German people as a whole want peace at any price—unconditional surrender or otherwise.

Reaching Climax

Meanwhile the conquest of Germany by the allied armies now is reaching a climax. This correspondent foresees the possibility of the following sensational developments within the next 48 hours:

1. A link up of American and Russian armies along the banks of the Elbe river.
2. Capture of such historic and vitally important German cities as Leipzig and Bremen.
3. The arrival of British forces at the North sea coast near Emden.

The possibility also is foreseen that Gen. Eisenhower may announce within the next few weeks the end of organized resistance in the west.

The Business and Professional Women's club met Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock for its April dinner meeting in the coral room of The Castleton. News service committee of the club was in charge of the program.

Mrs. John J. McIlvaine, speaker of the evening, reviewed the dramatic historical novel "Immortal Wife" by Irving Stone. In her presentation, she skillfully wove the historical background of the time of Jessie Benton Fremont and her husband, John Charles Fremont, colorful personalities of the last century, around the fast-moving pace of their lives.

Announcement was made by Miss Alice Sterling of plans for a town meeting to discuss world organization for peace, the town meeting to be held Thursday, April 19, at 8 p. m. at Senior high school. The International Relations Discussion Group, sponsored by B.P.W., will meet April 18 at 7:30 p. m. at the Y.W.C.A. with Mrs. James Hilborn as leader.

Plans for a state B.P.W. convention this year have been cancelled and a state board meeting will take its place, it was announced by Miss Florence C. Davis, president.

Miss Myrtle Lord, Miss Olivia Griffiths and Miss Lora M. Kaatz were named as a nominating committee.

Mrs. Bertha U. Smith, public affairs chairman, announced that the club will help with sorting of clothing at U.N.C.C. headquarters on Friday, April 27. Miss Anna Fletcher reported for the finance committee on the recent style show.

Mrs. Clifford Watson of Washington, D. C., was a guest at the meeting.

Members of the news service committee in charge of the program were Miss Margaret Brown, Miss Wilda Smith, Miss Anna Benson, Miss Bess Gailey, and Mrs. Inez D. Patton.

Leader-Clarke Wedding

Mrs. Cora J. Leader and David D. Clarke, of New Castle, Pa., were united in marriage on Friday, March 16, 1945 at 8:30 p. m., at the bride's home at 1600 Regina St., Harrisburg, Pa., according to word received here today.

Rev. A. M. Billman, pastor of the Evangelical and Reformed church, read the marriage vows in the presence of relatives and friends.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heefner.

Miss Mary M. Clarke, daughter of the groom, sang "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony.

Nuptial music was played by Mrs. William Mayer.

Mrs. Elizabeth Geldbaugh attended from New Castle.

B. P. N. club members were entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Key, East Brook road, with Miss Matilda Bogdon as co-hostess.

Prizes for bridge went to Mrs. Thomas Stinson, Mrs. Gerald Allen and Miss Blanche Guinaugh. Mrs. Harry Bryant, of Toledo, O., house-guest of the hostess, assisted her.

May 2 meeting will be with Mrs. Thomas Stinson, 810 Fulkerson street, with Miss Blanche Guinaugh as co-hostess.

Junior Hadassah members heard an interesting talk on "Palestine" given by the Rev. Thomas Jones, pastor of First Congregational church on Tuesday night. He featured their program conducted in the home of Mrs. Harry Cohen, Park avenue, hostess.

Special honors were accorded one of their number, Miss Jean Edelstein, who will be inducted into the WAVES within a few days. The social hour in the nature of a hankie shower was dedicated to Miss Edelstein, as a farewell gesture.

In serving a tasty repast, the hostess was aided by her mother Mrs. L. F. Kohn. Several members of Senior Hadassah, accompanied their president, Mrs. Abe Cohen, as special guests of the occasion.

Pandoras Club

Pandoras club members met on Wednesday evening with Mrs. Ralph Staph and Mrs. Anthony Croach in the club rooms, South Mill street, and card playing was the pastime.

Prizes were captured by Mrs. Floyd Champ and Mrs. Anthony Fuleno. Mrs. Ruben Pratt, president, conducted business. Special guests present included: Mrs. Merle Womer, Mrs. Ernest Gillest and Mrs. John DeSanti. Mrs. Ernest Gillest assisted the hostess in serving lunch.

On April 25 the club will meet again with Mrs. Fred Gillest and Mrs. Pat Juliano as hostesses.

Rose Avenue Bridge

Rose Avenue Bridge club members met in the home of Mrs. Ben Owens, Rose avenue, last evening. In the two-table game, Mrs. P. J. McCart and Msr. Francis Tinsley won honor prizes.

The birthday of Mrs. Andy Schmidt was appropriately honored with a club gift. The lunch served afterwards featured the anniversary motif, a large cake also being presented the honoree.

Special guest was Miss Bunny Reitz.

In two weeks, Mrs. Schmidt, Wildwood avenue, will entertain.

National Suicide

In setting afire the great cities of Bremen, Hanover and Hamburg—and dozens of smaller towns—the Germans not only make public confession that their cause is lost, but reveal again that mania for destruction which has scorched nearly every part of Europe where they have sent their troops and which, indirectly at least, is responsible for their present plight.

To the normal person, blessed with a rational mind, there is no way to explain this sort of thing. What good does it do to lay waste cities that were doomed, to the burning which contain priceless relics of the past, and which only will delay for years the rehabilitation of the country? Only a [illegible] can even profess to supply the answer to this question, and it will not be an answer which will satisfy the great masses of people who have seen their homes leveled and must now wander helplessly around the countryside.

If there is any plan at all behind so clear a policy of national suicide, it probably stems from a realization on the part of the Nazi leaders that the Reich as such never again can mean anything to them or that they will be permitted to live within it. What happens to it is, therefore, of no personal consequence, and the less there is left the smaller will be the Allies' reward for seizing it and the greater their task of remaking it for their own purposes.

Ever since this war began in 1939, utter chaos has followed in the footsteps of the German legions. The wreckage of countless cities in enslaved states testifies to this fact. Today the same fate is coming to [illegible] of Hitler's rule or ruin philosophy.

In your present wardrobe have you a dress, a suit, a coat or a cloak which you first wore five years ago?

Few of our readers can truthfully answer "Yes" to that question. Yet, if that garment or suit—now five years old—were all the clothing you possessed, you would be better clad than any one of millions of men, women and children whom our armies already have freed from Axis domination, or of millions more who will be freed as we drive to complete military victory.

These millions had their wardrobes five years ago. Many of them had more than a single dress, a single suit, a single [illegible] or a single pair of shoes. But, when the Axis aggressors invaded their homes, these millions were left with only the clothes they were wearing. Indeed, if such clothing happened to be new or of good quality, it was stripped from their backs and, if they were lucky, worn garments substituted.

In such sorry attire, successively patched with old rags, bits of curtain, paper or other refuse, they have been forced to carry on for five years—five hard, persecuted, horror-filled years.

If you can imagine how your five-year-old garment—if that were all the clothes you owned—would look and would cover and comfort you after five straight years of such usage, you will not be surprised to learn that upward of 30,000,000 men, women and children in liberated Europe alone are "statistically naked" today and that more than 125,000,000 are in desperate need of clothing, shoes and bedding.

Those are the facts—and you can do something about correcting them.

The United National Clothing Collection provides you with this opportunity. It is not asking or expecting you to donate the clothing, shoes or bedding you now are using. It is asking you merely to dig up or dig out all serviceable items among your castoff and forgotten clothes that they may be distributed to the suffering and destitute millions in the war-ravaged lands.

Don't you think its request justifiable?

Don't you think you should respond to it—And at once?

A Day Of Glory

A significant sign of the times is the announcement that the last B-17 Flying Fortress has rolled off the assembly lines of the Boeing plant at Seattle. The B-17 is on the last stretch of the job it was destined to do and no more will be produced.

Flying Fortresses have been made for nearly ten years, but there is a vast difference between the first of the type and the last. The basic design may have been the same, but the experience of combat resulted in a steady flow of important improvements. It is likely that the crew of the first B-17 would have regarded the last of the series as almost an entirely different aircraft.

For the first three years of the war, Flying Fortresses and B-24 Liberators were the only American heavy bombers. In their first action in Europe the B-17s satisfied the skeptics as to the quality of American precision bombing. Together with the Liberators, they have maintained and improved the standard of their operations around the world. Everybody knows what they have done to Germany and to Japanese outposts in the Pacific.

But now, as the war in Germany draws near its close, so does the day of the Flying Fortress. But that doesn't mean that the need for heavy bombers is ended. It means merely that the even heavier bomber is coming into its own. Henceforth all Boeing plants will concentrate on the production of B-29 Superfortresses, the tremendously long-range successor to the B-17.

The changeover signifies only one thing—the greatly stepped-up aerial bombardment of Japan. There was no real need for Superfortresses in the war in Europe, but there is a need for them in the campaign to knock out Japan. What 300 of them can do is known. What 1,000 or more can do can be imagined—and later will be known, too.

The day of the Flying Fortress is ending, but it has been a glorious day. The American people are proud of the Flying Fortress. They may well salute a gallant plane—and the valiant crews who flew it.

So Sorry, Suzuki

Close students of Japan are predicting that the new government of Admiral Baron Kantaro Suzuki will be a "moderate" one that might project peace feelers to the United States. It is possible that he would fit in as the Japanese idea of a "front man" for such a peace offensive because he was wounded by extremist young Japanese officers in 1936. These officers accused him of counseling moderation on the emperor.

Suzuki is seventy-seven years old and is regarded as an "elder statesman." He is a former commander-in-chief of the mikado's combined fleet. He is of the same school of "moderates" that spawned Saburo Kurusu and Kichisaburo Nomura, whose smiling "peace mission" was under way at the very hour Japan struck at Pearl Harbor.

America and the other Allies will know how to treat any Japanese "save face" peace gestures at this or any other time. In the light of recent history, no Japanese action is to be trusted until unconditional surrender has permitted ironclad occupation of the islands and uprooting of the whole Japanese system.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Policy Toward Germany Is Still Most Uncertain

WASHINGTON, April 12.—As our armies converge on Berlin, our policy toward the Reich seemingly is still based on the belief that by a wave of the wand you can do away with 70 or 80 million people. Now that might be desirable. The point is debatable. But it is beside the point because it is impossible.

Something of the struggle still going on over how Germany shall be treated has just been disclosed to me. It still leaves the most important questions up in the stratosphere. Here is the background.

Sensible Policy

A month or more ago, under the guidance of Assistant Secretary of State Will Clayton, a sensible policy was worked out and embodied in a set of directives which finally were given Presidential approval. They were sensible because they were workable.

They provided for the military and industrial disarmament of Germany. That is a basic step on which all of the Big Three will agree without question.

But this outline of policy assumed that Germany would have to continue to manufacture consumer goods, such as textiles, and that conceivably she might need some help in getting started on such lines of production. In other words, this memorandum was not based on the assumption that you can convert Germany into a vast kitchen garden with the Germans living by selling each other vegetables.

It had some resemblance to the carefully worked out plan of the British, on which all British authorities have agreed. The British are part of Europe and they know you cannot deal with populations—enemy or otherwise—by waving a wand.

Morgenthau Enters

The new policy that recently [illegible] been imposed by the White House, where Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau was able to [illegible] Morgenthau, who has [illegible]

[illegible] The Treasury [illegible] drew [illegible] of the original memorandum [illegible] backing of the War Department, which had earlier been given to the State Department.

The results are the latest [illegible] intended. [illegible] present policy, if anything so vague could indeed be called policy at all, Germany is divided into four zones of occupation—Russian, British, U. S. and French. Centralized direction can come only through a central control council which will send out directives to the military commanders in the four areas.

Here's the Catch

But—and here is the catch—centralized directives are possible only if representatives of all four countries agree. This means that each military commander would, in effect, have a veto, unless, of course, the occupying powers have the good sense to agree in advance on a [illegible] policy.

One thing that has disturbed military planners preparing for military occupation of the Reich is the possibility of a superior central control which would override decisions taken by an American commander in the American zone. When military men have responsibility, they want it to be undivided. Morgenthau was able to convince War Department officials that his plan would leave their authority unimpaired.

That is where it stands now. Presumably the European Advisory Commission is still trying to get a clear understanding of the American position on Germany.

Puzzle to Many

How Germany chopped up into four parts can possibly be administered is a question which has a great many responsible people puzzled. Russia's zone is in eastern Germany. That happens to be the surplus food producing area that formerly helped to supply the deficit industrial regions of western Germany.

Stalin's people have been hungry for a long time. They have suffered frightfully at the hands of the Germans. It seems doubtful that they will send any "surplus" food out of eastern Germany into the cities of the west.

How, then, will those cities be fed? In our anger today we answer: let them starve. I know that anger; I've seen the victims of German sadism.

But how do millions of people starve? What happens in the rest of Europe? What do humanitarians in and out of American pulpits say? Does it mean that the American army of occupation is kept on? It is not too early to start thinking about the answers to some of these questions.

Bible Thought

And he went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought; Saying unto them, It is written, My house is the house of prayer: but ye have made it a den of thieves.—Luke 19:45, 46.

THE ENGAGEMENT

I am about to become engaged and would like to know how I may spread the news without giving a party for the purpose. I have many out-of-town friends and my fiance's friends and family live out of town. How should I let them know? May I send them engagement cards?—F. G.

Answer: More engagements take place without an announcement party than with one, I should say. Indeed, it is not at all necessary to give any entertainment for the purpose of an announcement. You may, if you choose, have a luncheon at your home or at a hotel to entertain your friends and during it tell the good news. Or you may simply send the notice to the newspapers in both your city and that where your fiance's family and friends live. This must be done by the bride's family.

Sometimes, instead of making any formal announcement, the bride-to-be gives the news to several of her most intimate friends and depends upon them to spread it among their friends and acquaintances.

The choice of announcement is optional, depending upon personal preference. However the situation is handled, the announcement must come from the bride's family and never from the groom's, although, of course, the young man may spread the news verbally.

Write notes, if you choose, to your out-of-town friends and relatives. Printed or engraved cards for this purpose are not correct. Let it be personal letters or nothing!

Question: Is the finger bowl a "must"? That is, if you feel that you have no need to dip your fingers, must you anyway?

Answer: It is not a "must" but what harm could there be in dipping when the bowl is placed before you? It is merely a formality and not a necessity in this civilized era of eating with silver instead of with fingers. When one is placed before you, use it.

Army Squelches Power Project

WASHINGTON, April 12. THE exigencies of war which give the military large influence and authority over the domestic economy, as a rule, are accepted as unavoidable and right. Sometimes friction results, but, in the main, military encroachments are tolerated as essential to winning the war.

HOWEVER, there are limits beyond which the Army should not go and fields into which it should not intrude. Therefore, it was encouraging to have the Army itself recognize this fact by rejecting the $250,000,000 proposal put up to its Board of Engineers by the district engineer for a series of fourteen dams along the Potomac River in Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland. True, a mighty protest by the sections affected was made, but the speed with which the army board dumped the recommendation was practically unprecedented, indicating a complete lack of sympathy with the whole idea.

THIS is fortunate, indeed, because the project was as completely socialistic as any that has been advanced in a long time. It had nothing whatever to do with winning the war and not a great deal to do with flood control. Frankly, it was a water-power proposal, for which there was no public demand at all and which would have put the Government in the electric business in a very big way. It would have dealt private enterprise a real body blow and delighted every Socialist and Communist in the country. In a day when even some of our more conspicuous New Dealers and labor leaders are stressing the importance of preserving the private enterprise system it is more than a little astonishing to find a plan so clearly designed to weaken that system germinated in the Army.

EXACTLY how and why it got as far as it did has not been explained; but, certainly, the protests riddled the whole scheme. For example, these points were made against it: 1. It would displace the use of coal through the generation of hydro-electric when the use of coal for the generation of power is more economic than water power. 2. It sought through the use of public funds to crush and destroy the private electric industry. 3. It would reduce the operating revenues of railroads engaged in the transportation of coal to consuming markets. 4. It would deprive workers of their employment in the coal mines, on the railroads and in the electric in-

WORKING MOTHER'S SOLUTION

Some mothers are working without neglecting their children. A mother enclosing an extra stamped envelope for bulletins writes:

"My daughter, age 15½ months, and I are living with my mother while my husband is in the service, in the South Pacific. I reluctantly accepted a teaching position for this year, 10 miles away, and have enjoyed being back in the profession. However, since my husband is away, I have felt, more than ever, that I should be with my baby.

"My mother must be an exceptional grandmother, because she takes care of Jo Ann so well without spoiling her. We have been especially interested in some of your writings about your granddaughter.

A Good Baby

We have been rather successful, we feel, in several learning processes so far, but of course, have many problems, too. She is learning to feed herself very well. She is easy to keep clean and enjoys being dressed up every afternoon. She has been taught to keep her toys in one place and this training has carried over to picking articles from the floor and straightening out rugs. She seems to understand when we tell her there are some things she should not have or touch; however, if she does get one of these forbidden articles, she tells us—either by calling 'ah' or by bringing the article to us.

"I have taken her to Sunday school where she enjoys the association with other children, though she is the youngest in the class.

"Perhaps the main reason for her getting along so well is the fact that it is quiet in the house and the atmosphere is pleasant.

Likes to Climb

"She always has climbed and is doing it more and more. So far, nothing serious has happened as a result, but we worry a lot. Should be teach her that chairs are to be sat upon and not stood upon, or is climbing just a natural procedure at this age?"

Psychologist's Reply

In substance, I wrote her: It must make your husband very happy to read of his baby's happy development and guidance. Do go on, you and Grandma, with your lovely ways. I hope you cuddle that child a lot and read some to her. Please don't be too urgent that she keep her toys in one place all the time but encourage her to drag or bring them about the house, assembling them only once or twice a day.

Let her climb the [illegible] scheme is there to protect them but she must not climb upon chairs, for her safety and the good of the chair and her proper use of furniture. If you have a strong low box she might climb up and down it. Also she might profitably stand on a stout chair in the kitchen by the sink or table as you work beside her, to watch you and talk to you, or Grandma. This means she will have to learn to select.

Congressmen Fear War May End In Their Absence
Are Afraid To Leave Capital Because Of Result
Many Hurdles Must Be Overcome At Frisco Meet

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—House members with a yen to get back home for business left the capital this week with their fingers crossed. One thing worried them more than anything else: what would they do or say if the war in Europe ended in a sudden German surrender during their absence from Washington?

Regardless of how justified their trips to their congressional districts may be—and in most cases are—key House members shudder at the thought of the political damage such a development might inflict on an individual congressman.

They look ahead two or four or six years and can vision an opponent campaigning, with devastating effect among voting war veterans, on the sole issue that Representative Blank was "at home vacationing when the war ended in Germany."

Obstacles At Frisco

As the date for the San Francisco meeting of the United Nations draws closer it becomes evident that, even with the "Big Four" agreed in principle, there are many hurdles to be overcome before a peace organization can be ratified.

Latest difficulty to crop up is the insistence of the French that regional pacts to maintain peace be permitted to function whether or not the over-all peace organization votes to act.

A similar stand has been taken by other nations which already have, or are contemplating, treaties calling for joint action by several regional nations in the event a would-be aggressor attempts to break the peace.

State department officials view this problem as one of the most controversial issues which must be thrashed out at San Francisco.

Already, they are speaking in terms of affecting a compromise between nations holding this view, and nations which want the over-all structure to act on all matters properly within its jurisdiction.

Some far-seeing statesmen envision a situation wherein a regional security organization may take steps which run contrary to the world organization decision.

It is suggested, therefore, that a compromise may be reached whereby the regional organization can act only so long as the world agency has not taken positive action contrary to its determination.

Shift Causes Talk

The most sudden and unexpected legislative development of the year was the break in the conference committee deadlocked over manpower legislation and the announcement that the conference had adopted a compromise bill.

Only three hours before the conferees acted, Representative R. Ewing Thompson (D) of Texas, one of the House conferees, announced on the House floor that an agreement was "improbable".

Both House and Senate conferees had been saying they were a "hung jury", and the deadlock in conference was such that there was practically no prospect that a bill would be worked out.

The sudden shift caused speculation as to what had happened. It is generally assumed that word was passed down the line from some high administration source that the compromise bill, proposed by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D) of Colorado, would be acceptable to the Army, which has clamored most loudly for manpower legislation.

The "A" card motorist is even farther off from a possible new tire now than he has been in the past. WPB says tire demands will not ease after V-E Day and that civilian production must come last on the list.

Civilian tire output has declined to where OPA will have a near-record low number—one million—tires to give out in April, with only the most essential users getting them. If all the country's tremendous tire production now were in the passenger car field, however, we could flood the world with tires.

The World and the Mud Puddles

ONE FRIEND

It is interesting to find that the most enthusiastic approval of Mr. Wallace's appointment to the Commerce portfolio—with the possible exception of that voiced by Senator Pepper of Florida—comes from the Communist newspaper, the Daily Worker.

This Red journal expresses itself as "delighted" with the President's choice and declares that Mr. Wallace has been given "what is perhaps his greatest opportunity." This opportunity is described as "the job of welding together the common interests of farmers, business men and workers behind the Roosevelt program of sixty-million jobs after the war."

Just how Mr. Wallace is going to utilize this opportunity is not indicated. The expectations of the Daily Worker, however, in view of its enthusiasm over the appointment, must be that it will be utilized along lines perfectly satisfactory to Communists. This expectation may be slightly dulled by Mr. Wallace's pronouncement that "we are not going to use the whole Russian political and economic system in the United States." But it will be strengthened by his statement that "we should take the bit in our teeth" and thereby bring about "one hundred per cent reemployment." There will also be assistance to the organ of communism in his declaration that "we are in for a profound revolution."

One of the tried and proven ways of judging a man is by his friends. Mr. Wallace's strongest friend among the American Press seems to be the Communist Daily Worker.

LOOKING AT LIFE
By ERICH BRANDEIS

You probably read that story about the American Engineers who built a pontoon bridge, 1,146 feet long, across the Rhine in the record-breaking time of nine hours, under constant fire of the Germans.

When a war correspondent complimented Lieut. William N. Doyble of Kansas City on the brilliant achievement of his men, the officer said:

"I guess we just were scared and wanted to get out of here in a hurry."

There, in a few words, you have one of the most compelling incentives for courage—FEAR.

If anybody ever tells you that he was never afraid or that he doesn't know the meaning of the word fear, don't believe him.

I have talked to many returned soldiers and sailors and fliers, men who wore many ribbons for bravery and who had faced death and conquered it, and every last one of them told me that he was scared stiff.

I remember, many years ago, my father and I were at a summer resort.

I was just a kid but Dad thought it was about time for me to learn to swim.

We were standing on a pier and I looked down at that foreboding water, and I was scared.

I told my father and he said:

"I know you are scared. That's what's going to make you swim."

And to prove his point he pushed me off the pier.

What could I do? Sink or swim. So I swam.

True enough, Dad was watching me and shouting to me what to do and I know now—I didn't then—that he would have jumped after me if there had been the slightest danger.

But I swam.

Fear taught me to swim, I'm sure of that.

When I came out of the water, proud as a peacock, and shaking like a leaf, Dad said to me:

"You're a brave boy."

And he patted me on the back and put his arm around me and bought me an ice cream cone. And when we got home he told Mother and Sister how courageous I was.

I have told this story to a number of friends. And always I told them that it was Father who taught me how to swim.

But, while Father was there, Fear was the teacher. Fear gave me courage.

And that's how our fighting men feel out there in Europe and in Asia.

And that's how you feel when it's a matter of swimming or sinking.

Yes, there is a Father watching you—you may call it Providence—but it's your Fear of defeat and disaster that gives you courage.

Webster defines Courage as "that firmness of spirit which meets danger without fear."

I would change it to "that firmness of spirit which meets danger with fear overcome."

You need never be afraid of fear if you can lick it.

National Suicide

In setting afire the great cities of Bremen, Hanover and Hamburg—and dozens of smaller towns—the Germans not only make public confession that their cause is lost, but reveal again that mania for destruction which has scorched nearly every part of Europe where they have sent their troops and which, indirectly at least, is responsible for their present plight.

To the normal person, blessed with a rational mind, there is no way to explain this sort of thing. What good does it do to lay waste cities that were centuries in the building, which contain priceless relics of the past and whose ruin will delay for years the rehabilitation of the country? Only a fanatical Nazi can even profess to supply the answer to this question, and it will not be an answer which will satisfy the great masses of people who have seen their homes leveled and must now wander helplessly around the countryside.

If there is any plan at all behind so clear a policy of national suicide, it probably stems from a realization on the part of the Nazi leaders that the Reich as such never again can mean anything to them or that they will be permitted to live within it. What happens to it is therefore of no personal consequence, and the less there is left the smaller will be the Allies' reward for seizing it and the greater their task of rebuilding it for their own purposes.

Ever since this war began in 1939 utter chaos has followed in the footsteps of the German leaders. The wreckage of countless cities in [illegible] states testifies to this fact. Today the same fate is coming to [illegible] eloquent [illegible] of Hitler's [illegible] philosophy [illegible]

In your present wardrobe have you a dress, a suit, a coat or a cloak which you first wore five years ago?

Few of our readers can [illegible] answer "Yes" to that question. Yet, if that garment of [illegible] five years old—were all the clothing you possessed, you would be better clad than any one of millions of men, women and children whom our armies already have freed from Axis domination, or of millions more who will be freed as we drive to complete military victory.

These millions had their wardrobes five years ago. Many of them had more than a single dress, a single suit, a single coat or a single pair of shoes. But when the Axis aggressors invaded their homes, these millions were left with only the clothes they were wearing. Indeed, if such clothing happened to be new or of good quality, it was stripped from their backs and, if they were lucky, worn garments substituted.

In such sorry attire, successively patched with old rags, bits of curtain, paper or other refuse, they have been forced to carry on for five years—five hard, persecuted, horror-filled years.

If you can imagine how your five-year-old garment—if that were all the clothes you owned—would look and would cover and comfort you after five straight years of such usage, you will not be surprised to learn that upward of 30,000,000 men, women and children in liberated Europe alone are "statistically naked" today and that more than 125,000,000 are in desperate need of clothing, shoes and bedding.

Those are the facts—and you can do something about correcting them.

The United National Clothing Collection provides you with this opportunity. It is not asking or expecting you to donate the clothing, shoes or bedding you now are using. It is asking you merely to dig up or dig out all serviceable items among your castoff and forgotten clothes that they may be distributed to the suffering and destitute millions in the war-raved lands.

Don't you think its request justifiable?

Don't you think you should respond to it—And at once?

A Day Of Glory

A significant sign of the times is the announcement that the last B-17 Flying Fortress has rolled off the assembly lines of the Boeing plant at Seattle. The B-17 is on the last stretch of the job it was destined to do and no more will be produced.

Flying Fortresses have been made for nearly ten years, but there is a vast difference between the first of the type and the last. The basic design may have been the same, but the experience of combat resulted in a steady flow of important improvements. It is likely that the crew of the first B-17 would have regarded the last of the series as almost an entirely different aircraft.

For the first three years of the war, Flying Fortresses and B-24 Liberators were the only American heavy bombers. In their first action in Europe the B-17s satisfied the skeptics as to the quality of American precision bombing. Together with the Liberators, they have maintained and improved the standard of their operations around the world. Everybody knows what they have done to Germany and to Japanese outposts in the Pacific.

But now, as the war in Germany draws near its close, so does the day of the Flying Fortress. But that doesn't mean that the need for heavy bombers is ended. It means merely that the even heavier bomber is coming into its own. Henceforth all Boeing plants will concentrate on the production of B-29 Superfortresses, the tremendously long-range successor to the B-17.

The changeover signifies only one thing—the greatly stepped-up aerial bombardment of Japan. There was no real need for Superfortresses in the war in Europe, but there is a need for them in the campaign to knock out Japan. What 300 of them can do is known. What 1,000 or more can do can be imagined—and later will be known, too.

The day of the Flying Fortress is ending, but it has been a glorious day. The American people are proud of the Flying Fortress. They may well salute a gallant plane—and the valiant crews who flew it.

So Sorry, Suzuki

Close students of Japan are predicting that the new government of Admiral Baron Kantaro Suzuki will be a "moderate" one that might project peace feelers to the United States. It is possible that he would fit in as the Japanese idea of a "front man" for such a peace offensive because he was wounded by extremist young Japanese officers in 1936. These officers accused him of counseling moderation on the emperor.

Suzuki is seventy-seven years old and is regarded as an "elder statesman." He is a former commander-in-chief of the mikado's combined fleet. He is of the same school of "moderates" that spawned Saburo Kurusu and Kichisaburo Nomura, whose smiling "peace mission" was under way at the very hour Japan struck at Pearl Harbor.

America and the other Allies will know how to treat any Japanese "save face" peace gesture at this or any other time. In the light of recent history, no Japanese at all is to be trusted until unconditional surrender has permitted ironclad occupation of the islands and uprooting of the whole Japanese system.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Policy Toward Germany Is Still Most Uncertain

WASHINGTON, April 12.—As our armies converge on Berlin, our policy toward the Reich seemingly is still based on the belief that by a wave of the wand you can do away with 70 or 80 million people. Now that might be desirable. The point is debatable. But it is beside the point because it is impossible.

Something of the struggle still going on over how Germany shall be treated has just been disclosed to me. It still leaves the most important questions up in the stratosphere. Here is the background.

Sensible Policy

A month or more ago, under the guidance of Assistant Secretary of State Will Clayton, a sensible policy was worked out and embodied in a set of directives which finally were given Presidential approval. They were sensible because they were workable.

They provided for the military and industrial disarmament of Germany. That is a basic step on which all of the Big Three will agree without question.

But this outline of policy assumed that Germany would have to continue to manufacture consumer goods, such as textiles, and that conceivably she might need some help in getting started on such lines of production. In other words, this memorandum was not based on the assumption that you can convert Germany into a vast kitchen garden, with the Germans living by selling each other vegetables.

It had some resemblance to the carefully worked out plan of the British, on which all British authorities have agreed. The British are part of Europe and they know you cannot deal with [illegible] [illegible] by [illegible] a [illegible]

Morgenthau Enters

[illegible] the White House [illegible] Henry Morgenthau [illegible] Moreover, Morgenthau [illegible] the War Department [illegible] the State Department.

[illegible] Germany [illegible] Britain, U. S. and France. Centralized direction can come only through a central control zone which will [illegible] to the military commanders [illegible]

Here's the Catch

But, and here is the catch, centralized directives are possible only if representatives of all four nations agree. [illegible] that each military commander would in effect have a veto, unless of course the occupying powers have the good sense to agree in advance on a [illegible]

One thing that has disturbed military planners preparing for military occupation of the Reich is the possibility of a superior central control which would override decisions taken by an American commander in the American zone. When military men have responsibility they want it to be undivided. Morgenthau was able to convince War Department officials that his plan would leave their authority unimpaired.

That is where it stands now. Presumably the European advisory commission is still trying to get a clear understanding of the American position on Germany.

Puzzle to Many

How Germany chopped up into four parts can possibly be administered is a question which has a great many responsible people puzzled. Russia's zone is in eastern Germany. That happens to be the surplus food producing area that formerly helped to supply the deficit industrial regions of western Germany.

Stalin's people have been hungry for a long time. They have suffered fearfully at the hands of the Germans. It seems doubtful that they will send any "surplus" food out of eastern Germany into the cities of the west.

How, then, will those cities be fed? In our anger today we answer: let them starve. I know that anger; I've seen the victims of German sadism.

But how do millions of people starve? What happens in the rest of Europe? What do humanitarians in and out of American pulpits say? Does it mean that the American army of occupation is kept on? It is not too early to start thinking about the answers to some of these questions.

Bible Thought

THE ENGAGEMENT

I am soon to become engaged and would like to know how I may spread the news without giving a party for the purpose. I have many out-of-town friends and my fiance's friends and family live out of town. How should I let them know? May I send them engagement cards?—E. G.

Answer: More engagements take place without an announcement party than with one, I should say. Indeed, it is not at all necessary to give any entertainment for the purpose of an announcement. You may, if you choose, have a luncheon at your home or at a hotel to entertain your friends and during it tell the good news. Or you may simply send the notice to the newspapers in both your city and that where your fiance's family and friends live. This must be done by the bride's family.

Sometimes, instead of making any formal announcement, the bride-to-be gives the news to several of her most intimate friends and depends upon them to spread it among their friends and acquaintances.

The choice of announcement is optional, depending upon personal preference. However the situation is handled, the announcement must come from the bride's family and never from the groom's, although, of course, the young man may spread the news verbally.

Write notes, if you choose, to your out-of-town friends and relatives. Printed or engraved cards for this purpose are not correct. Let it be personal letters or nothing!

Question: Is the finger bowl a "must?" That is, if you feel that you have no need to dip your fingers must you anyway?

Answer: It is not a "must" but what harm could there be in dipping when the bowl is placed before you? It is merely a formality and not a necessity in this civilized era of eating with silver instead of with fingers. When one is placed before you, use it.

Army Squelches Power Project

WASHINGTON, April 12.

THE exigencies of war which give the military large influence and authority over the domestic economy, as a rule, are accepted as unavoidable and right. Sometimes friction results, but, in the main, military encroachments are tolerated as essential to winning the war.

HOWEVER, there are limits beyond which the Army should not go and fields into which it should not intrude. Therefore, it was encouraging to have the Army itself recognize this fact by rejecting the $250,000,000 proposal put up to its Board of Engineers by the district engineer for a series of fourteen dams along the Potomac River in Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland. True, a mighty protest by the sections affected was made, but the speed with which the army board dumped the recommendation was practically unprecedented, indicating a complete lack of sympathy with the whole idea.

THIS is fortunate, indeed, because the project was as completely socialistic as any that has been advanced in a long time. It had nothing whatever to do with winning the war and not a great deal to do with flood control. Frankly, it was a water-power proposal for which there was no public demand at all and which would have put the Government in the electric business in a very big way. It would have dealt private enterprise a real body blow and delighted every Socialist and Communist in the country. In a day when even some of our more conspicuous New Dealers and labor leaders are stressing the importance of preserving the private enterprise system, it is more than a little astonishing to find a plan so clearly designed to weaken that system germinated in the Army.

EXACTLY how and why it got as far as it did has not been explained, but certainly the protests riddled the whole scheme. For example, these points were made against it: 1. It would displace the use of coal through the generation of hydro-electric, when the use of coal for the generation of power is more economic than water power. 2. It sought through the use of public funds to [illegible] and destroy the private electric industry. 3. It would reduce the [illegible] of railroads engaged in the transportation of coal to consuming markets. 4. It would deprive workers of their employment in the coal mines, on the railroads and in the electric in-

The Parent Problem

WORKING MOTHER'S SOLUTION

Some mothers are working without neglecting their children. A mother enclosing an extra stamped envelope for bulletins writes:

"My daughter, age 15 months, and I are living with my mother while my husband is in the service in the South Pacific. I reluctantly accepted a teaching position for this year 10 miles away and have enjoyed being back in the profession. However, since my husband is away I have felt more than ever that I should be with my baby.

"My mother must be an exceptional grandmother, because she takes care of Jo Ann so well without spoiling her. We have been especially interested in some of your writings about your granddaughter.

A Good Baby

"We have been rather successful, we feel, in several learning processes so far, but of course have many problems too. She is learning to feed herself very well. She is easy to keep clean and enjoys being dressed up every afternoon. She has been taught to keep her toys in one place and this training has carried over to picking articles from the floor and straightening out rugs. She seems to understand when we tell her there are some things she should not have or touch; however, if she does get one of these forbidden articles she tells us—either by calling 'ah' or by bringing the article to us.

"I have taken her to Sunday school where she enjoys the association with other children, though she is the youngest in the class.

"Perhaps the main reason for her getting along so well is the fact that it is quiet in the house and the atmosphere is pleasant.

Likes to Climb

"She always has climbed and is doing it more and more. So far nothing serious has happened as a result, but we worry a lot. Should we teach her that chairs are to be sat upon and not stood upon, or is climbing just a natural procedure at this age?"

Psychologist's Reply

In substance, I wrote her: It must make your husband very happy to read of his baby's happy development and guidance. Do go on, you and Grandma, with your lovely ways. I hope you cuddle that child a lot and read some to her. Please don't be too urgent that she keep her toys in one place all the time, but encourage [illegible] them about the house [illegible] them only once or twice a day.

Let [illegible] someone [illegible] but she must climb upon [illegible] chair and her [illegible]. If you have a strong low box she might climb up and down it. Also she might profitably stand on a stout chair in the kitchen by the sink or table as you work beside her to watch you and talk to you or grandma. This means she will have to learn to select.

Congressmen Fear War May End In Their Absence
Are Afraid To Leave Capital Because Of Result
Many Hurdles Must Be Overcome At Frisco Meet

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—House members with a yen to get back home for business left the capital this week with their fingers crossed. One thing worried them more than anything else: what would they do or say if the war in Europe ended in a sudden German surrender during their absence from Washington?

Regardless of how justified their trips to their congressional districts may be—and in most cases are—key House members shudder at the thought of the political damage such a development might inflict on an individual congressman.

They look ahead two or four or six years and can vision an opponent campaigning with devastating effect among voting war veterans, on the sole issue that Representative Blank was "at home vacationing when the war ended in Germany."

Obstacles At Frisco

As the date for the San Francisco meeting of the United Nations draws closer it becomes evident that even with the "Big Four" agreed in principle, there are many hurdles to be overcome before a peace organization can be ratified.

Latest difficulty to crop up is the insistence of the French that regional pacts to maintain peace be permitted to function whether or not the over-all peace organization votes to act.

A similar stand has been taken by other nations which already have or are contemplating treaties calling for joint action by several regional nations in the event a would-be aggressor attempts to break the peace.

State department officials view this problem as one of the most controversial issues which must be thrashed out at San Francisco.

Already they are speaking in terms of affecting a compromise between nations holding this view and nations which want the overall structure to act on all matters properly within its jurisdiction.

Some far-seeing statesmen envision a situation wherein a regional security organization may take steps which run contrary to the world organization decision.

It is suggested, therefore, that a compromise may be reached whereby the regional organization can act only so long as the world agency has not taken positive action contrary to its determination.

Shift Causes Talk

The most sudden and unexpected legislative development of the year was the break in the conference committee deadlocked over manpower legislation and the announcement that the conference had adopted a compromise bill.

Only three hours before the conferees [illegible] Representative R. Ewing Thompson (D) of Texas, one of the House conferees, announced on the House floor that an agreement was improbable.

Both House and Senate conferees had been saying they were a "hung jury" and the deadlock in conference was such that there was practically no prospect that a bill would be worked out.

The sudden shift caused speculation as to what had happened. It is generally assumed that word was passed down the line from some high administration source that the compromise bill proposed by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D) of Colorado would be acceptable to the Army, which has clamored most loudly for manpower legislation.

The A card motorist is even farther off from a possible new tire now than he has been in the past. WPB says tire demands will not ease after V-E Day and that civilian production must come last on the list.

Civilian tire output has declined to where OPA will have a near-record low number—one million—tires to give out in April with only the most essential users getting them. If all the country's tremendous tire production now were in the passenger car field, however, we could flood the world with tires.

The World and the Mud Puddles

ONE FRIEND

It is interesting to find that the most enthusiastic approval of Mr. Wallace's appointment to the Commerce portfolio—with the possible exception of that voiced by Senator Pepper of Florida—comes from the Communist newspaper, the Daily Worker.

This Red journal expresses itself as "delighted" with the President's choice and declares that Mr. Wallace has been given "what is perhaps his greatest opportunity." The opportunity is described as "the job of welding together the common interests of farmers, businessmen and [illegible] behind the Roosevelt program of [illegible] million jobs after the war."

[illegible] Mr. Wallace is going to [illegible] his appointment is not [illegible]. The expectations of the Daily Worker, however, in view of its enthusiasm over the appointment, must be that it will be utilized along lines perfectly satisfactory to Communists. This expectation may be largely dulled by Mr. Wallace's pronouncement that "we are not going to have the whole European political and economic system in the United States." But it will be strengthened by this comment that "we should [illegible] our [illegible] and [illegible] bring about [illegible] regimentation." There will also be assistance to the credit of communism in his declaration that "we are in for a profound revolution."

One of the tried and proven ways of judging a man is by his friends. Mr. Wallace's strongest friend among the American Press seems to be the Communist Daily Worker.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

You probably read that story about the American Engineers who built a pontoon bridge, 1,146 feet long, across the Rhine in the record-breaking time of nine hours, under constant fire of the Germans.

When a war correspondent complimented Lieut. William N. Doyole of Kansas City on the brilliant achievement of his men, the officer said:

"I guess we just were scared and wanted to get out of here in a hurry."

There in a few words you have one of the most compelling incentives for courage—FEAR.

If anybody ever tells you that he was never afraid or that he doesn't know the meaning of the word fear, don't believe him.

I have talked to many returned soldiers and sailors and fliers, men who wore many ribbons for bravery and who had faced death and conquered it, and every last one of them told me that he was scared stiff.

I remember, many years ago, my father and I were at a summer resort.

I was just a kid but Dad thought it was about time for me to learn to swim.

We were standing on a pier and I looked down at that foreboding water and I was scared.

I told my father and he said:

"I know you are scared. That's what's going to make you swim."

And to prove his point he pushed me off the pier.

What could I do? Sink or swim. So I swam.

True enough, Dad was watching me and shouting to me what to do and I know now—I didn't then—that he would have jumped after me if there had been the slightest danger.

But I swam.

Fear taught me to swim. I'm sure of that.

When I came out of the water, proud as a peacock and shaking like a leaf, Dad said to me:

"You're a brave boy."

And he patted me on the back and put his arm around me and bought me an ice cream cone. And when we got home he told Mother and Sister how courageous I was.

I have told this story to a number of friends. And always I told them that it was Father who taught me how to swim.

But while Father was there, Fear was the teacher. Fear gave me courage.

And that's how our fighting men feel out there in Europe and in Asia.

And that's how you feel when it's a matter of swimming or sinking.

Yes, there is a Father watching you—you may call it Providence—but it's your Fear of defeat and disaster that gives you courage.

Webster defines Courage as "that firmness of spirit which meets danger without fear."

I would change it to "that firmness of spirit which meets danger with fear overcome."

You need never be afraid of fear if you can lick it.

Eddie Sovesky Wins Officer Commission, Silver Star Medal

E. W. "Eddie" Sovesky, was commissioned on the field of battle as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army, and has been awarded the Silver Star "for gallantry in action at Leyte, Philippine Islands", according to information received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sovesky, R. D. 4.

Already wearing the expert infantryman's badge, the combat infantryman's badge, and the good conduct medal, Lt. Sovesky received his new citation and award for "unhesitatingly" assuming command of his platoon when it encountered heavy rifle and machine gun fire which killed the platoon leader.

Then a technical sergeant, Sovesky reorganized and deployed the platoon under intense enemy fire. "He personally annihilated four of the enemy who were attempting to bayonet a wounded man, and with utter disregard for his personal safety, held the platoon in a position under determined enemy fire, repulsed a counter-attack, and supervised the evacuation of the wounded.

"Technical Sgt. (now Lieutenant) Sovesky's leadership, and intrepid action was an inspiration to his men, and instrumental to the success of the action," his citation continues.

OCD NOTES

Air raid sirens [illegible] be used [illegible] herald V-E day upon official announcement of the end of hostilities by the war department the State Defense Council reported today at Harrisburg.

In a bulletin to more than 100 local council chairmen, Executive Director Ralph C. Hutchison urged that signals be distinguishable from air raid alarms.

"Care should be taken by those responsible for the signals to see that the population of the area affected is informed in advance of the significance of the signal," he urged.

Meanwhile a 65,000 decrease in the civilian defense enrollment was reported for the beginning of April. The roster stands at 1,347,916 members, it was noted.

Notice has been mailed to all auxiliary police of the city OCD by Captain Russell Melvin asking them to go to the OCD in city hall and have their cards stamped so they may be of assistance in time of need to the state disaster committee. This committee was formed to handle emergencies which do not come within the status for civilian defense workers (war causes). The new group, known as the State Disaster Program will be and is composed of persons who have been active in the affairs of the local Council of Defense.

If you are a member of the wardens group and do not have your card fixed to comply with regulations for emergency to assist as a volunteer for local disaster work have it stamped.

Advises Veterans To Concentrate On Service Business

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, April 12.—Veterans who plan to set up shop for themselves under the GI Bill of Rights were advised today to concentrate on the service businesses such as radio repair shops, laundries, and barber shops.

Explaining that service agencies have suffered the greatest contraction since war's start, Dr. K. D. Hutchinson, associate professor of economics at the Pennsylvania State college, believes they will provide wisest postwar investment for business-minded veterans.

Business ventures suggested to ex-servicemen by the economics expert include filling stations, electrical supply and repair shops, dry cleaning establishments, beauty parlors and entertainment establishments such as bowling alleys and billiard parlors.

No veteran without previous experience should buy a business, Dr. Hutchinson said. He suggested working as a clerk for a year or two "to learn the tricks of the trade", and investing money only after consultation with experienced businessmen and mankers.

Goes Into Infantry From Clerical Work

Mrs. Jennie Ellgass of R. D. 5, this city, has received word from her Son G. J. "Cush" Ellgass somewhere in Germany, stating that he has traded in his office job there, and enlisted in the infantry corps, and expects after about two months training that he will be able to engage the "super race" in a game of wits.

Explaining why he made the change he says "In the first place, this war will never end if there isn't replacements to fill the quota needed for combat. Secondly—If it's good enough for other kids like myself, who have folks waiting at home, then its good enough for me. I was doing my share in the war over here Mum, but that's not enough. We've got to give more than that, and if it's God's will that I give my all, then who am I to try and change or shirk it. When a person has been away from America as long as I have, it goes to strengthen the pride and love for those forty eight states, and all they stand for."

Pvt. Ellgass' wife Mrs. Gertrude Ellgass and little son, reside with her parents in Richmond, Va. He has been overseas over a year.

FBI Has Made Thorough Check

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—(INS)—If you think you haven't been investigated during the war, don't be too sure, because Harry T. O'Conner, special agent in charge of the Pittsburgh office of the FBI, reported today that many persons have been checked that are unaware of it.

The nation's staff of FBI investigators has been expanded from 800 at the beginning of the war to about 4,500 agents at the present time, O'Conner said.

More than 16,000 cases of suspected sabotage have been investigated in the past six years and only 10 per cent of this number has been determined, but none was from foreign agents, he pointed out. O'Conner declared that the saboteurs were motivated by their own sympathies toward Nazi ideals.

Tank Production Program Is Cut

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(INS)—The favorable progress of the war resulted today in the army slashing its tank production plant program.

The war department announced that 12 projected plants which would have reached the peak of operation during the last quarter of this year will not be carried into completion.

American production, the department said, now is at a level which assures American fighting men a sufficient production rate to complete the war against Germany, and provides the output necessary to supply forces to be used against Japan.

Beauty Will Obtain Free Education For 1945 Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 12, (INS)—Brains as well as beauty will be keynoted in the Miss America pageant at Atlantic City this year.

A $5000 educational scholarship will be granted to the winner of the 1945 beauty contest at the shore resort, it has been announced by Arthur S. Chenoweth, president of the pageant and former Rhodes scholar.

The Miss America scholarship fund will be under supervision of a committee of six alumnae of colleges and universities, he said. Dr. Guy E. Snavely, executive director of the Association of American Colleges, will be national counselor to the committee.

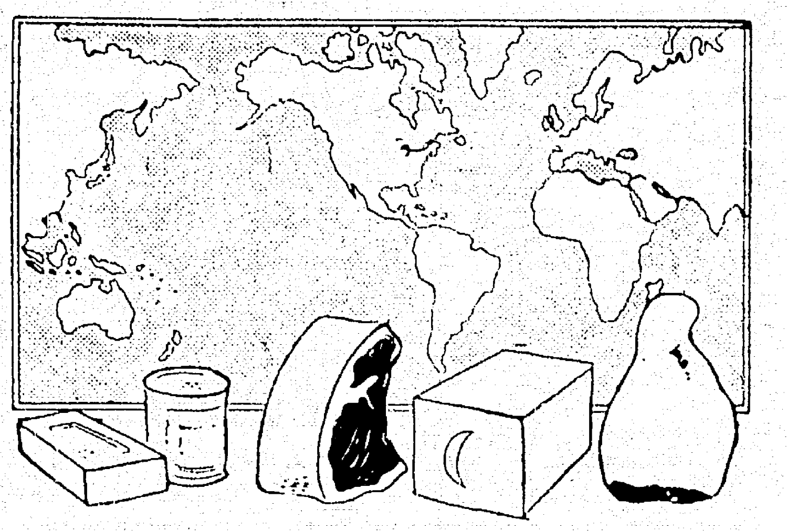
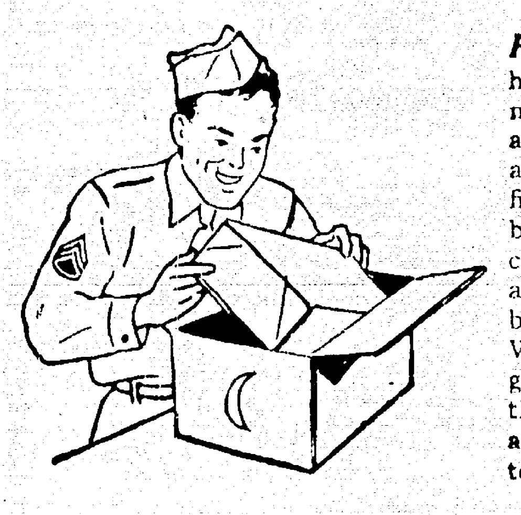
Where's the Meat?
There's the Meat!



CANNED MEATS · FRESH MEATS · FROZEN MEATS · CURED MEATS

The more men we have overseas and on the seas, the more meat the government must ship to maintain them.



Frozen boneless beef helps conserve America's meat supply; saves waste and time in "carving"—and is it popular with the fighters! It comes in handy boxes and takes 40 per cent less shipping and storage space than sides of beef used during World War I. This is one of the great war developments of the meat packing industry and the U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps.

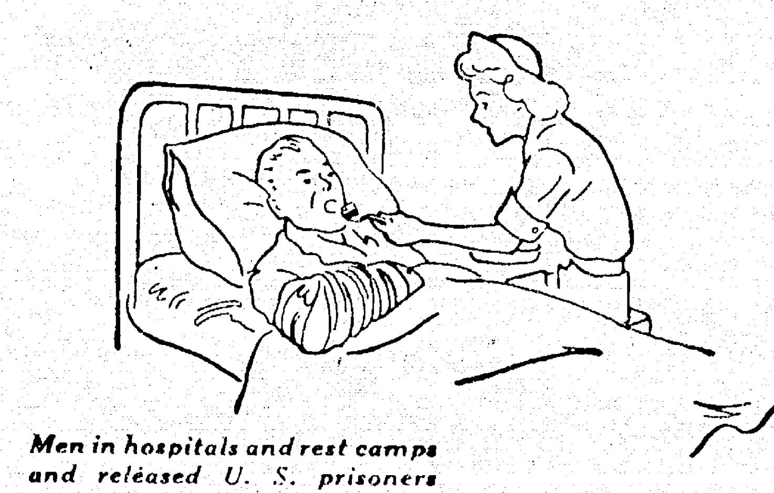

Men in hospitals and rest camps and released U. S. prisoners deserve and get the best meat—and plenty of it.

FLOATING REFRIGERATORS

New "BRL's" (Barge, Refrigerated, Large) now operating in the Pacific. Each of these carries 64 carloads of frozen meats plus 500 tons of fresh vegetables, cheese, eggs and perishable produce plus equipment for producing huge quantities of ice cream.

These pictures show a few reasons why military needs for meat continue at a peak. Also, fewer meat animals are coming to market. That means less meat for civilians.

So meal planning is easier after you see what you can buy—not before you go out to shop. Remember, whatever meat there is, it has complete, highest quality proteins that make all meat "a yardstick of protein foods."

Walter J. Allen Dies At Franklin

Mrs. John Pattison and Mrs. Harry Edwards of this city, have been informed of the death on April 2, of their brother, Walter J. Allen, at his home, 634 14th street, Franklin. Mr. Allen, a painting contractor for many years, had been in failing health for the past year.

Mr. Allen, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, was born in London, England, March 1, 1865. He came to the United States in 1867, and settled first in Greenville.

He was a member of the First Baptist church, Franklin, and had been a member of the I. O. O. F. for 56 years, belonging to Venango Lodge No. 255. Mr. Allen had been a past noble grand of that lodge and was a director of the I. O. O. F. Orphans home, Meadville, for many years.

He was united in marriage to Sarah Edwards on March 20, 1889. They observed their Golden Wedding anniversary in 1939.

Survivors include his wife, two sons, Fred L. and Walter J. Allen, Jr., Franklin; two brothers, Bert Allen, Stoneboro, and Harry Allen, Ashtabula, O.; and three sisters, Mrs. Pattison and Mrs. Edwards, both of New Castle, and John E. Rew, of McKeesport.

Funeral services were conducted this afternoon from the First Baptist church, Franklin, and interment took place in Franklin cemetery.

Eddie Sovesky Wins Officer Commission, Silver Star Medal

E. W. "Eddie" Sovesky, was commissioned on the field of battle as a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army, and has been awarded the Silver Star "for gallantry in action at Leyte, Philippine Islands", according to information received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sovesky, R. D. 4.

Already wearing the expert infantryman's badge, the combat infantryman's badge, and the good conduct medal, Lt. Sovesky received his new citation and award for "unhesitatingly" assuming command of his platoon when it encountered heavy rifle and machine gun fire which killed the platoon leader.

Then a technical sergeant, Sovesky reorganized and deployed the platoon under intense enemy fire. "He personally annihilated four of the enemy who were attempting to bayonet a wounded man, and with utter disregard for his personal safety, held the platoon in a position under determined enemy fire, repulsed a counter-attack, and supervised the evacuation of the wounded.

"Technical Sgt. (now Lieutenant) Sovesky's leadership, and intrepid action was an inspiration to his men, and instrumental to the success of the action," his citation continues.

OCD NOTES

Air raid sirens may be used as victory heralds V-E day upon official announcement of the end of hostilities by the war department the State Defense Council reported today at Harrisburg.

In a bulletin to more than 1000 local council chairmen, Executive Director Ralph C. Hutchison urged that signals be distinguishable from air raid alarms.

"Care should be taken by those responsible for the signals to see that the population of the area affected is informed in advance of the significance of the signal," he urged.

Meanwhile, a 65,000 decrease in the civilian defense enrollment was reported for the beginning of April. The roster stands at 1,347,916 members, it was added.

Hour Of Charm Program Thrills

Packed House Greets All-Girl Orchestra Under Auspices Of Consistory Groups

Last night's entertainment at the Cathedral featuring Phil Spitalny's Hour of Charm and his all girl orchestra drew a packed house. The program was presented under the auspices of the Valley of New Castle Consistory and the Legion of Honor for their members and friends.

Every one of the solo artists, in addition to being talented musicians were possessors of more than ordinary charm. Jeannie Park, Gloria Finn, sopranos, and Francine, contralto, are top artists, while Ann Nisbet, harpist; Viola Smith, drummer; Ruth Winchell, pianist, and Evelyn, with her magic violin, the Three Harmonettes, more than exceeded expectations.

The program was a part of the Consistory's season entertainment and those fortunate enough to attend felt well repaid.

What People Say

PARIS—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in a broadcast beamed to Germany's North sea port workers: "German resistance in the west has collapsed."

WASHINGTON—Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes after taking over coal mines closed by wildcat strikes: "Stopping work at this time is intolerable and unpatriotic. It is threatening production of munitions and of war equipment just when our armies need our full support to win victory in Europe."

NEW YORK—Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, acting chief of staff, army air force, promises the Japs: "If necessary the number of our B-29's will equal the number of our heavy bomber force in Europe—and if necessary, the bomb tonnages dropped on Japan will dwarf the tonnages our heavy bombers have dropped on Europe."

PEARL HARBOR—Comdr. Harold E. Stassen on his departure to attend the San Francisco conference: "There is an overwhelming opinion throughout the world to settle differences by means other than war. The least that will come out of the conference is some form of organization of those of the United Nations who will agree to work together."

Dr. K. R. Van Horn Will Be Guest Of Engineers Society

President Of American Society For Metals Will Speak Here Monday Evening

DR. KENT R. VAN HORN

Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers society will have as its speaker for the program April 16, Dr. Kent R. VanHorn who will speak on "Aluminum Alloys and Their Application". Dr. VanHorn is president of the American Society for Metals for the current year and has contributed many technical papers and books in the field of metallurgy and X-ray work.

He is a member of the Cleveland division of the Aluminum Research Laboratories, a part of the Aluminum Company of America. He is in charge of radiographic investigation.

In this time of war when specifications are very freely quoted by engineers and designers, there is sometimes doubt in people's minds as to why certain alloys are acceptable for particular applications, while others are not. It is with this thought in mind that Dr. VanHorn has consented to try to explain some of the reasons for the various appplications of aluminum alloys. His talk will be well illustrated with appropriate slides.

dustry. 5. It would inundate a large and fertile area of West Virginia. 6. It makes flood control a secondary consideration.

7. IT PROPOSED the expansion of recreational areas and at the same time devastated a large section of the two Virginias recognized as the greatest recreational area between the Atlantic Coast and the Rocky Mountains. 8. It would have a blighting effect on the political economy of West Virginia by curtailing revenues paid by coal and related industries for the support of state and local governments, including the cost of public education. 9. It would remove from county governments large taxable areas of land upon which they now subsist. 10. It was inadequate as a measure desirable for flood control; unwarranted as a project to increase unnecessary electric power and most destructive of employment in existing industries.

SUMMING UP, the West Virginia Coal Association declared that "In these days of national peril no body of public officials should be more cognizant of the importance of coal to the war effort than the rivers and harbors engineers of the War Department. Without this commodity in abundance, the herculean efforts of the nation to wage successful war could not be prosecuted. Yet, in this hour of peril, a project has been submitted that is tantamount to curtailing the production of coal; that would result, inevitably, in unemployment of coal miners, sabotaging the private electric industry and crippling the railroads." Supporting this view, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad asserted that the plan would submerge and dislocate some 80 miles of its tracks, force the construction of new bridges and tunnels, cost the road more than twelve million dollars for readjustments, deprive it of several million dollars of annual revenue, decrease tax revenues for both state and counties, eliminate more than a thousand railroad jobs—all to no real benefit of the area affected.

ALTOGETHER, there was not much left of the project when the hearing, attended by various senators and House members, was over. The board, almost immediately, announced its disapproval of the recommendation and, presumably, the whole elaborate scheme is now dead. It all goes to show that one never can tell when or where these government ownership advocates will break out. But, certainly, it was not expected that they were entrenched in the Army. The Army is to be congratulated on squelching them.

Bronze Star Medal For Koppel Soldier

(Special To The News)

WITH THE 25TH INFANTRY "Tropic Lighting" Division On Luzon, Philippines—Pfc. Stephen Tisleretz, Koppel, Pa., has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement as a driver for a forward field artillery observer during the 25th Infantry Division's battle for San Manuel on Luzon, 100 miles north of Manila.

Pfc. Tisleretz aided in the establishment of radio communication to artillery positions in the rear, and, when forced to withdraw, aided in the re-establishment of communications at a new post, as which he remained despite the fact that mortar shells were falling dangerously close.

His outfit is now supporting Doughboys in the Caraballo mountains of northern Luzon.

EAT, DRINK AND BE MERRY OR SICK

A large number of people patronize public eating and drinking places.

They know that they run some chance of infection, but they have to take a chance.

The principal danger is from cups, glasses, spoons and fingers.

If the dishes are washed and sterilized by either heat or antiseptics, they will cause no trouble.

If the waiters wash their hands often, there will not be much danger.

Public sentiment can do more to keep eating places sanitary than any other thing.

Inspections and laboratory tests help some. Rules and regulations help some.

If you get tonsillitis or a cold from a spoon at a soda fountain you will be sorry.

Health inspectors need your help. Eating places want to be sanitary.

Both need encouragement and appreciation of good work.

EAT, DRINK AND BE MERRY OR SICK

A large number of people patronize public eating and drinking places.

They know that they run some chance of infection, but they have to take a chance.

The principal danger is from cups, glasses, spoons and fingers.

If the dishes are washed and sterilized by either heat or antiseptics, they will cause no trouble.

If the waiters wash their hands often, there will not be much danger.

Public sentiment can do more to keep eating places sanitary than any other thing.

Inspections and laboratory tests help some. Rules and regulations help some.

If you get tonsilitis or a cold from a spoon at a soda fountain you will be sorry.

Health inspectors need your help. Eating places want to be sanitary.

School Board Members Meet

Routine Session On Wednesday Evening—Delay Naming Junior High Principal

Little more than routine business was transacted Wednesday night April 11 when the New Castle school board held its monthly business meeting in the administration building in East Street. The scheduled meeting finished shortly after ten o'clock after which the board went into an executive meeting to consider the matter of electing a principal to succeed Browne K. Thacker, principal of George Washington junior high school who retires at the end of the present term. No choice was made.

The resignation of Martha McGill, a teacher in the McGill school was accepted. Miss McGill was recently married.

To Hire Expert

Upon recommendation that the school system secure an arithmetic consultant some time this spring, Superintendent Frank L. Burton reported that he had contacted Dr. W. A. Brownell of Duke University who offered to come here three days for $75 per day. The board authorized the hiring of Dr. Brownell and he will come here some time this month.

Superintendent Burton informed the board that he had been notified by County Superintendent John S. Syling that he had received the title for the NYA machine shop equipment now installed in the vocational building on East Lutton street. Thus far no title has been received for the auto shop equipment, held by the New Castle board.

Other Action

The request of the American Legion for use of the George Washington junior high school athletic field for use of the baseball team on Tuesday and Friday nights of each week in the summer was granted.

Solicitor Robert L. Wallace was authorized to correct an assessment of a small piece of property in Hickory township which has been assessed for some time in the Third Ward.

H. L. Marvin Company was awarded the contract for wiring the senior high school at their bid of $954. The wiring is to relieve the load on the present lines.

Two sets of stage curtains were ordered purchased. Front curtains for the stage at Benjamin Franklin were authorized purchased from the Knoxville Scenic studios at a price of $792.50. A back drop curtain for George Washington junior will be purchased at a price of $484.90 from the same company.

No More School Bells

The knell of the old fashioned school bells was sounded Wednesday night when the board voted to install synchronous type program clocks and gongs in all the elementary schools. The eleven sets will cost $2,600 and will be purchased from the International Business Machine Company. The bells are connected with the clocks and announce the periods of the day automatically. This year will probably be the last for the old fashioned school bells which warned the neighborhood youngsters that school was about to start.

Bills in the amount of $9,001.29 were approved for payment.

U. S. Casualties To Date 898,749

Increase Of 5,940 In Week's Time Over Last Figures Announced

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(INS)—Casualties in the American armed services today totalled 898,749, an increase of 5,940 during the past week.

Army casualties reported by the war department through March 1, and reflecting operations through the middle of March, totalled 802,685. The file included 159,267 killed, 489,256 wounded, 86,648 missing and 67,514 prisoners. Of the wounded 250,192 have returned to duty, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson revealed in making the figures public.

Navy casualties reached 96,164, an increase of 1,538 over last week's figures. Including casualties suffered by the marine corps and coast guard as well as the navy itself, these casualties are made up of 37,247 killed, 44,073 wounded, 10,586 missing and 4,258 prisoners of war.

Plan Penalties For Treatment Of U. S. War Prisoners

Just Punishment Pledged For Perpetrators By U. S. Government Officials

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The United States government today pledged that a just punishment will be meted out to perpetrators of atrocities against American prisoners of war in Germany.

The pledge was made jointly by Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of State Stettinius and was issued at Stimson's news conference.

It was also revealed that there are actually 70,000 American prisoners inside the battlefronts of the Reich in contrast to the previously announced figure of 66,000.

The statement declared that to some extent the condition of the Allied prisoners was due to chaotic conditions within Germany, and disclosed efforts being made by the Allies through the International Red Cross to get supplies to the sufferers.

"In addition to the suffering caused by the conditions here described," the statement said, "instances are being daily uncovered of deliberate neglect, indifference and cruelty in the treatment of American prisoners, actions which have shocked the entire civilized world.

"These atrocities are documented by the pitiable condition of liberated American soldiers. The American nation will not forget them. It is our relentless determination that the perpetrators of these heinous crimes against American citizens and against civilization itself will be brought to justice."

AROUND CITY HALL

Officials of the American Can company appeared Thursday before city council in city hall and requested a better driveway from Preston avenue to their plant on which they have paid $130,000 taxes. Acting upon a motion submitted by Property Director Joe Alexander council decided to view the driveway, which officials said was kept up by Streets Director James Gibson but which during storms was filled with ruts.

City dog-catcher, Jack Young, on Wednesday afternoon summoned police to Sheridan and Delaware avenues to dispose of an alleged vicious dog. Patrolman Cubellis discharged a shotgun which wounded the dog. It ran into a yard. Lieutenant Jones dispatched the dog with revolver shots. The dog was killed in the yard because there were children in the district and he deemed it best to dispatch the wounded dog where it was, he reported.

Cruiser police Wednesday afternoon searched two hours for four year old Freddie Durst, South Beaver street. The boy's mother reported the boy had been playing with a turtle and when he disappeared from her sight, was alarmed, fearing he might have travelled toward the Shenango river. However, two hours later the little chap returned home, safe and sound.

Need New Taxes To Meet Teachers' Salary Proposal

(BULLETIN)

HARRISBURG, April 12.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin indicated today that if the Hare-Lee teachers' salary bill is placed on his desk he will veto the proposal unless a companion measure is adopted to offset an anticipated cost of $95,000,000 "within a few years."

The Hare-Lee measure calls for minimum salaries of $1400 increased by annual increments and an equalization fund permitting greater state participation in sharing the program's cost.

Governor Martin said the proposal would cost the commonwealth $36,000,000 during the 1945-47 biennium starting June 1 but left the door open to a compromise plan by stating he would "go along" on a salary program costing approximately $20,000,000.

Enactment of the Hare-Lee bill would not only boost commonwealth expenditures but would place additional tax burdens on local districts, he said.

"This bill cannot be financed by anticipated revenues from existing taxes," the government declared. "It is therefore apparent it will be necessary to accompany this proposed legislation with a new tax bill to supply the funds required to finance it."

Mass Murders Are Reported At Farm For 'Insane' At Obrawalde In Recent Years

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 12.—A mass murder farm for the insane, where thousands of perfectly normal anti-Fascists also were confined and executed, was discovered today by the Red army following its capture of Obrawalde in its continuing drive on Berlin.

The horror farm, known as the Obrawalde-Mezeritz, contained about 1,000 "patients," abandoned by the Nazis, when the Russians took it. Many obviously were insane, but others were normal.

Investigation showed that those who were known to hold anti-Fascist ideas were confined there, along with others whose behavior was held "undesirable" or to "violate the purity of Aryan blood."

From the trembling lips of survivors came a terrible story of the mass destruction of thousands of insane and "undesirable" inmates.

Beginning in 1940, they said, the Germans began to concentrate at Obrawalde all patients evacuated from asylums located within the range of Allied planes. At times 5,000 persons were jammed into the hospital, but by last January not more than 1,000 remained. The death registration book gave the answer.

For 1944 alone, there were 3,948 arrivals and 3,814 deaths—a mortality of 97 per cent. Records showed that most of these died within 10 days after arrival. Malnutrition and heart failure usually were listed as the causes of death.

Upon completion of his leave he will return to New York to await further orders.

Motorists Warned On Street Cleaning

Lieut. George S. Kennedy today warned motorists that should they not have their cars parked out of the path of the city streets sweeper which will operate at midnight Friday or they may be towed to a garage. During the past few weeks street cleaning operations have been minimized because motorists failed to remove their cars before midnight from downtown paved streets.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Mass Murders Are Reported At Farm For 'Insane' At Obrawalde In Recent Years

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 12.—A mass murder farm for the insane, where thousands of perfectly normal anti-Fascists also were confined and executed, was discovered today by the Red army following its capture of Obrawalde in its continuing drive on Berlin.

The horror farm, known as the Obrawalde-Mezeritz, contained about 1,000 "patients," abandoned by the Nazis, when the Russians took it. Many obviously were insane, but others were normal.

Investigation showed that those who were known to hold anti-Fascist ideas were confined there along with others whose behavior was held "undesirable" or to "violate the purity of Aryan blood."

From the trembling lips of survivors came a terrible story of the mass destruction of thousands of insane and "undesirable" inmates.

Beginning in 1940, they said, the Germans began to concentrate at Obrawalde all patients evacuated from asylums located within the range of Allied planes. At times 5,000 persons were jammed into the hospital, but by last January not more than 1,000 remained. The death registration book gave the answer.

For 1944 alone, there were 3,948 arrivals and 3,814 deaths—a mortality of 97 per cent. Records showed that most of these died within 10 days after arrival. Malnutrition and heart failure usually were listed as the causes of death.

Rudolph Marcozzi Returns From Duty

Rudolph Marcozzi, coxswain, has returned from seven months of sea duty service and is spending a 13-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Marcozzi of 604 East Lutton street.

Coxswain Marcozzi has been stationed in many foreign countries including Egypt, Africa, Iran, India, Italy and Sicily. He returned with many lovely souvenirs from these places.

Upon completion of his leave he will return to New York to await further orders.

Motorists Warned On Street Cleaning

Lieut. George S. Kennedy today warned motorists that should they not have their cars parked out of the path of the city streets sweeper which will operate at midnight Friday or they may be towed to a garage. During the past few weeks street cleaning operations have been minimized because motorists failed to remove their cars before midnight from downtown paved streets.

P. L. D. Reading circle met recently at the Y. W. C. A. center on Elm street. After devotionals Mabel Taylor presented the following program: group singing; papers, Emma Taylor, Blanche Dillard, Ethel Wall and Carolyn Williams; and current events, Blanche Dillard and Elizabeth Thomas. Refreshments were served by the aides, Mary Mann, Rebecca Baker, Mary Clark and Emma Taylor. Next meeting will be in two weeks at the same place, with Elizabeth Thomas as hostess.

Dirt should be washed off the hands and arms by soap and water and not rubbed off by the towel.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

LIEUT. GEN. SIMPSON

The sensational 50-mile advance in one day of U. S. Ninth Army tanks to the Elbe river in Germany today placed that comparative newcomer army to the European arena in the vanguard of Anglo-American forces drawing ever closer to a juncture with their Russian allies to the east.

The 50-mile push undoubtedly required great initiative and ingenuity—but those qualities have proven inherent in the non-stop Ninth and its brilliant commander, Lieut. Gen. William H. Simpson, ever since the tall Texan's army landed in Europe last September to mop up Brittany, smash across the Cologne plain and lead the way to the Rhine last month.

Characteristic of the fighting Texan was his order when threatened by almost overwhelming counter-attack at the German border: "Damn it, attack!" He and his men then plunged into Germany and won't stop attacking until they join up with the westward-pushing Russians in the very near future.

Simpson has been famous as a brilliant tactician and expert in tank and artillery operations and for his intrepidity, since World War I days, when he rose to chief of staff of the 33rd Division in France, winning the DSC and Silver Star and the French Croix De Guerre and Legion of Honor ribbon.

To him personally goes much of the credit for the disintegration of the German armies in the west which led to the current Nazi debacle.

Mark Twain once said: "I have never seen what seemed to me an atom of proof that there is a future life. And yet—I am strongly inclined to expect one.

Martin Authorizes $50,000,000 Bond Issue For Projects

HARRISBURG, April 12.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin received today a Senate resolution proposing an amendment to the state constitution and authorizing a $50,000,000 bond issue for postwar public works projects.

Designed for expenditure during the postwar period, the resolution if signed by the chief executive must be approved by a majority of the electorate.

Sen. George Woodward (R) Philadelphia, introduced the resolution which was passed by the House yesterday. The resolution was approved by the General Assembly in 1943.

Examinations in the Irish language held recently in Dublin showed that only 185 of the 910 taking the test knew the language.

Settlement Of Polish Question Being Sought

U. S. And Britain Putting Pressure On Russia, Seeking To Speed Up Settlement

By LEON PEARSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The United States and Great Britain are putting pressure on Russia today for last-minute settlement of the Polish question.

Washington officials were frank in saying that unless the impasse on Poland can be broken in the next few days, it will cause a serious public rift in the Big Three entente.

British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden announced that Prime Minister Churchill will give the House of Commons a report next week on the Moscow negotiations to form a new Polish government.

This is regarded in Washington as a warning to Stalin that unless the Polish stalemate is broken before that time, Churchill will put all the cards on the table in a way that will be embarrassing to the Soviet government.

Basic Misunderstanding

Meantime, it was learned that a basic misunderstanding of the Yalta agreement on Poland has arisen to obstruct the negotiations in Moscow.

At Yalta, the Big Three leaders agreed that "the provisional government which is now functioning in Poland should be reorganized on a broader democratic basis." The result, according to the Yalta agreement, would be a "new government."

But Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov is insisting that the agreement merely calls for a modification of the government in Warsaw, rather than the creation of a new setup.

Thus, according to Molotov, the Warsaw government (formerly the Lublin committee) must itself be the basis of a new government and must be allowed a veto on all persons proposed for inclusion in the government.

This veto question has been the stumbling block in the Moscow negotiations. No progress has been made in weeks, officials admitted.

Both President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have communicated with Marshal Stalin, since these misunderstandings developed, urging that the government must be new, not merely a modification of the original Lublin group.

Lt. C. A. Coulter In Blimp Crash

Local Naval Officer Suffers Burns And Cuts When Blimp Crashes In South America

Lt. (jg) Charles Allen Coulter, U. S. navy air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Coulter of 919 Harrison street, and husband of Mrs. Adelaied Coulter of 330 Neshannock avenue, New Wilmington, is recovering in the naval air station hospital at Jacksonville, Fla., from injuries received when a blimp which he was piloting crashed somewhere in South America. Lt. Coulter has been engaged in submarine patrol work in the lighter-than-air division for the past 14 months in South American waters.

The crash in which he was injured occurred in a South American city. He sustained cuts and burns from high tension electric wires.

Lt. Coulter has been in service since March 6, 1942. He was commissioned at Lakehurst, N. J., in March 1943, and later was stationed at naval air stations in Georgia, Huama, La., and Key West, before going to South America, where he has been stationed for 14 months.

Some Miners Are Still On Strike

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—(INS)—The third day of government control of 67 western Pennsylvania soft coal mines saw 46 mines shut down and 14,376 miners idled by wildcat strikes with some reports of picketing being resumed.

Harry A. Sutter, newly appointed regional bituminous manager, estimated yesterday's loss at 96,638 tons, of which 69,138 tons were lost through the strikes and a 5,000 ton deficit was charged to abnormal absenteeism.

Maj. Gen. Rose, Slain By Nazis, Was Known Here

It was recalled here today that Major-General Maurice Rose, commander of the U. S. Third Armored division who was murdered by the Germans when he attempted to surrender his unit on the western front was known here to men interested in the National Guard.

In the days when New Castle's National Guard unit was Troop F of the 103rd Cavalry, Major-General, then Major Rose was the inspector for the Federal government and made periodic inspections of the troop here. In a letter to a member of the News staff, Lt. Col. W. Fulton Jackson who is serving in a general hospital in England recalled Major Rose's visits to New Castle.

The murder of Major-General Rose was another of the myriads of black marks against the German army. He was jeeping from one unit of his force to another when he ran into a pocket of Germans. His aide-de-camp reports the men with General Rose put their hands up and that as the general was endeavoring to remove his shoulder holster a Nazi soldier shot him through the head.

Pfc. Don Booth Is Seriously Ill

Telegram Informs Parents That Soldier Son Is Seriously Ill In India

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Booth, of 16 Smithfield street, received a telegram from the War department stating that their son, Pfc. Don Booth, age 21 years, stationed with the Engineers, with the Railroad Battalion in India, is seriously ill.

No details are known of his illness. Pfc. Booth has been in service for the past two years, and served overseas for 14 months.

His brother, Sgt. Kyle Booth, is with the Engineer battalion in Italy.

GRANT FIVE PERMITS TO BUILD GARAGES

This is the time of year when young men's fancy turns to love, anglers fish for suckers and motorists build garages. According to the city department of building some garage building permits have been granted. Those who have received such permits follow:

Opposes Amended Pure Streams Bill

PHILADELPHIA, April 12—(INS)—The amended Brunner pure streams bill, passed by the state Senate this week was branded as "worse than no bill at all," by Philadelphia Orphans' Court Judge Grover C. Ladner.

The "minor change" tacked on by the administration is the "spigot" to flood Western Pennsylvania's few remaining pure streams with acid mine water, Ladner declared. The change would permit mine owners to divert acid water into pure brooks after giving the state a year's notice to construct drains to draw this water off into already polluted streams, he said.

"I have no alternative but to fight the passage of this emasculated bill on the floor of the House," the jurist asserted.

Posthumous Award Of Bronze Star To Sgt. E. Obodzinski

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—Posthumously awarded to Sgt. Edward T. Obodzinski, the Bronze Star Medal has been presented to his brother, Theodore Obodzinski, 6 Northview avenue, according to information from the Pittsburgh subdistrict headquarters of the Third Service Command.

Accompanying the medal is a citation which reads: "For heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on May 14, 1943."

The sergeant's squad was momentarily held up by heavy enemy fire, but rather than remain in the same position long enough to let the enemy range in on his squad with mortar fire, he continued to advance, and inspired his squad to follow him.

Refusing to be evacuated even when he was hit by shell fragments, Sgt. Obodzinski continued to advance, and while approaching an enemy machine gun position he was fatally wounded. "Courage and disregard for his own life were shown throughout the attack", his citation stated.

Lighting Research is "MOVING the SUN"

Can you imagine a factory operating out of doors—in the cool abundant light of a fine summer day!

How efficiency and morale would go up—spoilage down! But there would be several drawbacks. Weather might interfere . . . and darkness would come each night.

But today—thanks to lighting research and wartime experience, any factory can have the benefits of sunshine twenty-four hours a day!

Many war factories have such lighting. And production figures prove that it is very much worth while.

Today, thanks to scientific research, any factory—or store, or home can enjoy:

★ Softer, more abundant light for easy seeing.
★ Ultraviolet that produces essential Vitamin D.
★ Short-wave ultraviolet that kills germs.

Why not plan now to take advantage of all these modern developments in lighting. We will be glad to advise you without charge or obligation.

Early Liberation Of North Holland Appears Certain

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN HOLLAND, April 12.—(INS)—Early liberation of all north Holland appeared certain today when the Canadian first army stormed northward through the Netherlands toward Groeningen for 22 miles.

Other dominion troops opened an attack against western Holland with a drive across the Issel river between Zutphen and Deventer where they established a bridgehead one mile wide and one and a half miles deep.

The westward drive indicated a battle to liberate the great Netherlands cities of Amsterdam, Rotterdam and the Hague.

More than 1,400 German prisoners were captured by the Canadians who liberated 25 Dutch towns and villages in their northward sweep. Numerous junctions were made with British airborne troops dropped in northern Holland Saturday night.

The Canadian second infantry division spearheaded the long advance toward Groeningen, surging northward in kangaroo carriers over bridges which had been captured by airborne forces.

BREAKS TRADITION

When Judge W. Walter Braham is elected in November to his second term on the Lawrence County bench he will be breaking a tradition that has existed here since the first judge was elected, Judge William Wallace.

Judge Wallace tried for a second term in 1904 but was defeated by William E. Porter. Judge Porter tried the second time in 1915 but was defeated by S. Plummer Emery. Judge Emery tried the second time in 1925 and was defeated by R. Lawrence Hildebrand. Judge Hildebrand was defeated in the primary election of 1935, and in November of that year Judge Braham was elected.

This time there will be no contest, Judge Braham having both Republican and Democratic nominations. His election is not absolutely guaranteed in November but until something more certain comes along this will do as one of the best examples of something which is bound to happen

He attended Volant Academy, Westminster College, George Washington University and got his law degree from Pitt. Midway he took time out to serve in the army in World War One. In 1922 he came to the Lawrence County bar and practiced until January 1936 when he went onto the bench.

The saw viper is a small old world desert viper, marked with a dorsal series of light spots, and a zig-zag line along each side suggesting the teeth of a saw.

Richard K. Allen In Heroic Exploit

Chief Carpenter's Mate 'Dick' Allen On Volunteer Mission In Lingayen Gulf With Seabees

Mrs. Richard K. Allen of 326 E. Wallace avenue has received a copy of the Scuttle Scoop, published by the 119th U. S. navy construction battalion, now stationed in Luzon, which tells about a successful mission completed by a picked group of volunteers from the 119th at Lingayen Gulf, several months ago. Her husband, Chief Carpenter's Mate Richard K. "Dick" Allen was a member of this party.

The Scuttle Scoop states that, though under frequent fire from enemy planes and snipers, no injuries were received. The men chosen from the volunteers were selected because of their knowledge of pontoons and their job was to connect ship-to-shore pontoon causeways for transporting tanks and armored vehicles onto the beachhead such as were used at Normandy so successfully.

At that time, the 119th battalion was based in New Guinea, but has now moved on to Luzon.

Early Liberation Of North Holland Appears Certain

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN HOLLAND, April 12.—(INS)—Early liberation of all north Holland appeared certain today when the Canadian first army stormed northward through the Netherlands toward Groeningen for 22 miles.

Other dominion troops opened an attack against western Holland with a drive across the Issel river between Zutphen and Deventer where they established a bridgehead one mile wide and one and a half miles deep.

The westward drive indicated a battle to liberate the great Netherlands cities of Amsterdam, Rotterdam and the Hague.

More than 1,400 German prisoners were captured by the Canadians who liberated 25 Dutch towns and villages in their northward sweep. Numerous junctions were made with British airborne troops dropped in northern Holland Saturday night.

The Canadian second infantry division spearheaded the long advance toward Groeningen, surging northward in kangaroo carriers over bridges which had been captured by airborne forces.

Richard K. Allen In Heroic Exploit

Chief Carpenter's Mate 'Dick' Allen On Volunteer Mission In Lingayen Gulf With Seabees

Mrs. Richard K. Allen of 326 E. Wallace avenue has received a copy of the Scuttle Scoop, published by the 119th U. S. navy construction battalion, now stationed in Luzon, which tells about a successful mission completed by a picked group of volunteers from the 119th at Lingayen Gulf, several months ago. Her husband, Chief Carpenter's Mate Richard K. "Dick" Allen was a member of this party.

The Scuttle Scoop states that, though under frequent fire from enemy planes and snipers, no injuries were received. The men chosen from the volunteers were selected because of their knowledge of pontoons and their job was to connect ship-to-shore pontoon causeways for transporting tanks and armored vehicles onto the beachhead such as were used at Normandy so successfully.

At that time, the 119th battalion was based in New Guinea, but has now moved on to Luzon.

BREAKS TRADITION

When Judge W. Walter Braham is elected in November to his second term on the Lawrence County bench he will be breaking a tradition that has existed here since the first judge was elected, Judge William Wallace.

Judge Wallace tried for a second term in 1904 but was defeated by William E. Porter. Judge Porter tried the second time in 1915 but was defeated by S. Plummer Emery. Judge Emery tried the second time in 1925 and was defeated by R. Lawrence Hildebrand. Judge Hildebrand was defeated in the primary election of 1935, and in November of that year Judge Braham was elected.

This time there will be no contest, Judge Braham having both Republican and Democratic nominations. His election is not absolutely guaranteed in November but until something more certain comes along this will do as one of the best examples of something which is bound to happen

He attended Volant Academy, Westminster College, George Washington University and got his law degree from Pitt. Midway he took time out to serve in the army in World War One. In 1922 he came to the Lawrence County bar and practiced until January 1936 when he went onto the bench.

The saw viper is a small old world desert viper, marked with a dorsal series of light spots, and a zig-zag line along each side suggesting the teeth of a saw.

Italian Confesses Mutilating Books

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—The two-year mystery of recurrent mutilation of rare Italian books in the priceless New York public library collection appeared solved today by the guilty plea of Baldo Aquilano, 48, listed in the Italian "Who's Who" as a leading authority on Italian history.

Aquilano, who admitted in court yesterday that he was the man who registered under fictitious names to gain access to the historic volumes and tore pages out of four virtually irreplaceable tomes, blames a nervous breakdown for his act.

He has until Wednesday to pay a $250 fine, with a three-month jail term the alternative.

Shirley's Fans Are Double-Crossed; 16 Too Young, She Says

HOLLYWOOD, April 12.—(INS)—Sixteen-year-old girls who want to marry failed today to get the support they expected from Shirley Temple.

Since the announcement of her engagement a few days ago, the young film star has received scores of letters from 16-year-olds, asking her to side with them against parents who object to marriage at so early an age.

They wrote to the actress because she is 16 herself, although she will be 17 April 23.

However, the erstwhile child star lined up with the parents. At 16 a girl is still too young for marriage, she said, holding that 19 was soon enough.

She added that she will be 19 and possibly 20 before she becomes the bride of Sgt. John G. Agar of the Army Air Forces.

Governor Vetoes Pharmaceutical Bill

HARRISBURG, April 12.—(INS)—A pharmaceutical measure carried Gov. Edward Martin's veto today because it would create an "unwarranted interference" with normal business practices.

The measure, introduced by Rep. Henry Elder (R) Lycoming, would prohibit sales of any drug or chemical containing only the name of the article, manufacturer and place of business on the label.

Simultaneously, the chief executive affixed his signature to a measure authorizing county commissioners to provide markers and burial plots for deceased women veterans of the armed forces whose bodies are not claimed by relatives.

WAKE UP YOUR DIGESTION BELOW THE BELT
Without Stomach Relievers

To Get Happy Relief from Gassy, Bloated, Tight-around-the-Waist Misery You May Need This Kind of Laxative Help

When most food leaves the stomach, it is by no means fully digested. It is in the 28 feet, or more, of intestines, that the greater part of digestion is done. Among the vital digestive juices that work in the intestines, the liver bile is one of the most important—especially vital to the digestion of fats. Unless the liver bile flows sufficiently, digestion of fats slows down. Food decays in bowels. You may get constipated and feel full of gassy, bloated, indigestion misery. That's when you need Beechams Pills. They help get the bile juice flowing freely, which helps you digest and eliminate in Nature's happy way. Ask your druggist for gentle, all-vegetable Beechams Pills today. Caution: Use only as directed. 25¢.

Shirley's Fans Are Double-Crossed; 16 Too Young, She Says

HOLLYWOOD, April 12.—(INS)—Sixteen-year-old girls who want to marry failed today to get the support they expected from Shirley Temple.

Since the announcement of her engagement a few days ago, the young film star has received scores of letters from 16-year-olds, asking her to side with them against parents who object to marriage at so early an age.

They wrote to the actress because she is 16 herself, although she will be 17 April 23.

However, the erstwhile child star lined up with the parents. At 16 a girl is still too young for marriage, she said, holding that 19 was soon enough.

She added that she will be 19 and possibly 20 before she becomes the bride of Sgt. John G. Agar of the Army Air Forces.

Governor Vetoes Pharmaceutical Bill

HARRISBURG, April 12.—(INS)—A pharmaceutical measure carried Gov. Edward Martin's veto today because it would create an "unwarranted interference" with normal business practices.

The measure, introduced by Rep. Henry Elder (R) Lycoming, would prohibit sales of any drug or chemical containing only the name of the article, manufacturer and place of business on the label.

Simultaneously, the chief executive affixed his signature to a measure authorizing county commissioners to provide markers and burial plots for deceased women veterans of the armed forces whose bodies are not claimed by relatives.

WAKE UP YOUR DIGESTION BELOW THE BELT

To Get Happy Relief from Gassy, Bloated, Tight-around-the-Waist Misery You May Need This Kind of Laxative Help

When most food leaves the stomach, it is by no means fully digested. It is in the 28 feet, or more, of intestines that the greater part of digestion is done. Among the vital digestive juices that work in the intestines, the liver bile is one of the most important—especially vital to the digestion of fats. Unless the liver bile flows sufficiently, digestion of fats slows down. Food decays in bowels. You may get constipated and feel full of gassy, bloated, indigestion misery. That's when you need Beechams Pills. They help get the bile juice flowing freely, which helps you digest and eliminate in Nature's happy way. Ask your druggist for gentle, all-vegetable Beechams Pills today. Caution: Use only as directed. 26¢.

Presbyterial To Meet At Sharon

Seventieth Shenango Presbyterial Meeting Planned For Wednesday, April 18

Seventieth meeting of Shenango Presbyterial will be held at the First Presbyterian church, Sharon, on Wednesday, April 18. An executive meeting at 9:30 a.m. will precede the opening of the presbyterial meeting at 10 a.m.

Theme of the meeting will be Of the Household of God.

Program

The program will be as follows:

Volant People Hurt In Crash At Mercer

MERCER, April 12.—Cars driven by Lloyd D. Reehel, 27, of Volant, and James Gargass, Volant, collided early Wednesday morning at the intersection of route 208 and a blacktop road at No. 5 Mine, with Reehel, his wife and his wife's sister, Rose Helen McKee, receiving lacerations and bruises.

The gas pump in front of the David Gottlieb general store, where the accident occurred, was broken, putting the proprietor's gas business out of commission as the pump cannot be replaced at the present time.

Both Hurt, Captain And Private Return To Grove City Homes

GROVE CITY, April 12.—Pfc. Woodie Reed, wounded veteran of the 28th Division now on leave here from the Army hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., hopes that his commanding officer, Capt. Roth S. Martin, will arrive home before he has to return to the hospital.

They last met November 5 in a foxhole near Schmidt, Germany, the high point of the American advance before the German counter-attack. Shrapnel from an 88 shell bursting overhead hit Reed in the right leg as he lay in the foxhole with Captain Martin and others. When dusk came three hours later, Captain Martin carried Reed back to an advanced aid station. Reed has been in various hospitals since that time and will be incapacitated for 18 months to two years. A month later, Captain Martin was wounded and captured.

Yesterday a cablegram was received by Captain Martin's parents stating that he was on his way home after being liberated by the American advance into Germany.

Maps by the million are distributed by C company, 1255th engineer battalion. They have distributed 20 million maps to the first army in six months and in one day they issued 500,000 maps to various units. They keep 130 tons of maps on hand to meet the constant demand.

ORGAN PROGRAM AT WESTMINSTER

NEW WILMINGTON, April 12.—Miss Ruth Elbel, senior music major at Westminster college, will give an organ recital Tuesday evening, April 17, in Wallace Memorial chapel with Miss Jeane Myers, sophomore music major, assisting with several vocal solos.

Miss Elbel's program will include selections of Bach, Brahms, Max Reger and Widor, while Miss Myers will sing songs by Handel, Vincent Youmans and Ruth Elbel.

Patterson Tells Of Land Bank Work

Local Attorney, Now Serving With Federal Land Bank In Baltimore, Tells Of Duties

Clarence A. Patterson, New Castle attorney, who has been with the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore for several years, gave an interesting account of his work, and that of the bank, when he addressed members of the New Castle Kiwanis club Wednesday noon. Attorney Patterson substituted for Judge W. Walter Braham, who was to have addressed the club, but who was called to Pittsburgh.

Attorney Patterson traced the history of the land banks, of which there are 12 in number, scattered throughout the United States, which loan money to farmers on first mortgages, but over a long period of time.

He also spoke about the Production Credit Corporation and the Crop and Feed Loan Association, which loan money on short term security to crop cost of seed, fertilizer and crops.

Mr. Patterson stated that the Federal Land banks do not loan appropriated funds, but sell bonds, which are eagerly sought after by sound investors, and have become substantial and sound institutions.

Guests of the club from Deshon annex were Col. Lawrence Quill of Brooklyn, N. Y., who was wounded in Germany while serving with the ninth division, and Pfc. Roy M. Disney of Seymour, Ind., who was woundeed at Cherbourg while serving with an ordnance company.

Abraham's journey into the land of Canaan.

"Behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee whithersoever thou goest."—Genesis 28:15.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 15 is Genesis 12-50 Acts 7:2-18; Hebrews 11:8-27, the Memory Verse being Gen. 28:15, "Behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee whithersoever thou goest.")

The story of our lesson today is so very long we can but touch the highspots of the Pioneers of Faith.

Abraham, called at first Abram, was the first of the tribe of Jewish pioneers, and of him we read, "The Lord said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee:

"And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make they name great; and thou shalt be a blessing."

So Abraham took his wife, Sarah, and his nephew, Lot, and all their goods, herds and tents, etc., and started out to found a new nation in land which the Lord promised them. Abraham was 75 years old when he became a pioneer.

They journeyed into the land of Canaan and passed through it to Sichem, "unto the plain of Moreh," where Canaanites also dwelt. "And he removed from thence unto a mountain on the east of Bethel, and pitched his tent . . . and there he builded an altar unto the Lord, and called upon the name of the Lord."

Abraham, Friend of God

To this day Abraham is known to the Arabs as "Friend of God." As simply as we talk to dear friends, Abram talked to God and He to Abram. Abram even persuaded the Lord to postpone the destruction of the wicked city of Sodom until it was ascertained that there were not even ten godly people therein, you remember.

God promised Abraham that his descendants should inhabit this land that He promised, but at this time, although Abraham was an old man and his wife, Sarah, also was old, they had no children.

One day, at noon, while Abraham was sitting in front of his tent in the heat of the day, he saw three men coming. In true Oriental manner, he ran out to them, "bowed himself to the ground," and invited them to his tent for dinner. He probably recognized them as more than mortal men, and he called Sarah and told her to mix cakes and bake them; and he killed a calf and had it prepared.

After they had eaten, one of the divine visitors told Abraham that Sarah would have a son whose name should be Isaac, and Sarah, overhearing, laughed because she was old. They did have a son, however, even as foretold—"Is anything too hard for the Lord?" They named him Isaac.

God Tests Abraham

Isaac was indeed dear to his parents, and while he was still a youth, the Lord chose to make a test of Abraham through him. Abraham was told to make a sacrifice of Isaac. Without questioning, Abraham took the boy and bound him on the altar, and was about to kill him, when the voice of the Lord spoke telling him to withhold his hand, and behind him he found a ram caught by the horns, and him he slew for the sacrifice.

Sarah died and was buried in a cave at Machpelah, where later Abraham, his son Isaac, and his son, Jacob, were also buried with their wives.

Isaac had twins by his wife, Rebekah, who was a relation of his—a cousin. The boys were named Esau, the one born first, and Jacob. Esau was what we might call a "worldly man," but Jacob was spiritual and God blessed him, although in spite of this he was always scheming to his own advantage. He bought his brother's birthright for food; cheated his brother out of his father's blessing by impersonating him when Isaac was old and his eyes too dim to see.

Jacob had 12 sons, but he loved Joseph, next to the youngest, best, and made him a coat of many colors. Joseph had dreams and told them to his brothers, and always in these dreams the brothers bowed down to him. The brothers grew angry and sold Joseph to some passing merchants, letting their father think he had been killed. They took him to Egypt and, after many adventures, he became next to Pharaoh in power. When famine came to all the people, Joseph had stores of wheat garnered when harvests were plentiful, and Isaac sent his sons to buy from the Egyptians. Joseph recognized them, but they did not know him, but finally revealed himself, forgave his brothers, and invited them to come to live in Egypt. They did, and Isaac died there, but was taken back to Palestine and buried in the family tomb. Joseph lived to be a very old man, and when he died his body was put in a coffin, but eventually his bones, too, were taken back to Palestine.

These are the Jewish pioneers of faith. The men who trusted in God and went where He told them, doing His will always.

. . . and yet—THERE MUST BE NO "LET-UP"!

All sources of danger threatening to damage or destroy railway installations and rolling stock must be eliminated.

It is the duty of every freight employee to prevent damage to freight cars through careless loading.

NOTE CAREFULLY THE FOLLOWING:

Avoid one-sided distribution of weight in freight cars! Do not load cars above stated capacity.

In the Inter-German freight system cars can and should be loaded 1000 kilograms above the stated capacity.

Loading capacity and axle pressure for the prescribed distance should not be exceeded!

All necessary safety measures should be taken especially in the forwarding of larger freight. Fasten loaded goods carefully and pile correctly.

Follow carefully all safety instructions pertaining to goods which can only be shipped if such instructions are carried out.

Every freight car brought to a standstill for repair weakens the defensive power and the life strength of the German people!

Lily Pons, Husband Promise Simpson To Entertain In Berlin

Opera Star, Kostelanetz Return From Tour Of Front Lines In Europe, Asia

By JEANETTE SMITS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—Lily Pons and Andre Kostelanetz have a promise they intend to keep no matter what.

They've promised Lieut. Gen. William H. Simpson, commander of the U. S. Ninth Army, that if his army gets to Berlin first they'll drop everything and go over to give a concert for his boys.

The diminutive opera star and her conductor husband revealed their promise today after returning from their second four months' overseas tour for USO-Camp Shows, Inc.

"We gave our word to General Simpson in Krefeld, where we presented a concert just a few days after the town had been taken from the Germans," explained Lily.

"It was a very exciting experience. German snipers were all around, including children—but we had other exciting adventures, too."

In Cologne, they were the first entertainers to appear after the liberation. They played for the troops within three-eighths of a mile of the German front lines.

They autographed a 500-pound bomb with the inscription "greetings to Japan." And they played at the opening ceremonies of the new Stilwell road.

The Kostelanetz' wound up in Paris, where Lily had not been for seven years, and which she found "beautiful as ever but so sad."

FREIGHT WRECK ON HORSESHOE CURVE

ALTOONA, Pa., April 12.—(INS) A five-car derailment of a Pennsylvania freight train today blocked traffic for two hours and tore down a signal bridge just seven miles west of Altoona on the famous Horseshoe Curve.

Railroad authorities said that the cause of the wreck had not been determined. No injuries were reported. Both east and west-bound traffic had to be rerouted from New Portage Junction to Gallitzin until the wreckage was cleared and the lines reopened, rail officials stated.

THEY'VE GIVEN ALL BUT LIFE ITSELF!

WHAT CAN YOU SPARE THAT THEY CAN WEAR?

● Over the ravaged ground of war-torn Europe, trudge 125 million men, women, and children who have given all but life itself toward the same permanent peace we all are striving for.

Their need for clothing is as great as that for food—in some areas deaths from exposure equal those from starvation.

These people need something you don't. They need your spare clothing.

150 million pounds must be collected this month. Will you give your share?

What YOU Can Do!
1. Get together all the serviceable used summer and winter clothing you can spare. This includes: Men's, women's, children's, and infants' wear, and shoes. Overcoats, topcoats, suits, dresses, shirts, jackets, pants, skirts, work clothes, gloves, underwear, sleeping garments, robes, sweaters, shawls, and all knit goods. Also blankets, bedclothes.
2. Take your contribution to your local collection headquarters, 101 W. Washington street, now . . . or fire stations, schools and churches.
3. Support your Local Committee not only with your clothing contribution but also with your time, effort, and energy.

Plan To Discuss Demobilization

House Military Committee Will Meet April 17 Or 24 For Discussions

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(INS) Rep. May (D) Ky., disclosed today that the house military affairs committee will go into executive session to discuss the army's plans for demobilization upon the conclusion of the war.

May, committee chairman, informed Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson that the group would meet April 17 or 24 to discuss with war department representatives problems following in the wake of VE-day which might require additional legislation.

Three other major problems will also be tackled by the committee at its closed meeting:

1. General demobilization of the armed forces at the end of the war.

2. Re-establishment of the regular army, which was merged into the army of the United States at the outbreak of war.

3 Determination of the probable size of the peacetime army with a view to deciding on the "necessity or non-necessity" of universal military training.

New Naval Program For State College

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 12.—(INS)—A naval ordnance division at Harvard university will be transferred to the Pennsylvania State college and affiliated with the School of Engineering, President Ralph D. Hetzel announced today.

The shift will begin in May and the new program should be under way by July 1, Hetzel said. More than 125 staff members will be transferred, including engineers, scientists, technicians, and clerical workers, he added.

HATED TO SEE PAYDAY ARRIVE

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—(INS)—Payday may be a day eagerly awaited in most homes, but it brought left hooks and right crosses to Mrs. Agnes McDonald.

Mrs. McDonald, a street car operator, in a suit for divorce, granted today in Allegheny common pleas court, charged that her truck driver husband, John F. McDonald, used to beat her "every payday".

Plan To Discuss Demobilization

House Military Committee Will Meet April 17 Or 24 For Discussions

WASHINGTON, April 12—(INS) Rep. May (D) Ky., disclosed today that the house military affairs committee will go into executive session to discuss the army's plans for demobilization upon the conclusion of the war.

May, committee chairman, informed Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson that the group would meet April 17 or 24 to discuss with war department representatives problems following in the wake of VE-day which might require additional legislation.

Three basic major problems will be discussed by the committee at the closed meeting:

1. General demobilization of the armed forces at the end of the war.

2. Re-establishment of the regular army which was merged into the army of the United States at the beginning of the war.

New Naval Program For State College

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 12—(INS)—A naval ordnance division of Harvard university will be transferred to the Pennsylvania State College and affiliated with the School of Engineering, President Ralph D. Hetzel announced today.

The unit will begin in May and the new program should be under way by July 1, Hetzel said. More than 125 staff members will be transferred, including engineers, scientific personnel and clerical workers, he added.

HATED TO SEE PAYDAY ARRIVE

PITTSBURGH, April 12—(INS) Payday [illegible] a day eagerly awaited in most homes, but it brought left hooks and right crosses to Mrs. Anna McDonald.

Mrs. McDonald, a street car operator, was granted a divorce in Allegheny common pleas court, charged that her truck driver husband, John F. McDonald, beat her up every payday.

Unnamed General Says Keep Sports Alive In America

Says "Soldiers Are Interested In Sports, Good For Morale Of Home Front"

NEED RECREATION TO DO GOOD JOB

By BILL CORUM

SHAEF, Paris, April 12.—Maybe its about time we wrote a piece on sports. Okay, then, here's one that has some stickers on it. The stickers come from the pointed stars of one of the top ranking American generals in Europe.

We will omit his name. Not because he asked us to do so in a completely frank discussion. But because from the papers here, including the esteemed Stars and Stripes, it looks as though Washington is continuing its policy, or lack of policy, of a daily change of heart toward sports, and it is not our intention to be a troublemaker. Especially for a general who speaks the plain sort of language we like.

Buck Is Passed

Consider the current situation in which racing in the U. S. finds itself. Justice James Byrnes resigns as war mobilization director with some kind words about how the racing folks have behaved and the promise the racing will be resumed when the war ends in Europe.

That leaves Mr. Fred Vinson riding the national turf black-out and the after-midnight national water-wagon. So racing is in a position of straying over in a new deal. On top of that, General Eisenhower writes a letter to the President in which he says that there may never be a definite day on which the war in Europe will end.

So racing has the green light when the war ends, only it may not be going to end until the last so-called German werewolf is tracked down. At any rate, the situation could be so construed.

Baseball has faced the same uncertain, maybe yes and maybe no, sort of situation for weeks, and apparently will begin its season still wondering where it is "at".

Soldiers Like Sports

But when, in the course of an interview with him, I mentioned to this top-drawer general that there was some question whether the big leagues could function this year he not only was astonished but also a little indignant.

"Why on earth not?" he asked. "I'm not a fan myself but I know most of our soldiers are. You hear them arguing and talking sports all the time.

"What can possibly be gained at home by closing down sports and putting people to bed with a curfew bell? I know that the American people will do anything that's necessary to win the war.

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE managerial board will meet at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the Y. . . . Judging from the way Byron Nelson is cleaning up in the golf tournaments one might say he has a half-Nelson on the links game. . . . Gay Dalton, winner of nine of 11 races South of the Border is paying for his hay. Twilight Tear has been shipped from Miami to Kentucky to run when racing is resumed. . . . Rehabilitation program of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Washington State received a $95,000 cash gift from horse racing last year. "V. F. W." days were designated at Seattle and a Chicago post contemplates the same type program.

One cannot catch trout between 5 p. m. April 14 and 5 a. m. April 15. . . . Fishermen who refuse to leave property when owners object to fishing on Sunday are trespassers and liable to arrest. . . . It is far better to respect the property rights for one day than be chased the other six days in the week. . . . Pete Gray, the one-armed Brown, wears a fielder's glove devoid of padding and holds it practically with the tip of his fingers, almost the entire portion of his palm being bare when he catches a thrown or batted ball. . . . Babe Picato ,ex-featherweight of this city, is residing in California. He was a good boxer.

Mickie Huff didn't get into his baseball togs until the fag end of 1944 which has brought a query to us: "Is Mick' going to play this year?" which the writer will pass on to Huff. . . . Eighth Air Force bomb groups are constructing softball fields in England. . . . It's so hot in India they've broke up a baseball league, another letter to Here & There reports. . . . Judging from what we have heard Indoor boys are talking. . . . Hunters did not shoot all the squirrels last fall. . . . A doctor who says: "In all my 40 years of practice I've never seen a more beautiful baby" will always remain the family 'Doc'.

Purdue's gridiron coach, Cecil Isbell is an instructor in army coaching schools overseas. . . . Jack Hulmes is in France for the second time. The first time he was a soldier. This time he is an ahtletic instructor. . . . Some team might do worse than grab Gus Thompson for a manager this year. . . . He was a catcher in the New York state league. . . . Women's National A . A. U. swim championship will be held in Chicago. Friday and Saturday. . . . There'll be some good form there, in and out of the water. . . . X-Ray Jim announces he has never heard of an anti-Red refusing a Red point.

In Jack Welch's Campfire he reports that, occasionally a sucker will rise to a dry fly. . . . Never caught one that way. . . . It would be interesting were fishermen to report to Here & There early Monday any exceptionally large trout caught, the lure or live bait used and stream. . . . Such info' will be carried Tuesday for the use of other less fortunate fishermen. . . . If a runner could maintain the best time ever made in the 440-yard dash for four quarters he would produce a mile in 3:05 1-5. . . . Northview Manor gardeners hope to raise vegetables that look like the pictures in the seed catalogues, according to "Nig" Allen.

Time was when there was only one meatless day in a week. . . . For the information of local coon dog owners the Fayette County (Ill.) Coon Hunters will hold their annual trials April 29. . . . When you're five years of age you blow bubbles with a pipe and when you're 16 you build castles in the air and when 18, you blow 'em down if in uniform. . . . People on top should remember one can fall down a stairway quicker than he can ascend it. . . . Headline says: "Yanks Racing for Berlin." Little did Yanks who won the Olympics in Berlin in 1936 realize they would have to win the city in 1945.

National Grid Card Announced

National Football League Arranges For Fifty Games For 1945 Season

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—A 50-game playing schedule for 1945 was made public today by the National Football league as the annual meeting of the pro moguls was adjourned.

The season will start September 23 with the Detroit Lions meeting the Chicago Cardinals in Comiskey Park and it will close December 9 with the Yanks playing the Eagles at Philadelphia and the New York Giants opposing the Redskins in Washington.

It was decided to call the team made up by a merger of the Boston Yanks and the Brooklyn Tigers the Yanks as the Boston owners and coaches will have complete control of the club, Brooklyn contributing only players.

MEADVILLE STUDENTS STAGE COACH STRIKE

MEADVILLE, April 12.—Several hundred Meadville high school students held a demonstration against an announced shift in the school's basketball coach here. The athletic committee announced Preston Ditty, athletic instructor, would supplant Harry Dennison, as floor coach. Students paraded displaying cards in which they protested the change.

Softball Teams Plan Session

Formation of a strong industrial softball league this summer will be taken up for discussion at the "Y" next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, it was announced today.

The meeting is for industrial teams only—such as United Engineering and Foundry, Lockley Machine, Johnson Bronze, Universal Sanitary, Shenango Pottery, Refractories, Aluminum company, and Standard Steel Spring. Also any other industry interested in softball.

The league hopes to get under way early in May.

Hope To Stage Kentucky Derby

Early Defeat Of Germany May Result In Running Of Kentucky Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 12.—(INS)—With an optimistic eye on the European war maps, Col. Matt Winn went ahead today with preparations for the historic Kentucky Derby.

The arrangements now are so far along with entry blanks for the 71st running of the classic already have been mailed out, but necessarily with the date omitted, that depending upon the time war with Germany ends.

At Later Date

It was certain that the derby could not be held on the date originally selected, May 5, and whether it could be held at all depended on the early defeat of Germany, but horsemen, always hopeful, were figuring on May 26 or June 2 as possible dates.

The purse will be the same as usual in recent years, if the derby is held, $75,000 added to the entry fees. Quartered at Churchill Downs are more than 500 thoroughbreds, a goodly number of them 3-year-olds eligible for the classic.

Cubs-White Sox Battling Today

CHICAGO, April 12.—(INS)—The annual four-game city baseball feud gets underway at Chicago today when the National league Chicago Cubs tangle with the White Sox of the American loop. The two teams' top hurlers were expected to be pitted in the opener with Paul Derringer pitching for the Cubs and Thornton Lee handling the mound work for the Sox. The White Sox, traditional victors in the annual classic, have been hit hard by draft losses and enter this year's series as the underdogs. The Cubs appear in about the same strength as last year, while the Sox have had about a three-quarter turnover in personnel.

'BOOKIES' AND BRIBERS, TARGETS

HARRISBURG, April 12.—Senate yesterday passed two anti-gambling bills, making bribery of a participant in an athletic contest a felony and prohibiting pool-selling or book-making with any sport event. The bills provide a fine of $1,000 and from one to six years in prison for bribery and a $500 fine or one year in prison or both for book-making. The bills now go to the house.

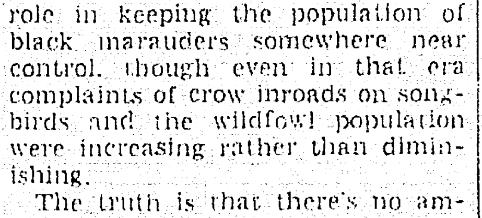
Steelers Card Five At Home

Pittsburgh Pro Gridders Forsake Combine This Year, Play Five Away

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Steelers have been scheduled to play ten games next fall, with five home games at Forbes Field, according to an announcement today by co-owner Art Rooney.

Strictly on their own this year after combines in 1943 and 1944 with the Philadelphia Eagles and the Chicago Cardinals respectively, the Steelers will open their campaign with a night game on September 25 against the Boston Yankees at Fenway park. Their opening home game, Rooney said, will consist of their initial clash with the New York Giants, Eastern division champs, on Sunday, October 7.



BLACK SCOURGE

It's all very well during piping times of peace to enthuse about decoying crows with cats and owls, luring them to blinds with expertly manipulated calls, or banding together of groups of hunters for Sunday crow classes. Doubtless, back in pre-Pearl Harbor days, such methods played a considerable role in keeping the population of black marauders somewhere near control, though even in that era complaints of crow inroads on songbirds and the wildfowl population were increasing rather than diminishing.

The truth is that there's no ammunition, or very little of it, with which to hunt down the pirates. You can hardly blame the nimrod for saving for game the precious shells he's been able to accumulate. Great flocks of crows roam the skies unmolested now and roost by thousands in their rookeries undisturbed by hunters. And every one of them accounts for his share of birds' eggs and fledglings every day. The toll is upped sharply when the crows are feeding their young.

Crows Plentiful

What about the farmers' quota of shells for shooting predators? Well, the farmer's human like the rest of us, and while he may "waste" a few shots at crows when the birds invade his cornfield, he's not likely to make a practice of going out after them with blood in his eye and all his shells in his pockets. A pheasant next hunting season is likely to appear more attractive to him than a crow in a cornfield now.

That crows are growing more plentiful is attested by Ducks Unlimited, by many conservationists and by personal observation. Time was, years back, when a winter crow was practically unknown in Michigan, Minnesota and other midwest states. A raucous "caw, caw" of a warmish March morning was welcomed as a certain sign of spring. Now many crows winter throughout the midwest. I saw dozens this year long before any of our migratory birds appeared.

What's the answer, if any, to the crow problem? I believe some of the Canadian provinces have partially solved it. There they encourage destruction of eggs and nests. The Saskatchewan Fish and Game League for some years has been conducting an annual crow control campaign through cooperation with rural schools, where cash prizes are awarded for the greatest number of nests and eggs destroyed.

I'm aware that some readers may protest that our country youth shouldn't be encouraged to destroy birds—that it might have a bad influence on their futures. Poppycock! The cause is a good one and many a conservation lesson may be taught through such campaigns as those conducted in Saskatchewan.

Fiery Pirate Manager Laid Up By Arthritis Gets To Camp At Muncie Today

MUNCIE, Ind., April 12.—(INS)—Frankie Frisch, still suffering from inflammatory arthritis, was expected to take over direction of the Pirates today as they opened a four-game series with the Cleveland Indians at Muncie Park.

Fritz Ostermueller, veteran left-hander, was scheduled to open against the Indians. Either Osty or Nick Strincevich will take the mound for the Bucs when they open the season against the Reds in Cincinnati next Tuesday.

The Pirates yesterday were sparked with four hits by Tommy O'Brien in the 18-5 walloping they handed a fighting squad of soldiers from Wright Field, Dayton, O.

Furgol Favored To Win At Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N. C., April 12.—(INS)—Ed Furgol, the pre-tournament favorite in the 45th annual North-South amateur golf meet at Pinehurst, was scheduled today to meet Bobby Kay, Toledo, O., in the semi-final round of match play.

Frank Stranahan, Ft. Myers, Fla., faced Frank B. Edwards, Caroleen, N. C., in the other semi-final round.

Furgol of Hinsdale, Ill., yesterday defeated Capt. Charles B. Wallace of Fort Bragg, 5 and 4, while Kay eliminated defending Champion Mal Galleta, St. Albans, N. Y., 3 and 2. Stranahan advanced to the semi-finals by downing James A. Fownes of Pittsburgh 3 and 2, while Edwards triumphed over Frank McCaskill, Pinehurst, 4 and 3.

Cochran Turns Tables On Hoppe

CHICAGO, April 12.—(INS)—Willie Hoppe was leading Welker Cochran today, 2,187 points to 2,036, with 40 blocks in their transcontinental three-cushion billiard match completed.

Cochran, the champion, last night won his first victory since the two started their engagement in Chicago last Monday, defeating the challenger, 60 to 51, in 39 innings. Hoppe won the afternoon block, 60 to 36, in 24 innings.

Allison Fired By California

After 10 Years California University Fires Head Football Coach

BERKELEY, Calif., April 12.—(INS)—The University of California was in the market for a football coach Wednesday following the surprise announcement of termination of the services of Leonard B. ("Stub") Allison, head coach for 10 years of the Golden Bear Varsity.

Announcement of Allison's dismissal was made by Graduate Manager Clint Evans who said the executive committee of the associated students voted against renewal of the coach's contract which expires May 31.

Takes It Lightly

Reached at his home, Allison said he was informed of his ouster as imminent last Thursday by University President Robert G. Sproul.

"I didn't resign," he declared. "I was fired. I'm content to let it stand that way in the record."

Last season California won only three games while losing six and tying one, but Allison's eleven was hit a hard blow in mid-season by transfer of Navy and Marine trainees who formed the backbone of the squad.

Dodgers Hope To Even Up Series

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—It will be Ben Chapman and Curt Davis on the mound for the Brooklyn Ddgers and Hank Borowy and Bill Zuber pitching for the Yankees when those two teams clash today in a stadium Red Cross benefit. The Dodgers wound up at the small end of a 9-7 score in an 11-inning tussle yesterday with the Giants, while the Yankees were conquering the Newark Bears over in Jersey, 8 to 2.

The purse will be the same as usual in recent years, if the derby is held. $75,000 added to the entry fees. Quartered at Churchill Downs are more than 500 thoroughbreds, a goodly number of them 3-year-olds eligible for the classic.

Cubs-White Sox Battling Today

CHICAGO, April 12.—(INS)—The annual four-game city baseball feud gets underway at Chicago today when the National league Chicago Cubs tangle with the White Sox of the American loop. The two teams' top hurlers were expected to be pitted in the opener with Paul Derringer pitching for the Cubs and Thornton Lee handling the mound work for the Sox. The White Sox, traditional victors in the annual classic, have been hit hard by draft losses and enter this year's series as the underdogs. The Cubs appear in about the same strength as last year, while the Sox have had about a three-quarter turnover in personnel.

'BOOKIES' AND BRIBERS, TARGETS

HARRISBURG, April 12.—Senate yesterday passed two anti-gambling bills, making bribery of a participant in an athletic contest a felony and prohibiting pool-selling or book-making with any sport event. The bills provide a fine of $1,000 and from one to six years in prison for bribery and a $500 fine or one year in prison or both for book-making. The bills now go to the house.

FOOTBALL CLINIC

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—The WPIAL Football Coaches Association will conduct their football clinic at 3 o'clock Friday on the new Pitt practice field.

Sgt. Johnny Schrover, who lost his right leg at Anzio, was the first former Penn State athlete to be repatriated in this war.

Capt. Gil Radcliff, former Penn State grid star, still remains a prisoner of the Japanese. He was captured at Bataan.

Coach John Lawther's Penn State record of two wins for every loss in basketball is still intact despite wartime handicaps.

National Grid Card Announced

National Football League Arranges For Fifty Games For 1945 Season

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—A 50-game playing schedule for 1945 was made public today by the National Football league as the annual meeting of the pro moguls was adjourned.

The season will start September 23 with the Detroit Lions meeting the Chicago Cardinals in Comiskey Park and it will close December 9 with the Yanks playing the Eagles at Philadelphia and the New York Giants opposing the Redskins in Washington.

It was decided to call the team made up by a merger of the Boston Yanks and the Brooklyn Tigers the Yanks as the Boston owners and coaches will have complete control of the club, Brooklyn contributing only players.

MEADVILLE STUDENTS STAGE COACH STRIKE

MEADVILLE, April 12.—Several hundred Meadville high school students held a demonstration against an announced shift in the school's basketball coach here. The athletic committee announced Preston Ditty, athletic instructor, would supplant Harry Dennison, as floor coach. Students paraded displaying cards in which they protested the change.

Johnny Chuckran, 1944 freshman star, was the first yearling ever to be named captain of a Penn State football team.

Steelers Card Five At Home

Pittsburgh Pro Gridders Forsake Combine This Year, Play Five Away

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Steelers have been scheduled to play ten games next fall, with five home games at Forbes Field, according to an announcement today by co-owner Art Rooney.

Strictly on their own this year after combines in 1943 and 1944 with the Philadelphia Eagles and the Chicago Cardinals respectively, the Steelers will open their campaign with a night game on September 25 against the Boston Yankees at Fenway park. Their opening home game, Rooney said, will consist of their initial clash with the New York Giants, Eastern division champs, on Sunday, October 7.

CAMPFIRE CORNER

BLACK SCOURGE

It's all very well during piping times of peace to enthuse about decoying crows with cats and owls, luring them to blinds with expertly manipulated calls, or banding together of groups of hunters for Sunday crow classes. Doubtless, back in pre-Pearl Harbor days, such methods played a considerable role in keeping the population of black marauders somewhere near control, though even in that era complaints of crow inroads on songbirds and the wildfowl population were increasing rather than diminishing.

The truth is that there's no ammunition, or very little of it, with which to hunt down the pirates. You can hardly blame the nimrod for saving for game the precious shells he's been able to accumulate. Great flocks of crows roam the skies unmolested now and roost by thousands in their rookeries undisturbed by hunters. And every one of them accounts for his share of birds' eggs and fledglings every day. The toll is upped sharply when the crows are feeding their young.

Crows Plentiful

What about the farmers' quota of shells for shooting predators? Well, the farmer's human like the rest of us and while he may "waste" a few shots at crows when the birds invade his cornfield, he's not likely to make a practice of going out after them with blood in his eye and all his shells in his pocket. A pheasant next hunting season is likely to appear more attractive to him than a crow in a cornfield now.

That crows are growing more plentiful is attested by Ducks Unlimited, by many conservationists and by personal observation. Time was, years back, when a winter crow was practically unknown in Michigan, Minnesota and other midwest states. A raucous "caw caw" of a warmish March morning was welcomed as a certain sign of spring. Now many crows winter throughout the midwest. I saw dozens this year long before any of our migratory birds appeared.

What's the answer, if any, to the crow problem? I believe some of the Canadian provinces have partially solved it. There they encourage destruction of eggs and nests. The Saskatchewan Fish and Game League for some years has been conducting an annual crow control campaign through cooperation with rural schools, where cash prizes are awarded for the greatest number of nests and eggs destroyed.

I'm aware that some leaders may protest that our country youth shouldn't be encouraged to destroy birds—that it might have a bad influence on their futures. Poppycock! The cause is a good one and many a conservation lesson may be taught through such campaigns as those conducted in Saskatchewan.

GOLFERS WILL MEET

New Castle church golfers will have an important meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Elliott-Waddington store, to discuss the coming season that opens on Thursday night, May 3.

TROUT SEASON IS NEARING

This scene snapped recently in New York State will be duplicated many times in local streams after the trout season gets under way next week.

Frisch Able To Join Pittsburgh

Fiery Pirate Manager Laid Up By Arthritis Gets To Camp At Muncie Today

MUNCIE, Ind., April 12.—(INS)—Frankie Frisch, still suffering from inflammatory arthritis, was expected to take over direction of the Pirates today as they opened a four-game series with the Cleveland Indians at Muncie Park.

Fritz Ostermueller, veteran left-hander, was scheduled to open against the Indians. Either Osty or Nick Strincevich will take the mound for the Bucs when they open the season against the Reds in Cincinnati next Tuesday.

The Pirates yesterday were sparked with four hits by Tommy O'Brien in the 18-5 walloping they handed a fighting squad of soldiers from Wright Field, Dayton, O.

Furgol Favored To Win At Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N. C., April 12.—(INS)—Ed Furgol, the pre-tournament favorite in the 45th annual North-South amateur golf meet at Pinehurst, was scheduled today to meet Bobby Kay, Toledo, O., in the semi-final round of match play.

Frank Stranahan, Ft. Myers, Fla., faced Frank B. Edwards, Caroleen, N. C., in the other semi-final round.

Furgol of Hinsdale, Ill., yesterday defeated Capt. Charles B. Wallace of Fort Bragg, 5 and 4, while Kay eliminated defending Champion Mal Galleta, St. Albans, N. Y., 3 and 2. Stranahan advanced to the semi-finals by downing James A. Fownes of Pittsburgh 3 and 2, while Edwards triumphed over Frank McCaskill, Pinehurst, 4 and 3.

Cochran Turns Tables On Hoppe

CHICAGO, April 12.—(INS)—Willie Hoppe was leading Welker Cochran today 2,187 points to 2,036 with 40 blocks in their trans-continental three-cushion billiard match completed.

Cochran, the champion, last night won his first victory since the two started their engagement in Chicago last Monday, defeating the challenger, 60 to 51, in 39 innings. Hoppe won the afternoon block, 60 to 36, in 24 innings.

NAVY WALLOPS VILLANOVA

Clarion beat Donora 83 to 44 in track and McKeesport won from Baldwin in baseball 18 to 5 while the Navy was walloping Villanova on the diamond, 14 to 0.

Bob Higgins, veteran Penn State football coach, has been a disciple of the single wing for the last 25 years.

After 10 Years California University Fires Head Football Coach

BERKELEY, Calif., April 12.—(INS)—The University of California was in the market for a football coach Wednesday following the surprise announcement of termination of the services of Leonard B. ("Stub") Allison, head coach for 10 years of the Golden Bear Varsity.

Announcement of Allison's dismissal was made by Graduate Manager Clint Evans who said the executive committee of the associated students voted against renewal of the coach's contract which expires May 31.

Takes It Lightly

Reached at his home, Allison said he was informed of his ouster as imminent last Thursday by University President Robert G. Sproul.

"I didn't resign," he declared. "I was fired. I'm content to let it stand that way in the record."

Last season California won only three games while losing six and tying one, but Allison's eleven was hit a hard blow in mid-season by transfer of Navy and Marine trainees who formed the backbone of the squad.

Dodgers Hope To Even Up Series

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—It will be Ben Chapman and Curt Davis on the mound for the Brooklyn Dodgers and Hank Borowy and Bill Zuber pitching for the Yankees when those two teams clash today in a stadium Red Cross benefit. The Dodgers wound up at the small end of a 9-7 score in an 11-inning tussle yesterday with the Giants, while the Yankees were conquering the Newark Bears over in Jersey, 8 to 2.

APRIL SHOWERS

Bring May flowers—but April showers and May sunshine (heat and moisture) also bring Coccidiosis. Don't take chances with this deadly disease. Feed "Our Quality" treated starting mash and be assured against those heavy losses. Seven years of manufacturing this treated mash without a complaint. Costs less than ½ cent per chick for this protection. Ask at any of our stores for particulars and directions. This protection is exclusive with "Our Quality" treated mash—no other mash can make this claim.

APRIL SHOWERS
Bring May flowers—but April showers and May sunshine (heat and moisture) also bring Coccidiosis. Don't take chances with this deadly disease. Feed "Our Quality" treated starting mash and be assured against those heavy losses. Seven years of manufacturing this treated mash without a complaint. Costs less than ½ cent per chick for this protection. Ask at any of our stores for particulars and directions. This protection is exclusive with "Our Quality" treated mash; no other mash can make this claim.

BUYING POWER IN MARKET EXTENDED

For Third Straight Day Market Prices Are Higher, Volume Expands

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—More buying power flowed into the stock market today, extending the April price rally to three sessions running.

Volume expanded substantially over yesterday's 1,000,000 shares as traders jumped on the bandwagon. Quotations improved fractions to a point in the leaders with steels, motors and rails again assuming leadership.

First hour turnover totaled 280,000 shares against 190,000 in the same period Wednesday and 90,000 Tuesday.

Chrysler set the pace at the opening, spurting 3-4 to 101 3-4. Santa Fe followed with a point advance to a new high of 91. Steel issues worked about a half point higher. American Air Lines picked up a large fraction but other aviations lagged.

Chemicals, foods, utilities and rubber issues edged forward. Sinclair Oil dipped a half point while other petroleum issues were firm.

A few fractional advances were noted in the bond market.

RICH HILL

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

The congregational meeting of the Rich Hill church was held Tuesday evening, April 10, at 8 o'clock.

FAREWELL PARTY

About 60 members of the Rich Hill church gathered in the church on Friday evening for a tureen supper at 7:30 in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cornman, who have recently taken up membership with the First Presbyterian church, of New Wilmington. The committee for the occasion consisted of Mrs. Scott Kirk, Mrs. Walter Barkley, and Mrs. Wilson Booher. Mrs. Kirk was in charge of the music, assisted by the pianist, Miss Betty Booher.

S. J. McConnell was toastmaster. Sherman McConnell presented the honored guest with appropriate gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Cornman responded graciously.

RICH HILL NOTES

Mrs. Donald McFarland, of New Castle, visited friends and relatives here on Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. H. K. Miller recently visited Mrs. T. H. Tennant, of Fayette, who is ill.

Mrs. Melville Jordan and Miss Francis McDowell spent Tuesday with friends in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Willis Kneram and daughter, of Harlansburg, were Thursday dinner guests of Mrs. Willis Shalenberger.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson, of Highland Heights, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Booher.

Mrs. Willis Shalenberger and children, Dale and Darlene, visited with Mrs. Claude Tharpe, of New Castle, on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Blevins, of New Wilmington, spent Friday and Saturday with Misses Frances and Gyla McDowell.

Rev. H. K. Miller was the speaker for preparatory services at the Pulaski church for Rev. Edgar Tait on Friday evening.

Mrs. T. J. Drake spent Friday with Mrs. John Reynolds, who is showing improvement as a patient of the Jameson hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sonntag have received word that their nephew, Sgt. Lawrence Sonntag, has arrived in New Jersey from overseas.

Mrs. William Knight called on Mrs. T. H. Tennant, of Fayette, on Friday. Mrs. Tennant is showing improvement from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ward and children, Shirley, June, and Robert Ward, of Highland Heights, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Knight.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Boyles and son, Ralph, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Boyles, were Sunday dinner guests of Miss Amanda and Mrs. Gertrude Michaels, of New Castle.

BUYING POWER IN MARKET EXTENDED

For Third Straight Day Market Prices Are Higher, Volume Expands

NEW YORK, April 12—(INS)—More buying power flowed into the stock market today, extending the April price rally to three sessions running.

Volume expanded substantially over yesterday's 1,000,000 shares as traders jumped on the bandwagon. Quotations improved fractions to a point in the leaders with steels, motors and rails again assuming leadership.

First hour turnover totaled 280,000 shares against 190,000 in the same period Wednesday and 90,000 Tuesday.

Chrysler set the pace at the opening, spurting 3-4 to 101 3-4. Santa Fe followed with a point advance to a new high of 91. Steel issues worked about a half point higher. American Air Lines picked up a large fraction but other aviations lagged.

Chemicals, foods, utilities and rubber issues edged forward. Sinclair Oil dipped a half point while other petroleum issues were firm.

A few fractional advances were noted in the bond market.

DRIVE TO MEET YANKS NEARING

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 12.—Soviet preparations to join in the final all-out onslaught on Berlin from the Oder river bridgehead, 31 miles from the Nazi capital, and points along the Niesse river were reported by the Germans today.

Front dispatches indicated that only 115 miles separated American and Soviet spearheads converging on the shattered Reich capital and in Vienna the Russians drove the Nazis from all but one of the Austrian capital's 22 suburbs.

One Nazi report, not yet confirmed in Moscow, said Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian army had raced 40 miles beyond the encircled Nazi garrison in Vienna and had seized positions which are only 113 miles from Hitler's mountain retreat at Berchtesgaden.

Moscow announced officially that the section of Vienna lying between the Danube canal and river had been cleared of all German forces who lost upwards of 6,300 men in 24 hours, more than 4,000 of whom were killed.

Surging Along Danube

A spokesman of the Nazi DNB agency broadcast a report that Tolbukhin's forces were surging along the upper Danube valley on a wide front and were nearing the castle-studded Wachau river 42 miles west of Vienna.

At the same time Nazi Marshal Ferdinand Schoerner, commander of Wehrmacht forces in Silesia, issued an order of the day saying tanks of the Soviet First Ukrainian army were about to launch a new offensive in Silesia.

Schoerner, reported to have re-

Vice President Truman

Truman Takes Oath As President Of U. S. At 7:08 This Evening

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Harry S. Truman, of Missouri, took the oath of office as the thirty-third president of the United States at 7:08 p. m. (EWT) today at a ceremony in the White House.

Mr. Truman was sworn in in the presence of his wife and daughter and members of the president's cabinet and official family.

Mrs. Roosevelt was not present for the ceremonies.

Truman was sworn in by Chief Justice Harlan Fiske Stone.

Trumann succeeded to the presidency upon the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who died in his sleep at Warm Springs, Ga., at 3:35 p. m. (CWT) following a cerebral hemmorhage.

President's Choice

Truman was Mr. Roosevelt's personal choice as his successor, since FDR chose him as a running mate last summer just before the Democratic convention in Chicago. To do so, Mr. Roosevelt discarded his third term vice president, Henry A. Wallace, who is now secretary of commerce.

As Justice Stone administered the oath of office with his right hand raised, Truman held his right hand on a Bible.

As Truman responded, he raised his hand from the Bible and swore that he would carry out the high duties of his office to the best of his abilities—so help me God."

Asks Cabinet To Remain

President Truman held no press conference but at a meeting of the cabinet asked the members to remain in their positions.

President Truman's rise to the presidency has been phenomenal. From a law office in Missouri, to the United States Senate, he achieved national fame through the Truman committee which he headed and which investigated war costs. Through the work of the committee millions of dollars were saved it is estimated.

He was nominated at the Chicago convention in June, 1944, as running mate to Franklin D. Roosevelt after a bitter fight. Henry A. Wallace sought he-election, Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes also sought the nomination but at the last minute through a combination of forces Senator Truman was nominated.

Armstrong Bridge Over Slippery Rock Creek Has Collapsed

Structure Erected In 1874 Gives Way To Heavy Traffic; No One Hurt In Collapse

One of the landmarks of the Slippery Rock creek, the Armstrong bridge, has collapsed. After serving traffic since about 1874, the bridge has gone down. Tuesday afternoon a maintenance truck of the Manufacturers Light and Heat company was coming across the bridge from the Perry township side when the driver said he felt the bridge start to sag. As he got to the Wayne township side the bridge girders buckled and the middle of the bridge dropped into the creek. Fortunately no one was hurt.

Some years ago a companion bridge, the Harris bridge, one mile up the creek from the Armstrong, collapsed when a heavy coal truck hit the Perry township end of the bridge. It was later replaced with a new bridge.

Edwin O. Reed, superintendent of highways, stated today that the Armstrong bridge has been in poor shape for a number of years and the collapse was not unexpected. It was built in the days of the horse and buggy and never was intended to haul anything heavier than a big load of hay.

It is likely the bridge will be replaced by the state, but due to wartime restrictions it is doubtful if a new bridge will be built inside of a year at least. The Armstrong bridge crossed the Slippery Rock just east of the Heinz House camp and was much used by coal haulers and by vacationists in the summer.

WHITE HOUSE REPORTS DEATH OF PRESIDENT 3:35 THIS AFTERNOON

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—President Franklin Delano Roosevelt died in his sleep at Warm Springs, Ga., at 3:35, this afternoon following a cerebral hemorhage, the White House announced late today.

Death took the president while he was resting at the Georgia retreat before departing for San Francisco to address the opening session of the United Nations conference on international orgainization later this month.

The president's demise was announced by Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early just before 6 p. m. (EWT).

Vice President Harry S. Truman, of Missouri, who will succeed to the presidency as soon as he takes his oath of office was among the first notified.

Mrs. Roosevelt broke the sad news to him. He went immediately to the White House, where a special session of the cabinet was called.

Mr. Roosevelt had served twelve years, one month and eight days in the presidency—the longest tenure in the history of the nation.

Adm. Ross T. McIntyre, president's personal physician, told a news conference at the White House just after 6 p. m. that he was certain that a cerebral hemmorhage caused Roosevelt's death.

The admiral said that he had received a telephone call about 3:05 p. m. today from Warm Springs informing him that the president had fainted while having his portrait painted.

McIntire said that headquarters at Warm Springs merely wanted him to know that much, adding that he had talked to Warm Springs in the morning and found "everything fine," with Mr. Roosevelt's condition apparently normal.

In fact, McIntire explained, he had planned to go to the Georgia health resort over the week-end to play golf and accompany the president back to Washington early in the week.

"The news that the president had fainted came out of the blue," McIntire told reporters. "It came out of a clear sky."

President Fainted

McIntire said that as soon as he was notified that the president had fainted he telephoned Dr. James Paullin, an Atlanta physician and asked him to hasten to Warm Springs, which the doctor did, arriving before the president's death.

McIntire said he talked to Warm Springs again half an hour later, when he was telephoned from the president's headquarters and informed that Mr. Roosevelt's condition was "a very serious thing."

This conversation was with Comdr. Howard Bruenn, who was at the president's bedside.

Suffered Cerebral Hemmorhage

The admiral said that Bruenn told him that he was certain Mr. Roosevelt had suffered a cerebral hemmorhage.

Early told reporters that Mrs. Roosevelt, Admiral McIntire and himself would leave for Warm Springs by airplane in half an hour from the time he spoke. According to this plan, the first lady would leave the White House before 7 p.m. EWT.

McIntire said that he immediately notified everyone about the president's condition and telephoned Stephen T. Early, presidential aide and former White House secretary, of the tragic turn of events.

Early speeded to the White House, McIntire continued, and he and Early discussed what steps to take because of the president's critical condition.

McIntire described how the telephone jangled as he was having his discussion with Early, and how it was Comdr. Bruenn at Warm Springs with a report.

He said Bruen at first described the president's condition as "just about the same," but then suddenly was called away and hung up the receiver.

A few minutes later, at 4:35 p.m. (EWT) McIntire said that Bruenn called back with the historic news that "the end had come." That it had been "very sudden," and that President Roosevelt was dead.

The admiral declared Bruen had said for a second time that there could be no doubt but that cerebral hemmorhage caused the president's death.

No Members of Family Present

McIntire said that apparently the president died with no members of his family or close personal friends at his bedside.

He said he understood that Dr. Paullin and Comdr. Bruenn were by the president when he breathed his last, but that he had heard of no one else being there.

McIntire said the president followed his normal routine at Warm Springs and gave no evidence of ill health. He said the president had had no indication of any illness and that he had had no operation as had been rumored in some quarters.

Huge Crowds Form

Soon after the president's death was announced, huge crowds formed about the White House, milling on Pennsylvania avenue and peering through the iron fences which enclose the tree-shrouded yard.

Within a few minutes, more than 100 newsmen gathered in the White House press room in the East Wing.

The cabinet, with Vice President Truman, was summoned immediately upon notification of Mr. Roosevelt's death.

Meantime, throughout wartime Washington, with its thousands of government workers and visitors from every state, word of the president's death spread like wildfire.

"Have you heard the news? Is it true."

These comments from the man in the street as he left downtown offices, government buildings, and other places signalized the feeling of a distressed Washington.

Physicians Accompany Him

With the president was Comdr. Howard Bruenn, one of the Navy's top physicians, who accompanied him to Warm Springs and who had been with him, together with Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire, the president's personal physician, on many of his recent journeys. The president left Washington quietly a little over two weeks ago and went to his Hyde Park home in New York for a short visit before returning to Washington for less than a day. Then he resumed his journey and came southward to the Georgia resort where he had spent many weeks during the past 12 years he headed the nation.

During his two weeks at Warm Springs the president had attended closely to the affairs of state which weighed upon him so heavily.

In adition to Comdr. Bruenn, the president was attended by Dr. James Paullin, of Atlanta, Ga., a specialist in internal medicine, who was rushed to Warm Springs by Vice Adm. McIntire when Commander Bruenn phoned him in Washington that the president had been stricken.

The president was stricken shortly after 1 p.m. (CWT) this afternoon, Bruenn announced after the president had succumbed, and lost consciousness shortly before 1:30 o'clock.

Attending doctors said that he died of a "massive cerebral hemmorhage."

He did not regain consciousness, and died peacefully at 3:35 p.m.

Was In Good Health

The president was in apparent excellent health right up to the last.

He was sitting for a sketch by an artist when he complained of a headache. This was shortly after 1 p.m. He slipped into unconsciousness a few minutes later.

Bruenn was hurriedly summoned but the president was unconscious by the time he arrived at the "Little White House."

"The president was in excellent spirits this morning. I saw him at 9:30," Bruenn said.

"At 1 o'clock this afternoon he was sitting in a chair in the Little White House where sketches were being made on him by an artist.

"Suddenly he complained of a severe occipital headache. (A headache in the rear of the head.)

"In a few minutes—a very few minutes—he lost consciousness. He was seen by me at 1:30.

"He did not regain consciousness and died at 3:35 p.m."

Chairman Bloom (D) N. Y., of the house foreign affairs committee, said he did not know what effect the president's death would have on the forthcoming United Nations conference at San Francisco. Bloom is a delegate to the conference.

"I just don't know what to say," he told a reporter. "We must carry on to win a peace that will be a monument to the president, who fought so long and so hard for it and who died in that fight."

Vice President Truman's office said that the vice president received a telephone call at 5:25 p. m. notifying him of the president's death. He immediately saw Speaker Rayburn for a few minutes and then went to the White House.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D) Tex., obviously deeply shocked by the news of the president's death, said he was "too flustered" to make any immediate statement.

Rep. Cannon (D) Mo., chairman of the house appropriations committee said: "My God! Are you sure? Oh, my Lord, how terrible. The greatest man in the world."

Governor Dewey Shocked By News

(BULLETIN)

ALBANY, N. Y., April 12.—(INS)—Shocked by news of the death of President Roosevelt, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey sent a telegram of condolence to the president's widow late today.

Attaches at the gubernatorial mansion said the 1944 GOP presidential nominee would have a formal statement in about an hour.

Deepest Sympathy

The governor and his wife, in their telegram, said:

"Please accept our deepest sympathy in your great loss which will be shared by every American and mourned by all the freedom-loving people of the entire world."

Gov. Dewey's secretary, James Haggerty, said the New York state chief executive was busy at work in his office when the radio announced President Roosevelt's death.

He was informed immediately, and was greatly shocked, Haggerty said.

Mrs. Roosevelt Informs Four Sons In Service Of Death Of Their Father

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 12.—In a message to her four sons, all in the armed forces, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt announced the death of their father, President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In a message to them she stated that the president "slept away this afternoon. He did his job to the end as he would want you to do. Bless you all and all our love." (Signed) "Mother."

The White House disclosed that Mrs. Roosevelt expects to leave for Warm Springs, Ga., tomorrow morning by train.

The White House announcement stated that funeral services for the president will be held Saturday afternoon in the East Room of the White House in Washington. Interment will be at Hyde Park Sunday afternoon.

It was stated, however, that no detailed arrangements or exact time for services have been decided as yet.

As he got to the Wayne township side the bridge girders buckled and the middle of the bridge dropped into the creek. Fortunately no one was hurt.

Some years ago a companion bridge, the Harris bridge, one mile up the creek from the Armstrong, collapsed when a heavy coal truck hit the Perry township end of the bridge. It was later replaced with a new bridge.

Edwin O. Reed, superintendent of highways, stated today that the Armstrong bridge has been in poor shape for a number of years and the collapse was not unexpected. It was built in the days of the horse and buggy and never was intended to haul anything heavier than a big load of hay.

It is likely the bridge will be replaced by the state, but due to wartime restrictions it is doubtful if a new bridge will be built inside of a year at least. The Armstrong bridge crossed the Slippery Rock just east of the Heinz House camp and was much used by coal haulers and by vacationists in the summer.

WHITE HOUSE REPORTS DEATH OF PRESIDENT 3:35 THIS AFTERNOON

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 12.–President Franklin Delano Roosevelt died in his sleep at Warm Springs, Ga., at 3:35, this afternoon following a cerebral hemorrhage, the White House announced late today.

Death took the president while he was resting at the Georgia retreat before departing for San Francisco to address the opening session of the United Nations conference on international orgainization later this month.

The president's demise was announced by Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early just before 6 p. m. (EWT).

Vice President Harry S. Truman, of Missouri, who will succeed to the presidency as soon as he takes his oath of office was among the first notified.

Mrs. Roosevelt broke the sad news to him. He went immediately to the White House, where a special session of the cabinet was called.

Mr. Roosevelt had served twelve years, one month and eight days in the presidency—the longest tenure in the history of the nation.

Adm. Ross T. McIntyre, president's personal physician, told a news conference at the White House just after 6 p. m. that he was certain that a cerebral hemmorhage caused Roosevelt's death.

The admiral said that he had received a telephone call about 3:05 p. m. today from Warm Springs informing him that the president had fainted while having his portrait painted.

McIntire said that headquarters at Warm Springs merely wanted him to know that much adding that he had talked to Warm Springs in the morning and found "everything fine," with Mr. Roosevelt's condition apparently normal.

In fact, McIntire explained, he had planned to go to the Georgia health resort over the week-end to play golf and accompany the president back to Washington early in the week.

"The news that the president had fainted came out of the blue," McIntire told reporters. "It came out of a clear sky."

President Fainted

McIntire said that as soon as he was notified that the president had fainted he telephoned Dr. James Paullin, an Atlanta physician and asked him to hasten to Warm Springs, which the doctor did, arriving before the president's death.

McIntire said he talked to Warm Springs again half an hour later, when he was telephoned from the president's headquarters and informed that Mr Roosevelt's condition was "a very serious thing."

This conversation was with Comdr. Howard Bruenn, who was at the president's bedside.

Suffered Cerebral Hemmorhage

The admiral said that Bruenn told him that he was certain Mr. Roosevelt had suffered a cerebral hemmorhage.

Early told reporters that Mrs. Roosevelt, Admiral McIntire and himself would leave for Warm Springs by airplane in half an hour from the time he spoke. According to this plan, the first lady would leave the White House before 7 p.m. EWT.

McIntire said that he immediately notified everyone about the president's condition and telephoned Stephen T. Early, presidential aide and former White House secretary, of the tragic turn of events.

Early speeded to the White House, McIntire continued, and he and Early discussed what steps to take because of the president's critical condition.

McIntire described how the telephone jangled as he was having his discussion with Early, and how it was Comdr. Bruenn at Warm Springs with a report.

He said Bruen at first described the president's condition as "just about the same," but then suddenly was called away and hung up the receiver.

A few minutes later, at 4:35 p.m. (EWT) McIntire said that Bruenn called back with the historic news that "the end had come." That it had been "very sudden," and that President Roosevelt was dead.

The admiral declared Bruen had said for a second time that there could be no doubt but that cerebral hemmorhage caused the president's death.

No Members of Family Present

McIntire said that apparently the president died with no members of his family or close personal friends at his bedside.

He said he understood that Dr Paullin and Comdr. Bruenn were by the president when he breathed his last, but that he had heard of no one else being there.

McIntire said the president followed his normal routine at Warm Springs and gave no evidence of ill health. He said the president had had no indication of any illness and that he had had no operation as had been rumored in some quarters.

Huge Crowds Form

Soon after the president's death was announced, huge crowds formed about the White House, milling on Pennsylvania avenue and peering through the iron fences which enclose the tree-shrouded yard.

Within a few minutes, more than 100 newsmen gathered in the White House press room in the East Wing.

The cabinet, with Vice President Truman, was summoned immediately upon notification of Mr. Roosevelt's death.

Meantime, throughout wartime Washington, with its thousands of government workers and visitors from every state, word of the president's death spread like wildfire.

"Have you heard the news? Is it true."

These comments from the man in the street as he left downtown offices, government buildings, and other places signalized the feeling of a distressed Washington.

Physicians Accompany Him

With the president was Comdr. Howard Bruenn, one of the Navy's top physicians, who accompanied him to Warm Springs and who had been with him, together with Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire, the president's personal physician, on many of his recent journeys. The president left Washington quietly a little over two weeks ago and went to his Hyde Park home in New York for a short visit before returning to Washington for less than a day. Then he resumed his journey and came southward to the Georgia resort where he had spent many weeks during the past 12 years he headed the nation.

During his two weeks at Warm Springs the president had attended closely to the affairs of state which weighed upon him so heavily.

In adition to Comdr. Bruenn, the president was attended by Dr. James Paullin, of Atlanta, Ga., a specialist in internal medicine, who was rushed to Warm Springs by Vice Adm. McIntire when Commander Bruenn phoned him in Washington that the president had been stricken.

The president was stricken shortly after 1 p.m. (CWT) this afternoon, Bruenn announced after the president had succumbed, and lost consciousness shortly before 1:30 o'clock.

Attending doctors said that he died of a "massive cerebral hemmorhage."

He did not regain consciousness, and died peacefully at 3:35 p.m.

Was In Good Health

The president was in apparent excellent health right up to the last.

He was sitting for a sketch by an artist when he complained of a headache. This was shortly after 1 p.m. He slipped into unconsciousness a few minutes later.

Bruenn was hurriedly summoned but the president was unconscious by the time he arrived at the "Little White House."

"The president was in excellent spirits this morning. I saw him at 9:30," Bruenn said.

"At 1 o'clock this afternoon he was sitting in a chair in the Little White House where sketches were being made on him by an artist.

"Suddenly he complained of a severe occipital headache. (A headache in the rear of the head.)

"In a few minutes—a very few minutes—he lost consciousness. He was seen by me at 1:30.

"He did not regain consciousness and died at 3:35 p.m."

Chairman Bloom (D) N. Y., of the house foreign affairs committee, said he did not know what effect the president's death would have on the forthcoming United Nations conference at San Francisco. Bloom is a delegate to the conference.

"I just don't know what to say," he told a reporter. "We must carry on to win a peace that will be a monument to the president, who fought so long and so hard for it and who died in that fight."

Vice President Truman's office said that the vice president received a telephone call at 5:25 p. m. notifying him of the president's death. He immediately saw Speaker Rayburn for a few minutes and then went to the White House.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D) Tex., obviously deeply shocked by the news of the president's death, said he was "too flustered" to make any immediate statement.

Rep. Cannon (D) Mo., chairman of the house appropriations committee said "My God! Are you sure? Oh, my Lord, how terrible. The greatest man in the world."

Governor Martin Expresses Regret

"Loss At This Tragic Hour Is Most Regrettable", Says Governor

HARRISBURG, April 12—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin today said the death of President Roosevelt was most regretable "at this tragic hour."

The governor issued a formal statement shortly after the nation's chief executive died at Warm Springs.

"I was shocked to hear of the presiedint's death," Governor Martin said. "His loss at this tragic hour is most regretable.

"All of us must give to Vice President Truman every ounce of energy we possess to assist him in carrying on the great task which is yet unfinished."

Governor Dewey Shocked By News

(BULLETIN)

ALBANY, N. Y., April 12—(INS)—Shocked by news of the death of President Roosevelt, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey sent a telegram of condolence to the president's widow late today.

Attaches at the gubernatorial mansion said the 1944 GOP presidential nominee would have a formal statement in about an hour.

Deepest Sympathy

The governor and his wife, in their telegram, said:

"Please accept our deepest sympathy in your great loss which will be shared by every American and mourned by all the freedom-loving people of the entire world."

Gov. Dewey's secretary, James Haggerty, said the New York state chief executive was busy at work in his office when the radio announced President Roosevelt's death.

He was informed immediately, and was greatly shocked, Haggerty said.

President's Sons Informed Of Death

Mrs. Roosevelt Informs Four Sons In Service Of Death Of Their Father

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 12.—In a message to her four sons, all in the armed forces, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt announced the death of their father, President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In a message to them she stated that the president "slept away this afternoon. He did his job to the end as he would want you to do. Bless you all and all our love." (Signed) "Mother."

The White House disclosed that Mrs. Roosevelt expects to leave for Warm Springs, Ga., tomorrow morning by train.

The White House announcement stated that funeral services for the president will be held Saturday afternoon in the East Room of the White House in Washington. Interment will be at Hyde Park Sunday afternoon.

It was stated, however, that no detailed arrangements or exact time for services have been decided as yet.

Need Trucks For Clothing Drive

SCHOOLS GIVE LARGE AMOUNT

Although there has been a splendid response to the call for manpower in the united clothing collection, now well under way here, there is still a grave need for trucks, General Chairman S. Glenn McCracken stated today.

Any type of truck will be suitable for this purpose, particularly light delivery trucks, and anyone who can donate the use of a truck for just a few hours, or a few trips, will be helping materially in the effort.

The Lions club is in charge of the collection depot this week, and many have been helping out by bringing their donations to headquarters, 101 West Washington street, corner of Beaver street, but trucks are needed to haul in the donations left at churches, fire stations and the schools of the city. The central collection depot is open between the hours of 12 noon and 9 p. m.

Anyone able to give the use of a truck for any length of time is asked to call the headquarters 3371 after 12 noon, or to contact those on the committee.

A large amount of clothing has already been received, but it will take quite a lot of garments to reach the quota of 7,000 pounds assigned to Lawrence county. So folks, look through your closets and attics. Lots of folks will be surprised to find a great amount of clothing, now out of style, but still wearable by those who must put the need of warmth ahead of style in these times. Down in their hearts, Chairman McCracken states, they know they will never have any use for these garments, but are clinging to them for sentiment sake. They are asked to remember people will freeze to death next winter if they don't get these garments which you no longer need, or can use.

A doctor of the American Medical Corps, who has performed many brave deeds in Italy, was so nervous when making a speech in Liverpool, England, that he fainted.

however, is only 57 miles from the former imperial suburb of Potsdam, which could be considered an integral part of the devastated German capital.

Weimar and the nearby city of Erfurt, also entered by Third Army detachments, lie approximately 120 miles southwest of Berlin.

The use by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton of Airborne troops in the mounting drive on Berlin was reported by the German DNB agency which admitted that American forces had reached the Elbe river at two points.

Supported By Bombers

"Strongly supported by bombers, American tanks and infantry columns pushing along the Hannover-Madgeburg autobahn reached the Elbe once at Schoenbeck and again south of Madgeburg," DNB said.

Other German reports said that the British Second Army had opened a major assault against the big port of Bremen.

The all-out attack on Bremen from positions four miles from Germany's second greatest port was reported by the Nazi DNB agency.

Armored spearheads of the U. S. Ninth, First and Third armies maintained their eastward race on Berlin without encountering any serious German opposition.

Positions of advanced elements particularly the spearheads of the Third Army's Fourth and Sixth Armored Divisions, were not disclosed as headquarters clamped a security blackout on reports of greatest advances.

May Meet Russians Soon

The Americans were believed to have carried their assault front eastward to points only 115 miles from Russian lines in eastern Germany, and a linkup with the Soviets within a short time was predicted.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's troops were only 48 miles from the Czechoslovak frontier in one drive aimed at bisecting the Reich. The Third captured the city of Coburg.

The dramatic 50-mile advance of Lieut. Gen. William H. Simpson's armor to the Elbe river near Madgeburg, 65 miles from Berlin, remained the highlight of the great eastward offensive by American military forces.

At the conclusion of business, the Sisters of St. Francis served a delicious dinner.

Philippines summer capital, again were attacked from the air, while five ridges in the Cagayan valley were wrecked by U. S. fighters and attack bombers.

Make 30-Mile Gain

On Negros Island, 40th Division troops advanced 30 miles from Fabrica, sweeping around the northern tip of the island to San Isidro on the east coast. The Yanks were said to be "in hot pursuit" of enemy forces which now are "isolated and forced into a narrow hill compartment 12 miles inland."

"Civil government is rapidly being restored throughout the island, which is now practically freed from enemy control and occupancy," MacArthur declared.

MacArthur's communique told also of continuing heavy raids by U. S. bombers and fighters, which hammered five Jap airdromes in Mindanao, Formosa and Borneo; destroyed four small coastal vessels in the Pescadores as well as a 1,000-ton vessel off Luichow peninsula in the China sea, and "completely destroyed" a Jap troop train in French Indo-China.

Once again, the Victoria docks at Hong Kong were subjected to a bombing attack by four-motored aircraft, which hit two radio stations and railway installations on Hainan island.

Caroline C. Wallace Dies At Home Today

Widow Of Prominent Physician Dies At Home After Prolonged Illness

Following a prolonged illness and the infirmities of age, Mrs. Caroline Cunningham Wallace, daughter of a pioneer family of New Castle, died at 1 o'clock this morning in her home at 318 Highland avenue. Her death represents the passing of an era, for Mrs. Wallace was one of the few remaining links with the Civil War days and the years following when New Castle began to assume stature in the industrial world.

Mrs. Wallace was born February 3, 1865, on Croton avenue, the daughter of Robert Wilson Cunningham and Caroline Woodward Cunningham. Her father was one of the pioneers of the county while her mother came from a pioneer Massachusetts family.

Married in 1889

In November, 1889, she was married to Dr. Robert A. Wallace, who at the time of his death in February, 1932, was the dean of the Lawrence County Medical society. Four children survive her, Major Robert C. Wallace of the United States army, located in Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Victor A. Jevon of Sewickley, Pa.; Mrs. Robert E. Armstrong of New Castle and Dr. Richard H. Wallace of Brookline, Mass. Twelve grandchildren survive her and one sister, Mrs. Lillian Westlake, who made her home with Mrs. Wallace.

Mrs. Wallace was a charter member of Dana Hall, Wellesley, Mass., where she attended school for four years. Almost since the organization of Trinity Episcopal church she had been an active member of it.

In her lifetime Mrs. Wallace saw many changes in her native city. At her birth the Civil War was about concluded. As a young girl she saw the postwar developments here and as a young woman she saw the very beginning of the industrial era. In the industrial birth of New Castle, her father and other members of her father's family played an important part.

Of the many excellent attributes marking her, the one that seemed to transcend all others was her gentility. Her friends she chose for their worth, not for their station in life. She had lived a full life, a life of purpose and integrity, her death will be met with sorrow by her friends, but with the sorrow will be the joy and satisfaction of having known and enjoyed the friendship of a cultured, gentle person.

Services Saturday

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon, April 14, at 3 o'clock from the family residence. The body is being returned from the Offutt funeral home late this afternoon. The services will be conducted by Rev. Robert M. C. Griswold, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, and interment will be in Oak Park cemetery. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

RUSSIAN FORCES READY TO START DRIVE ON BERLIN

placed Marshal Heinz Guderian as chief of German forces on the eastern front last month, was quoted by the German news agency as saying the Soviets planned an attempt to break through the Wehrmacht's defenses along the Niesse river.

Plans Smash Toward Yanks

If the German reports are verified, Marshal Ivan S. Konev apparently is planning a new smash toward Dresden and Magdeburg, already reached by the U. S. Ninth Army.

The Soviet Second Ukrainian army fighting north and northwest of Bratislava with Rumanian and Czechoslovak reinforcements, captured 40 more towns and villages in a western drive through the Carpathians. A second column of Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's army, fighting north of Vienna, engulfed another 11 Austrian towns.

A front dispatch indicated that Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko, former commander of the Soviet Second Baltic Army, had joined forces with Malinovsky whose drive through Czechoslovakia gained 20 miles in the past 24 hours.

FROM STANDPOINT OF ALLIED STRATEGY GERMANY CRUSHED

Eisenhower and Marshal Stalin which are spearheading the occupational conquest of Germany.

This does not mean that fighting in Germany will be over in the next few days, or even weeks or months. There likely will be many isolated pockets of resistance which will require bitter and costly fighting to wipe out.

Mopping-Up To Continue

Supreme headquarters fully expect that mopping-up will continue, especially in Hitler's so-called national redoubt in Bavaria, long after it is announced officially that organized German resistance on a major scale has ceased. But this guerrilla warfare will be waged mostly by thousands of Nazi fanatics and SS elite guard troops who fear retribution for war crimes.

It is now evident that the will of the German people to wage war has been broken. Indications are that the German people as a whole want peace at any price—unconditional surrender or otherwise.

Reaching Climax

Meanwhile the conquest of Germany by the allied armies now is reaching a climax. This correspondent foresees the possibility of the following sensational developments within the next 48 hours.

1. A link up of American and Russian armies along the banks of the Elbe river.

2. Capture of such historic and vitally important German cities as Leipzig and Bremen.

3. The arrival of British forces at the North sea coast near Emden.

The possibility also is foreseen that Gen. Eisenhower may announce within the next few weeks the end of organized resistance in the west.

YANKS BEAT BACK COUNTER-ATTACKS OF OKINAWA JAPS

enemy commanders called for mortar fire which fell indiscriminately among Yank and Nip ranks. Inflicting "considerable" casualties on both forces.

Japs Are Concealed

Japanese artillery, cleverly concealed in pits and raised by means of elevators similar to those of certain parts of the Germans' vaunted Siegfried line, continued to maul the grimly-fighting Yanks.

International News Service war correspondent John R. Henry said that an estimated 4,000 rounds of heavy shells were poured into positions held by the Seventh division alone, in 24 hours. Henry said that in one instance two concentrations of 200 rounds each were laid down by the Japs within 20 minutes.

Nimitz acknowledged that "no substantial changes" were made in the American lines on Wednesday, though frontline dispatches told of 24th Army Corps spearheads thrusting to within 500 yards of Yonabaru and 30000 yards of Machinato airstrips.

Complete occupation of Tsugen island, some 10 miles off the east coast of Okinawa and nominating northern entrance to Nakagusuku bay, was announced by Nimitz. He said that 24th army units wiped out Jap points of resistance to occupy the two-mile-long islet on Wednesday, within 24 hours after landings were made there.

Need Trucks For Clothing Drive

SCHOOLS GIVE LARGE AMOUNT

Although there has been a splendid response to the call for manpower in the united clothing collection, now well under way here, there is still a grave need for trucks, General Chairman S. Glenn McCracken stated today.

Any type of truck will be suitable for this purpose, particularly light delivery trucks, and anyone who can donate the use of a truck for just a few hours, or a few trips, will be helping materially in the effort.

The Lions club is in charge of the collection depot this week, and many have been helping out by bringing their donations to headquarters, 101 West Washington street, corner of Beaver street, but trucks are needed to haul in the donations left at churches, fire stations and the schools of the city. The central collection depot is open between the hours of 12 noon and 9 p. m.

Anyone able to give the use of a truck for any length of time is asked to call the headquarters 3371 after 12 noon, or to contact those on the committee.

A large amount of clothing has already been received, but it will take quite a lot of garments to reach the quota of 7,000 pounds assigned to Lawrence county. So folks, look through your closets and attics. Lots of folks will be surprised to find a great amount of clothing, now out of style, but still wearable by those who must put the need of warmth ahead of style in these times. Down in their hearts, Chairman McCracken states, they know they will never have any use for these garments, but are clinging to them for sentiment sake. They are asked to remember people will freeze to death next winter if they don't get these garments which you no longer need, or can use.

however, is only 57 miles from the former imperial suburb of Potsdam, which could be considered an integral part of the devastated German capital.

Weimar and the nearby city of Erfurt, also entered by Third Army detachments, lie approximately 120 miles southwest of Berlin.

The use by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton of Airborne troops in the mounting drive on Berlin was reported by the German DNB agency which admitted that American forces had reached the Elbe river at two points.

Supported By Bombers

"Strongly supported by bombers, American tanks and infantry columns pushing along the Hannover-Madgeburg autobahn reached the Elbe once at Schoenbeck and again south of Madgeburg," DNB said.

Other German reports said that the British Second Army had opened a major assault against the big port of Bremen.

The all-out attack on Bremen from positions four miles from Germany's second greatest port was reported by the Nazi DNB agency.

Armored spearheads of the U. S. Ninth, First and Third armies maintained their eastward race on Berlin without encountering any serious German opposition.

Positions of advanced elements particularly the spearheads of the Third Army's Fourth and Sixth Armored Divisions, were not disclosed as headquarters clamped a security blackout on reports of greatest advances.

May Meet Russians Soon

The Americans were believed to have carried their assault front eastward to points only 115 miles from Russian lines in eastern Germany, and a linkup with the Soviets within a short time was predicted.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's troops were only 48 miles from the Czechoslovak frontier in one drive aimed at bisecting the Reich. The Third captured the city of Coburg.

SWEEPING GAINS ON LUZON ISLAND

Philippines summer capital, again were attacked from the air, while five ridges in the Cagayan valley were wrecked by U. S. fighters and attack bombers.

Make 30-Mile Gain

On Negros Island, 40th Division troops advanced 30 miles from Fabrica, sweeping around the northern tip of the island to San Isidro on the east coast. The Yanks were said to be "in hot pursuit" of enemy forces which now are "isolated and forced into a narrow hill compartment 12 miles inland."

"Civil government is rapidly being restored throughout the island, which is now practically freed from enemy control and occupancy," MacArthur declared.

MacArthur's communique told also of continuing heavy raids by U. S. bombers and fighters, which hammered five Jap airdromes in Mindanao, Formosa and Borneo; destroyed four small coastal vessels in the Pescadores as well as a 1,000-ton vessel off Luichow peninsula in the China sea, and "completely destroyed" a Jap troop train in French Indo-China.

Once again, the Victoria docks at Hong Kong were subjected to a bombing attack by four-motored aircraft, which hit two radio stations and railway installations on Hainan island.

Caroline C. Wallace Dies At Home Today

Widow Of Prominent Physician Dies At Home After Prolonged Illness

Following a prolonged illness and the infirmities of age, Mrs. Caroline Cunningham Wallace, daughter of a pioneer family of New Castle, died at 1 o'clock this morning in her home at 318 Highland avenue. Her death represents the passing of an era, for Mrs. Wallace was one of the few remaining links with the Civil War days and the years following when New Castle began to assume stature in the industrial world.

Mrs. Wallace was born February 3, 1865, on Croton avenue, the daughter of Robert Wilson Cunningham and Caroline Woodward Cunningham. Her father was one of the pioneers of the county while her mother came from a pioneer Massachusetts family.

Married in 1889

In November, 1889, she was married to Dr. Robert A. Wallace, who at the time of his death in February, 1932, was the dean of the Lawrence County Medical society. Four children survive her, Major Robert C. Wallace of the United States army, located in Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Victor A. Jevon of Sewickley, Pa.; Mrs. Robert E. Armstrong of New Castle and Dr. Richard H Wallace of Brookline, Mass. Twelve grandchildren survive her and one sister, Mrs. Lillian Westlake, who made her home with Mrs. Wallace.

Mrs. Wallace was a charter member of Dana Hall, Wellesley, Mass., where she attended school for four years. Almost since the organization of Trinity Episcopal church she had been an active member of it.

In her lifetime Mrs. Wallace saw many changes in her native city. At her birth the Civil War was about concluded. As a young girl she saw the postwar developments here and as a young woman she saw the very beginning of the industrial era. In the industrial birth of New Castle, her father and other members of her father's family played an important part.

Of the many excellent attributes marking her, the one that seemed to transcend all others was her gentility. Her friends she chose for their worth, not for their station in life. She had lived a full life, a life of purpose and integrity, her death will be met with sorrow by her friends, but with the sorrow will be the joy and satisfaction of having known and enjoyed the friendship of a cultured, gentle person.

Services Saturday

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon, April 14, at 3 o'clock from the family residence. The body is being returned from the Offutt funeral home late this afternoon. The services will be conducted by Rev. Robert M. C. Griswold, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, and interment will be in Oak Park cemetery. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

RUSSIAN FORCES READY TO START DRIVE ON BERLIN

placed Marshal Heinz Guderian as chief of German forces on the eastern front last month, was quoted by the German news agency as saying the Soviets planned an attempt to break through the Wehrmacht's defenses along the Niesse river.

Plans Smash Toward Yanks

If the German reports are verified, Marshal Ivan S. Konev apparently is planning a new smash toward Dresden and Magdeburg, already reached by the U. S. Ninth Army.

The Soviet Second Ukrainian army fighting north and northwest of Bratislava with Rumanian and Czechoslovak reinforcements, captured 40 more towns and villages in a western drive through the Carpathians. A second column of Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's army fighting north of Vienna, engulfed another 11 Austrian towns.

A front dispatch indicated that Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko, former commander of the Soviet Second Baltic Army, had joined forces with Malinovsky whose drive through Czechoslovakia gained 20 miles in the past 24 hours.

FROM STANDPOINT OF ALLIED STRATEGY GERMANY CRUSHED

Eisenhower and Marshal Stalin which are spearheading the occupational conquest of Germany.

This does not mean that fighting in Germany will be over in the next few days, or even weeks or months. There likely will be many isolated pockets of resistance which will require bitter and costly fighting to wipe out.

Mopping-Up To Continue

Supreme headquarters fully expect that mopping-up will continue, especially in Hitler's so-called national redoubt in Bavaria, long after it is announced officially that organized German resistance on a major scale has ceased. But this guerrilla warfare will be waged mostly by thousands of Nazi fanatics and SS elite guard troops who fear retribution for war crimes.

It is now evident that the will of the German people to wage war has been broken. Indications are that the German people as a whole want peace at any price—unconditional surrender or otherwise.

Reaching Climax

Meanwhile the conquest of Germany by the allied armies now is reaching a climax. This correspondent foresees the possibility of the following sensational developments within the next 48 hours.

1. A link up of American and Russian armies along the banks of the Elbe river.
2. Capture of such historic and vitally important German cities as Leipzig and Bremen.
3. The arrival of British forces at the North sea coast near Emden.

The possibility also is foreseen that Gen. Eisenhower may announce within the next few weeks the end of organized resistance in the west.

enemy commanders called for mortar fire which fell indiscriminately among Yank and Nip ranks, inflicting "considerable" casualties on both forces.

Japs Are Concealed

Japanese artillery, cleverly concealed in pits and raised by means of elevators similar to those of certain parts of the Germans' vaunted Siegfried line, continued to maul the grimly-fighting Yanks.

International News Service war correspondent John R. Henry said that an estimated 4,000 rounds of heavy shells were poured into positions held by the Seventh division alone, in 24 hours. Henry said that in one instance two concentrations of 200 rounds each were laid down by the Japs within 20 minutes.

Nimitz acknowledged that "no substantial changes" were made in the American lines on Wednesday, though frontline dispatches told of 24th Army Corps spearheads thrusting to within 500 yards of Yonabaru and 30000 yards of Machinato airstrips.

Complete occupation of Tsugen island, some 10 miles off the east coast of Okinawa and nominating northern entrance to Nakagusuku bay, was announced by Nimitz. He said that 24th army units wiped out Jap points of resistance to occupy the two-mile-long islet on Wednesday, within 24 hours after landings were made there.

Maj. Gen. Rose, Slain By Nazis, Was Known Here

It was recalled here today that Major-General Maurice Rose, commander of the U. S. Third Armored division who was murdered by the Germans when he attempted to surrender his unit on the western front was known here to men interested in the National Guard.

In the days when New Castle's National Guard unit was Troop F of the 103rd Cavalry, Major-General, then Major Rose was the inspector for the Federal government and made periodic inspections of the troop here. In a letter to a member of the News staff, Lt. Col. W. Fulton Jackson who is serving in a general hospital in England recalled Major Rose's visits to New Castle.

The murder of Major-General Rose was another of the myriads of black marks against the German army. He was jeeping from one unit of his force to another when he ran into a pocket of Germans. His aide-de-camp reports the men with General Rose put their hands up and that as the general was endeavoring to remove his shoulder holster a Nazi soldier shot him through the head.

Opposes Amended Pure Streams Bill

PHILADELPHIA, April 12—(INS)—The amended Brunner pure streams bill, passed by the state Senate this week was branded as "worse than no bill at all," by Philadelphia Orphans' Court Judge Grover C. Ladner.

The "minor change" tacked on by the administration is the "spigot" to flood Western Pennsylvania's few remaining pure streams with acid mine water, Ladner declared. The change would permit mine owners to divert acid water into pure brooks after giving the state a year's notice to construct drains to draw this water off into already polluted streams, he said.

"I have no alternative but to fight the passage of this emasculated bill on the floor of the House," the jurist asserted.

Posthumous Award Of Bronze Star To Sgt. E. Obodzinski

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—Posthumously awarded to Sgt. Edward T. Obodzinski, the Bronze Star Medal has been presented to his brother, Theodore Obodzinski, 6 Northview avenue, according to information from the Pittsburgh subdistrict headquarters of the Third Service Command.

Accompanying the medal is a citation which reads: "For heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on May 14, 1943."

The sergeant's squad was momentarily held up by heavy enemy fire, but rather than remain in the same position long enough to let the enemy range in on his squad with mortar fire, he continued to advance, and inspired his squad to follow him.

Refusing to be evacuated even when he was hit by shell fragments, Sgt. Obodzinski continued to advance, and while approaching an enemy machine gun position he was fatally wounded. "Courage and disregard for his own life were shown throughout the attack", his citation stated.

Lighting Research is "MOVING the SUN"
Can you imagine a factory operating out of doors—in the cool abundant light of a fine summer day!
How efficiency and morale would go up—spoilage down! But there would be several drawbacks. Weather might interfere . . . and darkness would come each night.
But today — thanks to lighting research and wartime experience, any factory can have the benefits of sunshine twenty-four hours a day!
Many war factories have such lighting. And production figures prove that it is very much worth while.
Today, thanks to scientific research, any factory—or store, or home can enjoy:
★ Softer, more abundant light for easy seeing.
★ Ultraviolet that produces essential Vitamin D.
★ Short-wave ultraviolet that kills germs.
Why not plan now to take advantage of all these modern developments in lighting. We will be glad to advise you without charge or obligation.

Maj. Gen. Rose, Slain By Nazis, Was Known Here

It was recalled here today that Major-General Maurice Rose, commander of the U. S. Third Armored division who was murdered by the Germans when he attempted to surrender his unit on the western front was known here to men interested in the National Guard.

In the days when New Castle's National Guard unit was Troop F of the 103rd Cavalry, Major-General, then Major Rose was the inspector for the Federal government and made periodic inspections of the troop here. In a letter to a member of the News staff, Lt. Col. W. Fulton Jackson who is serving in a general hospital in England recalled Major Rose's visits to New Castle.

The murder of Major-General Rose was another of the myriads of black marks against the German army. He was jeeping from one unit of his force to another when he ran into a pocket of Germans. His aide-de-camp reports the men with General Rose put their hands up and that as the general was endeavoring to remove his shoulder holster a Nazi soldier shot him through the head.

Pfc. Don Booth Is Seriously Ill

Telegram Informs Parents That Soldier Son Is Seriously Ill In India

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Booth, of 16 Smithfield street, received a telegram from the War department stating that their son, Pfc. Don Booth, age 21 years, stationed with the Engineers, with the Railroad Battalion in India, is seriously ill.

No details are known of his illness. Pfc. Booth has been in service for the past two years, and served overseas for 14 months.

His brother, Sgt. Kyle Booth, is with the Engineer battalion in Italy.

GRANT FIVE PERMITS TO BUILD GARAGES

This is the time of year when young men's fancy turns to love, anglers fish for suckers and motorists build garages. According to the city department of building some garage building permits have been granted. Those who have received such permits follow:

Opposes Amended Pure Streams Bill

PHILADELPHIA, April 12—(INS)—The amended Brunner pure streams bill, passed by the state Senate this week was branded as "worse than no bill at all," by Philadelphia Orphans' Court Judge Grover C. Ladner.

The "minor change" tacked on by the administration is the "spigot" to flood Western Pennsylvania's few remaining pure streams with acid mine water, Ladner declared. The change would permit mine owners to divert acid water into pure brooks after giving the state a year's notice to construct drains to draw this water off into already polluted streams, he said.

"I have no alternative but to fight the passage of this emasculated bill on the floor of the House," the jurist asserted.

Posthumous Award Of Bronze Star To Sgt. E. Obodzinski

PITTSBURGH, April 12.—Posthumously awarded to Sgt. Edward T. Obodzinski, the Bronze Star Medal has been presented to his brother, Theodore Obodzinski, 6 Northview avenue, according to information from the Pittsburgh subdistrict headquarters of the Third Service Command.

Accompanying the medal is a citation which reads: "For heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on May 14, 1943."

The sergeant's squad was momentarily held up by heavy enemy fire, but rather than remain in the same position long enough to let the enemy range in on his squad with mortar fire, he continued to advance, and inspired his squad to follow him.

Refusing to be evacuated even when he was hit by shell fragments, Sgt. Obodzinski continued to advance, and while approaching an enemy machine gun position he was fatally wounded. "Courage and disregard for his own life were shown throughout the attack", his citation stated.

Lighting Research is "MOVING the SUN"

Can you imagine a factory operating out of doors—in the cool abundant light of a fine summer day!

How efficiency and morale would go up—spoilage down! But there would be several drawbacks. Weather might interfere . . . and darkness would come each night.

But today—thanks to lighting research and wartime experience, any factory can have the benefits of sunshine twenty-four hours a day!

Many war factories have such lighting. And production figures prove that it is very much worth while.

Today, thanks to scientific research, any factory—or store, or home can enjoy:

★ Softer, more abundant light for easy seeing.
★ Ultraviolet that produces essential Vitamin D.
★ Short-wave ultraviolet that kills germs.

Why not plan now to take advantage of all these modern developments in lighting. We will be glad to advise you without charge or obligation.

DON'T WASTE ELECTRICITY—USE ITS BENEFITS WISELY

Early Liberation Of North Holland Appears Certain

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN HOLLAND, April 12.—(INS)—Early liberation of all north Holland appeared certain today when the Canadian first army stormed northward through the Netherlands toward Groeningen for 22 miles.

Other dominion troops opened an attack against western Holland with a drive across the Issel river between Zutphen and Deventer where they established a bridgehead one mile wide and one and a half miles deep.

The westward drive indicated a battle to liberate the great Netherlands cities of Amsterdam, Rotterdam and the Hague.

More than 1,400 German prisoners were captured by the Canadians who liberated 25 Dutch towns and villages in their northward sweep. Numerous junctions were made with British airborne troops dropped in northern Holland Saturday night.

The Canadian second infantry division spearheaded the long advance toward Groeningen, surging northward in kangaroo carriers over bridges which had been captured by airborne forces.

Richard K. Allen In Heroic Exploit

Chief Carpenter's Mate 'Dick' Allen On Volunteer Mission In Lingayen Gulf With Seabees

Mrs. Richard K. Allen of 326 E. Wallace avenue has received a copy of the Scuttle Scoop, published by the 119th U. S. navy construction battalion, now stationed in Luzon, which tells about a successful mission completed by a picked group of volunteers from the 119th at Lingayen Gulf, several months ago. Her husband, Chief Carpenter's Mate Richard K. "Dick" Allen was a member of this party.

The Scuttle Scoop states that, though under frequent fire from enemy planes and snipers, no injuries were received. The men chosen from the volunteers were selected because of their knowledge of pontoons and their job was to connect ship-to-shore pontoon causeways for transporting tanks and armored vehicles onto the beachhead such as were used at Normandy so successfully.

At that time, the 119th battalion was based in New Guinea, but has now moved on to Luzon.

BREAKS TRADITION

When Judge W. Walter Braham is elected in November to his second term on the Lawrence County bench he will be breaking a tradition that has existed here since the first judge was elected, Judge William Wallace.

Judge Wallace tried for a second term in 1904 but was defeated by William E. Porter. Judge Porter tried the second time in 1915 but was defeated by S. Plummer Emery. Judge Emery tried the second time in 1925 and was defeated by R. Lawrence Hildebrand. Judge Hildebrand was defeated in the primary election of 1935, and in November of that year Judge Braham was elected.

This time there will be no contest, Judge Braham having both Republican and Democratic nominations. His election is not absolutely guaranteed in November but until something more certain comes along this will do as one of the best examples of something which is bound to happen

He attended Volant Academy, Westminster College, George Washington University and got his law degree from Pitt. Midway he took time out to serve in the army in World War One. In 1922 he came to the Lawrence County bar and practiced until January 1936 when he went onto the bench.

Says Hitler Tried To Invade Britain Three Years Ago

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—How Adolf Hitler attempted to invade England three years ago—and failed—was described today by Pierre J. Huss, famous International News Service war correspondent in an article in the May issue of True Magazine.

Giving the first detailed account of the abortive Nazi invasion, Huss told how he watched the Germans assemble every available barge, canal boat and river craft along the English channel coast when, as an American correspondent, he was stationed there in the summer of 1940.

Although the Luftwaffe failed to neutralize the RAF and paralyze Britain by bombings according to Hitler's plan, the invasion was attempted and the first barges headed for the shores of England one dark night.

Then British guns opened up Huss said, the Germans were blinded by searchlights and bombed. Speedboats poured oil on the water and incendiaries set it aflame. Later it was claimed that the Germans lost about 65,000 men, Huss added, and the German high command ordered participants never to speak of the defeated invasion under penalty of court martial.

Seniors Take ASTRP Test At High School

Fifteen high school seniors and graduates between the ages of 17½ and 16½, took the test to qualify for six to 12 months of college training under the Army Specialized Training Reserve program.

The test, which was given throughout the United States today, was given for the army in room 118, at the high school building at 9:00 a. m., by Elmer O. Delancy, public school psychologist. The test was for aptitude, and ability in science, and mathematics.

Boys who signed at the high school office to take the test were Martin Schwartz, James Oesterling, Steve Polley, John Patterson, Robert McLean, Carl Sewald, Harry Smith, Eddie John, and James Demos.

Italian Confesses Mutilating Books

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—The two-year mystery of recurrent mutilation of rare Italian books in the priceless New York public library collection appeared solved today by the guilty plea of Baldo Aquilano, 48, listed in the Italian "Who's Who" as a leading authority on Italian history.

Aquilano, who admitted in court yesterday that he was the man who registered under fictitious names to gain access to the historic volumes and tore pages out of four virtually irreplaceable tomes, blames a nervous breakdown for his act.

He has until Wednesday to pay a $250 fine, with a three-month jail term the alternative.

Shirley's Fans Are Double-Crossed; 16 Too Young, She Says

HOLLYWOOD, April 12.—(INS)—Sixteen-year-old girls who want to marry failed today to get the support they expected from Shirley Temple.

Since the announcement of her engagement a few days ago, the young film star has received scores of letters from 16-year-olds, asking her to side with them against parents who object to marriage at so early an age.

They wrote to the actress because she is 16 herself, although she will be 17 April 23.

However, the erstwhile child star lined up with the parents. At 16 a girl is still too young for marriage, she said, holding that 19 was soon enough.

She added that she will be 19 and possibly 20 before she becomes the bride of Sgt. John G. Agar of the Army Air Forces.

Governor Vetoes Pharmaceutical Bill

HARRISBURG, April 12.—(INS)—A pharmaceutical measure carried Gov. Edward Martin's veto today because it would create an "unwarranted interference" with normal business practices.

The measure, introduced by Rep. Henry Elder (R) Lycoming, would prohibit sales of any drug or chemical containing only the name of the article, manufacturer and place of business on the label.

Simultaneously, the chief executive affixed his signature to a measure authorizing county commissioners to provide markers and burial plots for deceased women veterans of the armed forces whose bodies are not claimed by relatives.

WAKE UP YOUR DIGESTION BELOW THE BELT

To Get Happy Relief from Gassy, Bloated, Tight-around-the-Waist Misery You May Need This Kind of Laxative Help

When most food leaves the stomach, it is by no means fully digested. It is in the 28 feet, or more, of intestines, that the greater part of digestion is done. Among the vital digestive juices that work in the intestines, the liver bile is one of the most important—especially vital to the digestion of fats. Unless the liver bile flows sufficiently, digestion of fats slows down. Food decays in bowels. You may get constipated and feel full of gassy, bloated, indigestion misery. That's when you need Beechams Pills. They help get the bile juice flowing freely, which helps you digest and eliminate in Nature's happy way. Ask your druggist for gentle, all-vegetable Beechams Pills today. Caution: Use only as directed. 25¢.

Says Hitler Tried To Invade Britain Three Years Ago

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—How Adolf Hitler attempted to invade England three years ago—and failed—was described today by Pierre J. Huss, famous International News Service war correspondent in an article in the May issue of True Magazine.

Giving the first detailed account of the abortive Nazi invasion, Huss told how he watched the Germans assemble every available barge, canal boat and river craft along the English channel coast when, as an American correspondent, he was stationed there in the summer of 1940.

Although the Luftwaffe failed to neutralize the RAF and paralyze Britain by bombings according to Hitler's plan, the invasion was attempted and the first barges headed for the shores of England one dark night.

Then British guns opened up Huss said, the Germans were blinded by searchlights and bombed. Speedboats poured oil on the water and incendiaries set it aflame. Later it was claimed that the Germans lost about 65,000 men, Huss added, and the German high command ordered participants never to speak of the defeated invasion under penalty of court martial.

Seniors Take ASTRP Test At High School

Fifteen high school seniors and graduates between the ages of 17½ and 16½, took the test to qualify for six to 12 months of college training under the Army Specialized Training Reserve program.

The test, which was given throughout the United States today, was given for the army in room 118, at the high school building at 9:00 a. m., by Elmer O. Delancy, public school psychologist. The test was for aptitude, and ability in science, and mathematics.

Boys who signed at the high school office to take the test were Martin Schwartz, James Oesterling, Steve Polley, John Patterson, Robert McLean, Carl Sewald, Harry Smith, Eddie John, and James Demos.

Italian Confesses Mutilating Books

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—The two-year mystery of recurrent mutilation of rare Italian books in the priceless New York public library collection appeared solved today by the guilty plea of Baldo Aquilano, 48, listed in the Italian "Who's Who" as a leading authority on Italian history.

Aquilano, who admitted in court yesterday that he was the man who registered under fictitious names to gain access to the historic volumes and tore pages out of four virtually irreplaceable tomes, blames a nervous breakdown for his act.

He has until Wednesday to pay a $250 fine, with a three-month jail term the alternative.

India has developed new and improved uses for shellac which include coating aluminum discs and cylinders.

WAKE UP YOUR DIGESTION BELOW THE BELT
To Get Happy Relief from Gassy, Bloated, Tight-around-the-Waist Misery You May Need This Kind of Laxative Help
When most food leaves the stomach, it is by no means fully digested. It is in the 28 feet, or more, of intestines that the greater part of digestion is done. Among the vital digestive juices that work in the intestines, the liver bile is one of the most important—especially vital to the digestion of fats. Unless the liver bile flows sufficiently, digestion of fats slows down. Food decays in bowels. You may get constipated and feel full of gassy, bloated, indigestion misery. That's when you need Beechams Pills. They help get the bile juice flowing freely, which helps you digest and eliminate in Nature's happy way. Ask your druggist for gentle, all-vegetable Beechams Pills today. Caution: Use only as directed. 25¢.

BUYING POWER IN MARKET EXTENDED

For Third Straight Day Market Prices Are Higher, Volume Expands

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—More buying power flowed into the stock market today, extending the April price rally to three sessions running.

Volume expanded substantially over yesterday's 1,000,000 shares as traders jumped on the bandwagon. Quotations improved fractions to a point in the leaders with steels, motors and rails again assuming leadership.

First hour turnover totaled 280,000 shares against 190,000 in the same period Wednesday and 90,000 Tuesday.

Chrysler set the pace at the opening, spurting 3-4 to 101 3-4. Santa Fe followed with a point advance to a new high of 91. Steel issues worked about a half point higher. American Air Lines picked up a large fraction but other aviations lagged.

Chemicals, foods, utilities and rubber issues edged forward. Sinclair Oil dipped a half point while other petroleum issues were firm.

A few fractional advances were noted in the bond market.

RICH HILL

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

The congregational meeting of the Rich Hill church was held Tuesday evening, April 10, at 8 o'clock.

FAREWELL PARTY

About 60 members of the Rich Hill church gathered in the church on Friday evening for a tureen supper at 7:30 in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cornman, who have recently taken up membership with the First Presbyterian church, of New Wilmington. The committee for the occasion consisted of Mrs. Scott Kirk, Mrs. Walter Barkley, and Mrs. Wilson Booher. Mrs. Kirk was in charge of the music, assisted by the pianist, Miss Betty Booher.

S. J. McConnell was toastmaster. Sherman McConnell presented the honored guest with appropriate gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Cornman responded graciously.

RICH HILL NOTES

Mrs. Donald McFarland, of New Castle, visited friends and relatives here on Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. H. K. Miller recently visited Mrs. T. H. Tennant, of Fayette, who is ill.

Mrs. Melville Jordan and Miss Francis McDowell spent Tuesday with friends in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Willis Kneram and daughter, of Harlansburg, were Thursday dinner guests of Mrs. Willis Shalenberger.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson, of Highland Heights, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Booher.

Mrs. Willis Shalenberger and children, Dale and Darlene, visited with Mrs. Claude Tharpe, of New Castle, on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Blevins, of New Wilmington, spent Friday and Saturday with Misses Frances and Gyla McDowell.

Rev. H. K. Miller was the speaker for preparatory services at the Pulaski church for Rev. Edgar Tait on Friday evening.

Mrs. T. J. Drake spent Friday with Mrs. John Reynolds, who is showing improvement as a patient of the Jameson hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sonntag have received word that their nephew, Sgt. Lawrence Sonntag, has arrived in New Jersey from overseas.

Mrs. William Knight called on Mrs. T. H. Tennant, of Fayette, on Friday. Mrs. Tennant is showing improvement from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ward and children, Shirley, June, and Robert Ward, of Highland Heights, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Knight.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Boyles and son, Ralph, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Boyles, were Sunday dinner guests of Miss Amanda and Mrs. Gertrude Michaels, of New Castle.

Mrs. Scott Kirk, Mrs. Walter Barkley, Mrs. Ross Palmer, Mrs. Howard Boyles, Mrs. B. V. Carter, Mrs. Melville Jordan, and Mrs. William Knight gathered in the church on Wednesday, for the purpose of cleaning the basement.

Funeral Services For Baden Resident

Requiem high mass was offered for Mrs. Charles Barnhart, Baden, Pa., in Mt. Galitzen Chapel, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The deceased, well known among a large circle of relatives and friends here, passed away on Saturday morning. Death was caused by a heart attack.

A number of relatives from New Castle attended the funeral services.

Lysippus, Greek sculptor, who is estimated to have lived and worked in the last half of the fourth century, was said by a pupil to have been the first sculptor to represent men as they really were.

MILLBURN

MOORS-ANDERSON NUPTIALS

Miss Isabel Moors, of Volant, R. D., and Walter Anderson were quietly married at their new home on Saturday, March 31, with Mr. Anderson's brother-in-law, Rev. John Seaholm, officiating. Members of the families attended the ceremony. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed.

ANNUAL FISH FRY

About 60 members and guests enjoyed the yearly fish fry of Millburn grange on Monday evening. Jared Winger and Edwin Armstrong acted as chefs. Later in the evening two picture reels, stressing "The Farmer's Valuable Contribution to the Winning of the War," were shown by Mr. Armstrong. This open meeting took the place of the regular meeting of the grange.

HONOR 72nd BIRTHDAY

About 40 members of her family gathered recently surprise fashion to honor the 72nd birthday of Mrs. L. B. Anderson. A lovely bouquet of flowers and a gift of money were presented Mrs. Anderson by her children. Music during the afternoon was furnished by her grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ross, of Charleroi, were among the guests. Mrs. Nancy Huffman remained for a visit with her sister.

HONOR G. THOMPSON

Employees of the Northern Pipe Line company and their families enjoyed a party last week in honor of Guy Thompson at Millburn Grange hall. Mr. Thompson reached his retirement age on April 1. About 50 enjoyed the bountiful tureen dinner. Miss Freda Best, of Oil City, offered two vocal solos. Dancing, with music being furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coryea, was a pastime.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were presented with a beautiful picture by Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Robinson, of Parkers Landing. Special guests besides the Robinsons included Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Blumenshine, Grove City, Mrs. John Puskar, Imperial, Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Sterling, Oil City, Mrs. Paul Kilner, Mercer, and the latter's mother, Mrs. A. Bentley, Jamestown, N. Y.

MILLBURN NOTES

The Ladies Friendship club will have its April meeting at the grange hall, with the usual tureen luncheon being served at 12:30 o'clock. This will be the last all day meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Weaver moved Wednesday from the farm, which they sold to Mr. and Mrs. John Woods, to the house opposite the Sheets Filling station, south of Mercer on the Perry highway.

Stephen Lukacs was admitted Saturday for treatment to the Bashline-Rossman hospital, Grove City. His children visited him Sunday and with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hartt, called on Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Campbell, of Grove City.

BUYING POWER IN MARKET EXTENDED

For Third Straight Day Market Prices Are Higher, Volume Expands

NEW YORK, April 12.—(INS)—More buying power flowed into the stock market today, extending the April price rally to three sessions running.

Volume expanded substantially over yesterday's 1,000,000 shares as traders jumped on the bandwagon. Quotations improved fractions to a point in the leaders with steels, motors and rails again assuming leadership.

First hour turnover totaled 280,000 shares against 190,000 in the same period Wednesday and 90,000 Tuesday.

Chrysler set the pace at the opening, spurting 3-4 to 101 3-4. Santa Fe followed with a point advance to a new high of 91. Steel issues worked about a half point higher. American Air Lines picked up a large fraction but other aviations lagged.

Chemicals, foods, utilities and rubber issues edged forward. Sinclair Oil dipped a half point while other petroleum issues were firm.

A few fractional advances were noted in the bond market.

RICH HILL

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

The congregational meeting of the Rich Hill church was held Tuesday evening, April 10, at 8 o'clock.

FAREWELL PARTY

About 60 members of the Rich Hill church gathered in the church on Friday evening for a tureen supper at 7:50 in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cornman, who have recently taken up membership with the First Presbyterian church, of New Wilmington. The committee for the occasion consisted of Mrs. Scott Kirk, Mrs. Walter Barkley, and Mrs. Wilson Booher. Mrs. Kirk was in charge of the music, assisted by the pianist, Miss Betty Booher.

S. J. McConnell was toastmaster. Sherman McConnell presented the honored guest with appropriate gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Cornman responded graciously.

RICH HILL NOTES

Mrs. Donald McFarland, of New Castle, visited friends and relatives here on Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. H. K. Miller recently visited Mrs. T. H. Tennant, of Fayette, who is ill.

Mrs. Melville Jordan and Miss Francis McDowell spent Tuesday with friends in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Willis Kneram and daughter, of Harlansburg, were Thursday dinner guests of Mrs. Willis Shalenberger.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson, of Highland Heights, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Booher.

Mrs. Willis Shalenberger and children, Dale and Darlene, visited with Mrs. Claude Tharpe, of New Castle, on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Blevins, of New Wilmington, spent Friday and Saturday with Misses Frances and Gyla McDowell.

Rev. H. K. Miller was the speaker for preparatory services at the Pulaski church for Rev. Edgar Tait on Friday evening.

Mrs. T. J. Drake spent Friday with Mrs. John Reynolds, who is showing improvement as a patient of the Jameson hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sonntag have received word that their nephew, Sgt. Lawrence Sonntag, has arrived in New Jersey from overseas.

Mrs. William Knight called on Mrs. T. H. Tennant, of Fayette, on Friday. Mrs. Tennant is showing improvement from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ward and children, Shirley, June, and Robert Ward, of Highland Heights, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Knight.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Boyles and son, Ralph, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Boyles, were Sunday dinner guests of Miss Amanda and Mrs. Gertrude Michaels, of New Castle.

Mrs. Scott Kirk, Mrs. Walter Barkley, Mrs. Ross Palmer, Mrs. Howard Boyles, Mrs. B. V. Carter, Mrs. Melville Jordan, and Mrs. William Knight gathered in the church on Wednesday, for the purpose of cleaning the basement.

Funeral Services For Baden Resident

Requiem high mass was offered for Mrs. Charles Barnhart, Baden, Pa., in Mt. Galitzen Chapel, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The deceased, well known among a large circle of relatives and friends here, passed away on Saturday morning. Death was caused by a heart attack.

A number of relatives from New Castle attended the funeral services.

Lysippus, Greek sculptor, who is estimated to have lived and worked in the last half of the fourth century, was said by a pupil to have been the first sculptor to represent men as they really were.

MILLBURN

MOORS-ANDERSON NUPTIALS

Miss Isabel Moors, of Volant, R. D., and Walter Anderson were quietly married at their new home on Saturday, March 31, with Mr. Anderson's brother-in-law, Rev. John Seaholm, officiating. Members of the families attended the ceremony. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed.

ANNUAL FISH FRY

About 60 members and guests enjoyed the yearly fish fry of Millburn grange on Monday evening. Jared Winger and Edwin Armstrong acted as chefs. Later in the evening two picture reels, stressing "The Farmer's Valuable Contribution to the Winning of the War," were shown by Mr. Armstrong. This open meeting took the place of the regular meeting of the grange.

HONOR 72nd BIRTHDAY

About 40 members of her family gathered recently surprise fashion to honor the 72nd birthday of Mrs. L. B. Anderson. A lovely bouquet of flowers and a gift of money were presented Mrs. Anderson by her children. Music during the afternoon was furnished by her grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ross, of Charleroi, were among the guests. Mrs. Nancy Huffman remained for a visit with her sister.

HONOR G. THOMPSON

Employees of the Northern Pipe Line company and their families enjoyed a party last week in honor of Guy Thompson at Millburn Grange hall. Mr. Thompson reached his retirement age on April 1. About 50 enjoyed the bountiful tureen dinner. Miss Freda Best, of Oil City, offered two vocal solos. Dancing, with music being furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coryea, was a pastime.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were presented with a beautiful picture by Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Robinson, of Parkers Landing. Special guests besides the Robinsons included Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Blumenshine, Grove City, Mrs. John Puskar, Imperial, Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Sterling, Oil City, Mrs. Paul Kilner, Mercer, and the latter's mother, Mrs. A. Bentley, Jamestown, N. Y.

MILLBURN NOTES

The Ladies Friendship club will have its April meeting at the grange hall, with the usual tureen luncheon being served at 12:30 o'clock. This will be the last all day meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Weaver moved Wednesday from the farm, which they sold to Mr. and Mrs. John Woods, to the house opposite the Sheets Filling station, south of Mercer on the Perry highway.

Stephen Lukacs was admitted Saturday for treatment to the Bashline-Rossman hospital, Grove City. His children visited him Sunday and with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hartt, called on Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Campbell, of Grove City.

Volant People Hurt In Crash At Mercer

MERCER, April 12.—Cars driven by Lloyd D. Reehel, 27, of Volant, and James Gargasz, Volant, collided early Wednesday morning at the intersection of route 208 and a blacktop road at No. 5 Mine, with Reehel, his wife and his wife's sister, Rose Helen McKee, receiving lacerations and bruises.

The gas pump in front of the David Gottlieb general store, where the accident occurred, was broken, putting the proprietor's gas business out of commission as the pump cannot be replaced at the present time.

Both Hurt, Captain And Private Return To Grove City Homes

GROVE CITY, April 12.—Pfc. Woodie Reed, wounded veteran of the 28th Division now on leave here from the Army hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., hopes that his commanding officer, Capt. Roth S. Martin, will arrive home before he has to return to the hospital.

They last met November 5 in a foxhole near Schmidt, Germany, the high point of the American advance before the German counter-attack. Shrapnel from an 88 shell bursting overhead hit Reed in the right leg, as he lay in the foxhole with Captain Martin and others. When dusk came three hours later, Captain Martin carried Reed back to an advanced aid station. Reed has been in various hospitals since that time, and will be incapacitated for 18 months to two years. A month later, Captain Martin was wounded and captured.

Yesterday a cablegram was received by Captain Martin's parents stating that he was on his way home after being liberated by the American advance into Germany.

Hour Of Charm Program Thrills

Packed House Greets All-Girl Orchestra Under Auspices Of Consistory Groups

Last night's entertainment at the Cathedral, featuring Phil Spitalny's Hour of Charm and his all girl orchestra drew a packed house. The program was presented under the auspices of the Valley of New Castle Consistory and the Legion of Honor for their members and friends.

Every one of the solo artists, in addition to being talented musicians were possessors of more than ordinary charm. Jeannie Park, Gloria Finn, sopranos, and Francine, contralto, are top artists, while Ann Nisbet, harpist; Viola Smith, drummer; Ruth Winchell, pianist, and Evelyn, with her magic violin, the Three Harmonettes, more than exceeded expectations.

The program was a part of the Consistory's season entertainment, and those fortunate enough to attend felt well repaid.
